Cornman, Page In Holstein Hall, Weimers Distinguished Breeders

Creedin Cornman, left, and George Page, Jr., were named to the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's Hall of Fame last week at the annual convention in Williamsport.

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — Riding on the wave of national accolades for hosting Holstein USA's annual convention in Pittsburgh last June, the Pennsylvania Holstein Association met last week to review the year's activities, elect officers, and present Hall of Fame, Young Holstein Breeder, and numerous other production and type awards.

Begining on Thursday of last week, Ralph DeVillars, a Muncy salesman and hobby milk bottle collector, opened the event with the history of the milk bottle. DeVillars has one of the most extensive collections of bottles, with local and national examples of the first "jars" used to distribute milk door to door. Special innovations such as the cream top, the baby face cream top, the bottle with an indented side cream separator bottle, and the bottle with the pewter handle and top were among the illustrations.

In the old days, the farmer didn't let someone else do the marketing. He did it himself. At first it was just a milk can with a dipper to ladle out milk into the town customer's container. Later, various milk bottles with additional advertising messages were added to the farmer's marketing program.

DeVillars contends that one of the problems with marketing today is that farmers have given up their own efforts to bring their products to market.

In a panel discussion, Dr. Robert Yonkers, moderator, expanded on the marketing topic with "Policies, Issues and Challenges." James Dunn from Penn State had worked in U.S. Sen. Rick Santorum's office to help draft the new Farm Bill. Dunn said they expected to have passed a Farm Bill by now, but the bill is still working its way through the system. At any rate, the bill didn't include anything about dairy because no one could agree on what should be included. The major difficulty is that while such things as food stamps, welfare reform, and Medicare follow party lines, the dairy issue follows regional lines.

Dennis Schad, Atlantic Dairy Association, agreed. He said there were many players in the field beside farmers. Environmental and nutritional interests are especially strong in the Farm Bill negotiations.

Efforts to lower milk hauling costs have begun in some areas by cooperatives working together to pick up milk at each other's farms if they are side by side. The move to consolidate federal orders is being done to make the business environment better so milk plants don't need to move from one to the other.

Richard Waybright, Mason Dixon Farms, said the nation doesn't need Pennsylvania's milk but Pennsylvania needs the national markets.

Farm Organizations Split On Farm Bill Proposals

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State farm and rural organizations are split, not evenly, on proposals from the U.S. Senate and House on a new Farm Bill, especially dairy provisions.

A Senate Farm Bill proposal has already been passed and has been criticized by some farm organizations for what is seen as certain deficiencies or excesses depending on the perspective of the organization's leaders, while the House had been expected to complete its version of the Farm Bill this week.

With each legislative body offering a different version of a Farm Bill it is expected that a conference committee — members from the Senate and House — would convene to create a final approved version to be passed on to the President for final approval.

The Farm Bill has been labeled as the "Freedom to Farm" bill because it is seen as a way to eliminate government support for agriculture and let producer prices follow whatever market and processor demand allow.

The range of possible outcomes of total deregulation go from some predicting certain failure of remaining American independent family farms because of unfair pricing of agricultural commodities by developing nations, to visions of higher prices being paid to American farmers because production would reflect demand and not cause constant oversupply.

While details of the entire proposal have not been readily available to the general public, the staff of the state's different farm organizations have been active in picking up on recommendations from their respective national organizations and trying to gain public support for those positions.

On Feb. 23, the Pennsylvania State Grange, the Pennsylvania Farmer's Union, and Progressive Agriculture Organization held a joint press conference in the state Capital Rotunda denouncing the

At the Pennsylvania Mule Day Tuesday on the farm of Henry Kauffman, Christiana, in Lancaster County, several hundred Amish farmers and a few "English" stopped by to see a 20-mule team being hitched and driven by Jack Strode, mule trainer from Tennessee. One Amishman reported it was "quite a sight," and the Englishman agreed. For a visual report of the event, see Managing Editor Everett Newswanger's photo essay on pages A30-31.

Delmarva Broiler

FEBRUARY 28, 1996

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was light to fair at best. Offerings were in a range of balanced to available and in closest supply on the lighter weight sizes. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights weere desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 50 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was barely steady. In the parts complex, boneless skinless breasts were adequate but tightening. Breast items were fully adequate to ample. Leg quarters and particularly wings were ample to burdensome.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

FEBRUARY 23, 1996

Prices were higher for yolks under a firm trade sentiment, whole egg prices were unchanged to higher, and whites were unchanged and steady. Demand was mixed from active for buyers who needed small volumes to cover immediate needs, to lighter for buyers who resisted the higher asking and trading prices. Floor stocks remained no more than adequate, and breakers only worked to cover orders. Edible liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending February 17, 1996 were 6% more than last week, and 9% less than the same week last year.

FEBRUARY 29, 1996

Trucklot buying interest was mixed and irregular. Offerings were moving into a better balanced position on white meat, still fully adequate to ample on dark meat. Retail and distributive movement was expected to improve, but some skepticism was noted. Interest in promotional activity was good. Trade sentiment cautiously steady.

National Egg Market

FEBRUARY 28, 1996

Prices were unchanged. Trade sentiment was steady to firm with the South East in the strongest position. Movement was very good in Florida due in part to tourist business. Elsewhere, demand was irregular but generally in a range of fair to fairly good and best where features were either in progress or ordering for first month anticipated needs. Supplies were generally reported as about adequate to available at steady prices. Export orders improved for early March port deliveries. Offerings to breakers were sufficient from regular suppliers for reduced needs at generally steady values. Live hen offerings were adequate for the light demand.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
FEBRUARY 28, 1996

Grain and soybean bids climbed slightly higher on continued tight US and World supplies. Wheat steady to 5 cents higher. Corn 1 to 5 cents higher. Sorghum 6 to 10 cents higher. Soybeans 1 to 4 cents higher. Wheat export demand is slow at this point but indications that Egypt may soon seek 300,000 to 500,000 tonnes of US soft red winter wheat, underpinned bids. Rainfall in the Plains State has been scarce lately but some is called for in next week's forecasts. Corn bids moved slightly higher due to stronger wheat and bean bids. Cold weather continued to move back into the Midwest areas this week forcing livestock feed to increase. Stocks remain tight and expectations that no corn would be delivered against the March contract was supportive to bids. Higher soybean bids were due to spillover strength from wheat and corn pits. Stronger meal demand offered additional support to beans. Gains were limited, however, by lack of new export demand. Right on top of higher yields.

There's never been a better time to plant Pioneer® brand soybean varieties. Our new and proven varieties offer you higher yield potential, strong agronomic traits, and improved disease and pest resistance. So get on top of higher yields. Ask your Pioneer sales representative about the varieties that are right for you. Bulk seed options are also available.

PIONEER. SOYBEAN SEED

That's what you'd expect from a soybean leader.

WILL THE IRS INHERIT YOUR ESTATE?

We can help prevent the loss of your estate due to taxes

New York Life's Survivorship Whole Life policy was created to provide you and your spouse with life insurance coverage, and needed liquidity, when your estate taxes are due.

It works like this: When one spouse dies, the resulting estate tax can be deferred until after the death of the surviving spouse At that time, the policy's proceeds become available, and can be used to help pay the usually heavy estate tax. In other words, New York Life makes the proceeds available when they"re needed the most.

You've worked hard all of your life, and shouldn't have to spend time worrying about what will happen to your estate. Call us for all the details and let us show you why New York Life is The Company You Keep.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

MARCH 4-10, 1996

FULL SAP MOON, MARCH 5.

TOWN MEETING DAY

March 5, besides being the Full Sap Moon, also marks Town Meeting Day in Vermont, among other places. In rural communities across New England, Town Meeting Day is a chance to get out and about in the name of democracy and shed a bit of our winter cabin fever. Local scuttlebutt is considered, sides are taken, and the not-so-silent majority has an opportunity to sound off. Mud season seems a suitable time for this foray into the community, although snow jobs are still possible, windiness is sometimes rampant, and there's danger of icy glares.

"Is it not possible that an individual may be right and a government wrong?"

– Henry David Thoreau

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ To avoid cracking, leather boots should be dried away from direct heat, then grease applied to the leather.

PEAR GINGER CHUTNEY

5 cups peeled, chopped pears
1/3 cup chopped gingerroot
1 lemon, seeded and chopped
2 garlic cloves, minced
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup currants
1/4 teaspoon cayenne
2 tablespoons curry powder
2 red peppers, seeded and chopped
2 cups cider vinegar

Combine all ingredients and simmer until sauce thickens, about 2 hours, stirring frequently. Put hot chutney into sterilized jars and seal. Process 15 minutes in a boiling water bath. Makes 3 pints.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

A wet March, a sad autumn.

Watch out for weather-breeders (a day of unseasonable fineness, coming suddenly after a series of damp ones). Such a day is generally followed by foul weather.

Special Offer
Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept. UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444

OPINION

Building Check

This has been a hard winter! Snow, high winds, heavy rain, cold temperatures, and flooding have all taken their toll on buildings and farmsteads. Many buildings may be damaged but still look okay from the outside. An important spring activity will be to inspect all buildings, including silos, for hidden damage. Roof rafters may have cracked from heavy snow or wind but may not be obvious from the outside. Foundations or poles may have been undercut by flood waters or overflowing roof gutters but be covered with other debris. Major parts of buildings such as an "L" or lean-to may have been shifted from the force of high winds.

You can tell a lot by performing your own thorough inspection or retain a qualified engineer or builder. Expect to pay for an inspection. Beware of casual people stopping by from out of the area trying to rush you into repairs or replacements. Don't be afraid to get a second or third opinion. If the problem can't be explained to your understanding, look elsewhere for more help.

To do a good inspection you need a high powered light (large bright flashlight, portable vehicle search light or high intensity work light). Be careful of fire when using high powered lights around hay or in dusty locations; these lights get very hot! You can also get severe burns from touching the reflector housing. A ladder is needed to get into attic spaces and to get closer to support beam connections. A pair of binoculars will help you look at high areas. A long screwdriver or ice pick is handy for poking at suspect areas, and a hammer can be used to detect cracked beams and joists:

Look for anything that is abnormal:

- Cracked or broken rafters, beams, poles, or support walls.
- Movement of joints such as truss plates and where trusses or rafters rest on walls and beams.
- Shifting or sliding of walls on foundations.
- Gaps around the base of poles between the ground and the pole.
- Bends and bows in rafters or beams.
- Poles, posts, or trusses that are out of plumb.
- Loose roof sheets, singles, or sidewall panels.

Take the time and money to inspect and repair your buildings while the ravages of this winter are fresh in your mind. It's cheaper to do it now than wait for the building to fall down during a summer thunderstorm or under next winter's heavy snows. The value of a couple of cows, pieces of machinery, or especially a human life is not worth taking a chance! —— Robert E. Graves, Agricultural and Biological Engineering Extension, Penn State.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Improve Yields

Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, offers the following steps to improve crop yields and profitability in 1996:

1. Soil tests. They point out how much nutrients are present and recommened application rates for crop yield goals. They also help identify where fertilizer costs may be reduced.

2. Select hybrid and varieties based on performance. Use test comparisons that are done close to home under conditions and management similar to yours.

3. Practice patience. Do not be in a big hurry to get into the field in the spring. Wait until soil conditions are favorable. Soil compaction will rob yields. Plant as early as possible but only under favorable soil conditions. If soil conditions are unfavorable, keep the seed in the bag.

4. Check equipment before heading to the field. Late winter maintenance which replaces broken and worn parts will decrease the amount of down time during planting.

5. Harvest at optimum time. Timely harvesting reduces drying costs and minimizes field losses.

To Plant Seeds Properly

Some additional planting tips from Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, to help increase yields and profits are:

1. Slow the planter down. Research has shown that the difference between planting corn at seven miles per hour compared to five miles per hour may be as much as 10 to 15 bushels per acre less of harvested corn.

2. Plant enough seed. The most consistent variable in yields is plant populations. Research at Penn State shows that corn yields are highest when plant population approaches 28 to 30 thousand plants per acre.

3. Plant uniformly. Adjust the planter so that each seed is planted at the optimum depth. Planting some seeds deep and others shallow often affects when plants emerge and latter when they pollinate.

4. Calibrate the plant metering systems. Over- or underapplying an insecticide or fertilizer may affect both yields and cost.

5. Constantly check to see that seeds are being placed properly and that the planter is closing the furrow and packer wheels are firming the seed bed.

To Select Seeds For The Garden

According to Dr. Tim Elkner, extension horticultural agent, one of the most important traits to look for in flower or vegetable seeds is disease resistance.

This is especially true if you have been having a problem with a particular disease in the last few years.

Read the individual seed variety descriptions closely for mention of resistance to disease or look for capital letters such as F or V next to variety names. These letters signify resistance to particular diseases and are usually found with tomatoes.

By planting resistant varieties, you can reduce the time and expense required for pesticide sprays. Also, resistant varieties allow you to grow plants where there may be soilborne wilt diseases that you cannot spray for.

This protection is part of the plant's genetic makeup. You do not need to do anything special to receive this benefit.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "Celebrate what makes you different. Be yourself and respect the uniqueness of others."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

AN UNINTENDED SECRET

AN UNINTENDED SECRET
March 3, 1996
Background Scripture:
Matthew 13:1-12
Devotional Reading:
Matthew 13:10-17

Does God want us to understand the gospel, or is it intended to be a message for some and a mystery to others?

There are passages in the New Testament that can give rise to the latter conclusion. One of these sources is in Matthew 13 where Jesus is asked by his disciples why he speaks to the crowds in parables, and he replies, "To you it has been given to know the secrets of the kingdom of heaven, but to him who has will more be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who has not, even what he has will be taken away." Jesus also goes on to quote Isaiah: "You shall indeed hear but never understand, and you shall indeed hear but never understand, and you shall indeed see but never perceive..."

One might conclude from the above that it is God's will for only a few select to truly understand the gospel, while the rest must be content with something more superficial. The gospel would thus be essentially a "secret" to be grasped only by a chosen few. But if we examine this passage more carefully, we will see that this is not the meaning. The gospel is a secret, but that is not God's will. It remains a secret only because of our own receptivity.

SOW, DON'T WORRY!

Jesus told this parable for two audiences, the inner circle of disciples and the crowds. To the disciples he was saying that like the sower, they were to spread the seed of the good news of the kingdom and not to worry about the results. Some people would hear and respond, while others would not. Be glad that some receive it and don't worry about those who do not. This is God's concern, not ours. This is God's concern, not ours. That's a good teaching for all those who work at communicating the gospel. I long ago decided that here were enough people who would respond to my efforts that I need not worry about those who did not. Concentrate on those receptive and leave the rest to God.

Jesus was also speaking to the crowds with this parable, saying that their understanding was determined by their receptivity. Some heard the message but didn't try to understand it. Others heard it, but they didn't let it attain any depth in their lives. Others heard it gladly but they let other things take precedence and choke it out of their lives.

LISTEN UP!

When God calls someone to sow the gosepl, he doesn't intend to take root in just some and not others. Still that's what happens if we are not receptive. Some of us, like those of whom Jesus was speaking, don't understand. Some of us don't let the gospel attain any depth in our lives. We may go through the motions, but we don't let it go to that level of our lives where it determines how we lie. And there are some of use who permit the gospel to be choked out of our lives because, although we are glad to hear it, we are too stuck on other things: success, money, power, and our own egos.

Nor are Isaiah's words meant to indicate that God intends us to be ignorant of the gospel. They are sarcastic: you have ears, but you're not listening; eyes, but you aren't looking. And when Jesus says that those who have will get more and those who do not will lose what they have, he is challenging us to use what we have. If you don't want to lose it, you've got to use it.

So, if the gospel is a "secret" to us, it is not intended to be. It is a "secret" only because we choose to let it be.

The Althouses will lead a group to the Holy Land, Oct. 9 to Nov. 2, 1996. Space is limited. For information, write them at 4412 Shenandoah Ave., Dallax, TX 75205.

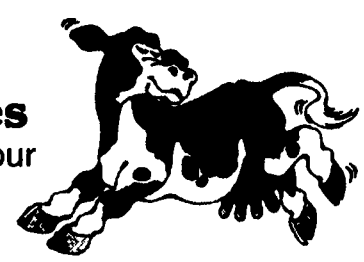
Increase Your Income From Milk Sales



We are looking to increase our high quality milk supply in Chester, Berks and Lancaster Counties.

- No Coop Dues
- Solids Non Fat Premiums
- Quality Premiums
- Lower Hauling Rates & Stop Charges

From a proud neighborhood dairy in the 1920's to a modern manufacturing company of the 1990's, the Dietrich family-owned business continues to move forward. With the dedication of three generations and a heritage rich in experience and innovation, Dietrich's Milk Products faces the future with confidence. Give us a call and see what we are all about.

OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
FEBRUARY 28, 1996
Compared to last Monday: Stocker and feeder steers over 600 lbs firm to 2.00 higher; lighter weights steady. Heifer calves and most feeder heifers steady; exception noted on over 800 lb heifers 2.00 higher. Demand moderate to good with buyers less selective than last week. Quality average to many attractive. Weigh-ups gaunt to average. Feeder flesh medium to slightly fleshy with flesh attributed to wheat. Calves and stockers medium to thin fleshed. Most of Oklahoma wheat country continues dry. Despite dry conditions much of the crop has responded well to several weeks of warm weather in February. Slaughter cows firm. Slaughter bulls .50 lower. Packer demand moderate to good for cows, moderate at best for bulls. Large run of bulls with several fed bulls in consist. 300 cows and bulls sold with 80 percent to packers. Receipts this week 11,500; last week 10,621; last year 19,889. Supply consisted of 69 percent yearlings over 600 lbs; 28 percent calves under 600 lbs; 3 percent cows and bulls. Lebanon Extra Plant Food

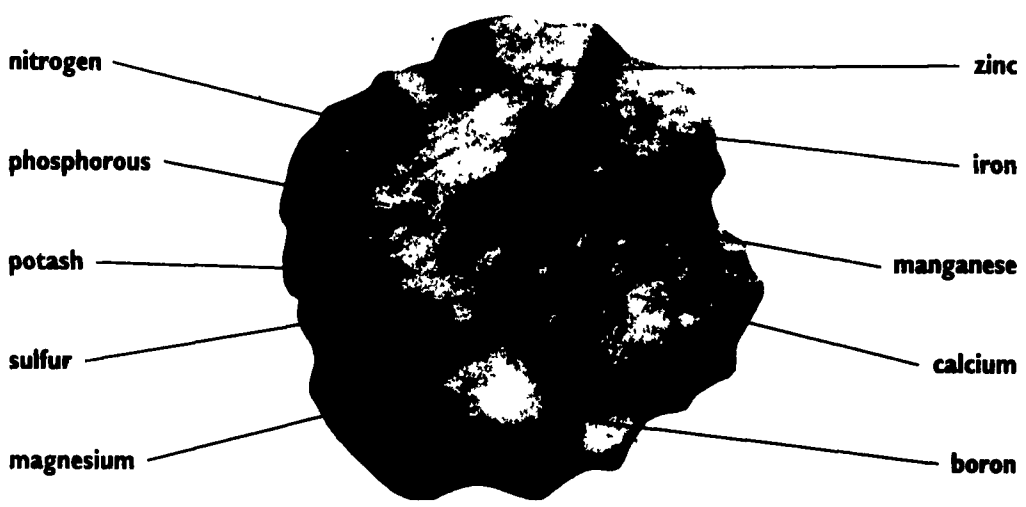
For over 47 years, farmers have been choosing Lebanon Extra for premium homogeneous/ammoniated plant food. Lebanon Extra is ideal for use in row applications where nutrient safety and consistency is crucial to yields. And its homogeneous/ammoniated granules offer superior performance over so-called "Custom-formulated" blends.



A blend of raw materials can result in uneven feeding. Unlike homogeneous/ammoniated granules which deliver all the primary nutrients and micronutrients in each particle — ensuring even distribution for consistent performance.

Feel More Secure

Lancaster's totally new concept in Silo Safety Ladders helps you feel more secure when climbing yourself or watching from the ground.

Details count when you're high off the ground. Now Lancaster, the most trusted name in silo equipment, presents the most advanced Silo Safety Ladder System available today.

We've built in extra knee room for easier climbing. Our ladder rungs are smooth to the hand, yet give shoes a sure grip. And our platforms feel more solid under your feet than any you've ever had before.

UNMATCHED DURABILITY

No other silo safety ladder system is built like a Lancaster. All components are solid steel. No light gauge metal here. Our hot dip galvanizing gives you rust protection typically rated for more than 45 years. Rungs are secured with stainless steel rivets. And it's all connected with heavy duty, double coated Grade 5 bolts.

A BETTER PLATFORM

You'll like the sturdier, roomier platform. It latches and unlatches with just a flick of your foot so you can keep a better hand grip. We test loaded the platform at 1500 lbs. That means added stability as you work - moving, leaning, or lifting.

FITS ANY SILO

The new Lancaster Silo Safety Ladder System fits new or used silos, stave or poured. Or you can get just the cage to fit over existing ladders.

Feel safer yourself, and more confident in the safety of your workers.

Md. Guernsey Breeders To Meet

LISBON, Md.—The 75th annual meeting of the Maryland Guernsey Breeders Association Inc. will be held March 23 at 10 a.m. at the Lisbon Fire Hall.

The directors have planned a program of interest for Guernsey breeders to enjoy. Dr. Ray Ediger, state veterinarian for the wester/ central region, will be the guest speaker. He will be presenting a program, "Maryland Agriculture in the Year 2010."

A program booklet with 75 years of Maryland Guernsey history will be given to those attending. A silent auction of Guernsey items will be held.

The committee invites anyone with Guernsey memorabilia to bring the items to the meeting for display. If you have items to display or donations for the silent auction, call Ruth Spurrier at (301) 898-9353.

Along with the business meeting, plans for the 1996 National Guernsey Convention, to be hosted by Maryland, will be announced. Youth and production awards will be presented by President Keith Dixon.

Consider this your invitation to attend the meeting. The cost of the dinner is $12 for adults. Juniors are free. Send ticket orders by March 15 to Wm. B. Messix III, Pemberton Lane, Queen Anne, MD 21657.

Farmers Hear Call For High-Value Farming

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The slide on the screen at the Nittany Lion Inn shows a combine harvesting a huge field of ripe grain.

"This guy is a bagel grower," said Sarah Vogel. He is not simply a grain farmer, but a pasta producer.

"Our goal is to change the way we look at ourselves," said Vogel, North Dakota's twice-elected agriculture commissioner. Farming in America, she said, will become more profitable only when farmers throughout the country begin bypassing the middlemen — selling directly to consumers — and turning low-priced cattle, milk, and grain into value-added products such as steaks, cheese, and pasta.

Such bold thinking and heavy emphasis on the bottom line is exactly what drew a record crowd of more than 600 farmers to the fifth annual conference of the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture (PASA) earlier this month in State College, said Tim Bowser, PASA executive director. Theme of the two-day conference was "Growing Markets, Adding Value, Sustaining Farms."

"We even had people here from as far away as Michigan and signed up five new members from New York state, West Virginia, and Michigan," said Bowser.

Past PASA conferences drew only about 500. Why the big turnout this year?

"Sarah Vogel's keynote address was as inspiring a talk as I have heard in a long while. There was a lot of food for thought," said Bowser. "The topic of marketing probably had a lot to do with the record attendance. We've always had sessions dealing with marketing. This is the first time we have made it the theme. I think it really resonated with a lot of people. I heard a lot of discussion that it was probably the best conference we have had yet from a content standpoint.

"But we also pushed the dairy end of it a lot more. We always try to address issues which are clearly very important to Pennsylvania agriculture," Bowser said.

One of the dairy speakers, Bill Patterson of Crimona, Va., explained how he switched to a grass-based dairy system in the late '80s. "Although his total production declined, his profits more than doubled. He got everybody's attention," Bowser said. A dairy mini-conference on the second day of the meeting focused on "Balancing Profitability and the Environment" with heavy emphasis on low-cost grazing systems and innovations in managing wastewater and manure.

Other standout speakers included Eliot Coleman, author of the bestselling "Four Season Harvest" and "The New Organic Grower," who raises vegetables commercially for eight months of the year on his small farm in coastal Maine, and "guerilla marketer" Robert J. Matarazzo whose 200-acre fruit and vegetable farm in Belvidere, N.J., is said to be the most diversified farm on the East Coast.

"My farm is 90 minutes from New York and Philadelphia . . . so I have to do a lot of crazy things to attract people," said Matarazzo. "I'm a strong believer in trying to develop a proprietary relationship with customers so that they feel the farm is their own."

To help do that, he sends out hundreds of press releases every week of the year to media in four states, publishes his own newsletter and stages up to 15 festivals a year on the farm, including spring and summer powwows that feature native American dancers and artists from throughout North America. Those festivals produce nearly 75 percent of his farm income in just 30 days.

Other PASA workshops covered commercial herb and flower gardening, selling specialty vegetables directly to chefs, pastured poultry production and marketing, cash grain rotations for soil improvement and weed control, developing business and marketing plans, winter grazing, forming grower cooperatives and Community Supported Agriculture marketing programs.

They all echoed Commissioner Vogel's keynote call for "Development Economics Through Cooperative Efforts." Vogel, who sued the federal government in the early '80s to stop 78,000 unlawful farm foreclosures, said, "We need to create new wealth and jobs through the development of new and expanded uses of agricultural products." She is doing just that in North Dakota with state programs that encourage more producer cooperatives to bypass profit-draining middlemen and sell value-added products directly to consumers. "When farmers win, we all win," she said. "There can be no return to economic prosperity that doesn't begin with farmers."

PASA has a wide variety of on-farm production and marketing demonstrations, field days and other activities planned throughout the summer, including its second annual Harvest Festival on Aug. 10 at Walnut Acres in Penns Creek, Pa. Last year's festival drew a crowd of 1,800. The festival is likely to be even bigger this year because Walnut Acres is celebrating its 50th year of organic farming.

For details on PASA membership, field days and the Harvests Festival, write PASA, PO Box 419, Millheim, PA 16854.

AI Cooperatives Approve Merger Proposal

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—Directors of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative (ABC) of Lancaster and Eastern A.I. Cooperative of Ithaca, N.Y. announced recently that members and delegates overwhelmingly approved a proposal to merge Atlantic, Eastner, and Louisiana Animal Breeders Cooperative (LABC) of Baton Rouge, La., into a new organization called Genex Cooperative, effective April 1.

The proposal also makes Genex a subsidiary of Cooperative Resources International (CRI), a holding cooperative based on Shawano, Wis.

The announcement follows special votes by members and delegates this month.

Atlantic members voted over 85 percent approval at 37 local annual meetings held February 5-15. Eastern delegates met February 26 in Syracuse, N.Y. and voted over 97 percent approval of the proposal. CRI delegates voted 96 percent favorable to admit Genex as a new subsidiary at recent meetings.

In announcing approval of the merger plan, the directors said this decision caps more than three years of work by a long-range planning committee of Federated partners. This committee looked at ways to meet the cooperative's missions for the future in providing members with quality genetics and service. Their resulting proposal keyed on four goals:

- Develop adequate business size to finance member needs and research
- Gain better efficiencies in operations and decision-making
- Tighten control on nonmember marketing to build revenue
- Position the organization to readily adapt to future changes.

The directors agreed that actions to form Genex Cooperative and join CRI meet these goals.

"This restructing is necessary in today's changing dairy service industry to focus on future benefits for producers," said Donald "Skip" Jensen, Eastern's board president and chairman of the long-range planning committee. "It's a bold step that builds on longstanding relationships to provide a base for further development and improvement of a broad range of products and services for dairymen. We have a healthy mix of unity and diversity that speaks of innovation and leadership."

These actions also offer the advantages of maintaining current service personnel and programs, providing a strong system of local member representation, and preserving members' equities. Members of Atlantic, Eastern, and LABC automatically become members of Genex and CRI, and will elect delegates to serve as local representatives. The delegates will elect directors for the 13-member Genex board who, in turn, will elect four representatives to the 11-member CRI board.

Farm services for members will remain unchanged, the directors said. Atlantic and Eastern professional AI technicians provide reproductive service and management programs for more than 20,000 dairy and beef farmers in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeast states.

The merger plan calls for Genex adminstrative offices and primary production facilities to be located at Eastern headquarters in Ithaca. Atlantic's Lancaster facilities will continue to provide sire housing.

The directors said a transition period will follow the April 1 effective date to allow for organizational changes to be carried out in an orderly manner.

Genex

A tradition of genetic excellence

In addition to announcing the formation of Genex Cooperative, directors of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative and Eastern A.I. Cooperative introduced the Genex logo design. It will identify the new cooperative and its personnel. equipment, printed materials, and advertising effective April 1.

The name Genex is derived from genetic excellence, based on the cooperative's commitment to provide members and customers with the highest quality of sires available. The stylized "g" symbolizes the moment of conception, when sperm and egg unite, and refers to Genex's strong commitment to reproductive programs that increase herd profitability.

The tagline "a tradition of genetic excellent" reflects the longstanding efforts by partners of Federated Genetics to improve dairy herds through superior genetics, quality service, and research. An important part of Genex's mission is to continue that tradition, the directors said.

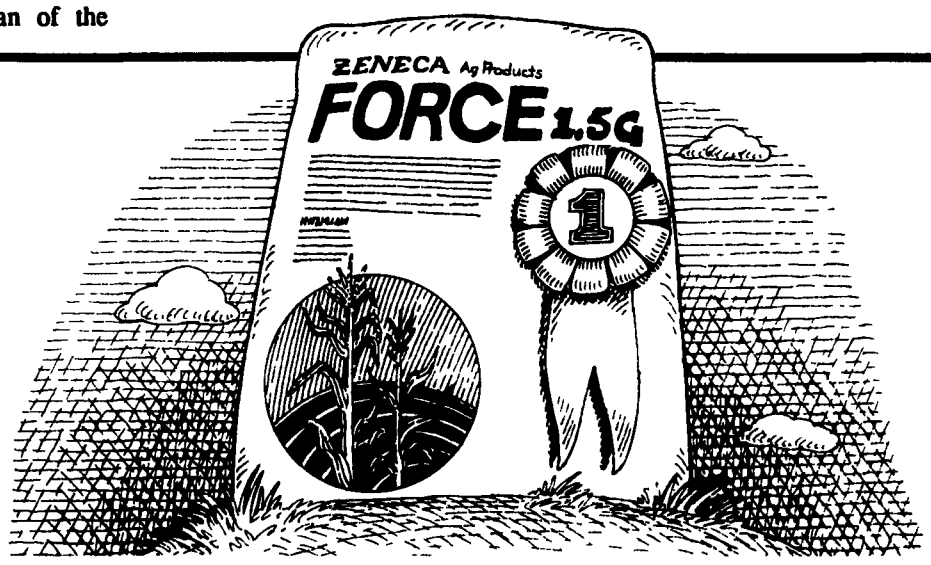
Burgundy has also been selected as the new AI cooperative's primary color.

Results of LABC member voting will be announced in March following their series of special meetings.

Atlantic, Eastern, and LABC have worked together since 1986 through a partnership known as Federated Genetics. Federated markets AI products and services outside the partners' membership areas to several states and foreign countries.

CRI is comprised of subsidiary member organizations, 21st Century Genetics at Shawano, Noba at Tiffin, Ohio, and AgSource Cooperative Services (formelry Wisconsin DHI Cooperative) at Verona, Wis. Federated partners and CRI subsidiaries have been business associates for more than a decade. They offer a combined sire lineup and jointly sample color breeds young sires. In 1995, Federated partners and AI subsidiaries of CRI served some 50,000 dairy and beef farmer-members and an additional 10,000 domestic customers. Sales totaled $62.5 million. The combined sire programs of the AI subsidiaries include nearly 2,000 bulls housed at nine locations.

"While bigger isn't always better, in mature businesses like those currently in CRI and the Genex partners, CRI has proven that centralizing certain functions can bring about operating efficiencies," said Kenneth Leick, chairman of the CRI board. "These efficiencies will be realized in several important areas without sacrificing product quality or service flexibility to members and customers of these cooperatives."



Why Is FORCE 1.5G #1 With Northeast Dealers? It Works.

FORCE® 1.5G provides outstanding broadspectrum control of soil-borne insects including rootworm, cutworm and wireworm, yet is environmentally friendly to earthworms. What's more, FORCE 1.5G offers very low toxicity to mammals and birds so you can use it with confidence. And FORCE 1.5G doesn't interact with sulfonylurea herbicides, leaving your rescue weed control options open all season long. Maybe that's why more Northeast dealers recommend FORCE 1.5G than any other soil insecticide.

Use Force and see for yourself why it's the most recommended soil insecticide in the Northeast. (Also available in a 3.0G formulation.)

Penn State Scientist: Mad Cow Disease Not A Threat In U.S.

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Speculation in the British tabloid press over "mad cow disease," a degenerative brain disorder that causes cattle to exhibit oddly belligerent behaviors, has triggered questions about whether humans can contract the disease by consuming beef products.

A veterinary virologist at Penn State's Animal Diagnostic laboratory says there is no evidence to suggest that the disease can make the jump across species to infect humans.

"There is not epidemiological evidence to suggest this disease in animals is tied to similar diseases in humans," says Anthony Castro, director of the laboratory.

Mad cow disease, clinically known as bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE), produces the same type of lesion in the brain as three very rare human ailments: Creutzfeldt-Jakob syndrome, kuru, and Gerstmann-Straussler syndrome. Castro emphasizes that there have been no cases of BSE in the United States since the ailment was first identified in 1986.

"The disease is not genetically inherited, and it is not transmitted horizontally. That means cows can't get it from standing next to another cow," says Castro, who together with Bill Stroffregen, a senior majoring in veterinary science, have just completed an extensive review of BSE. Signs of the disease in cattle include unsteady gaits, excessive salivation, head-butting, belligerence and paralysis.

BSE originated in Great Britain. Scientists theorize the diseaes came from feeding dairy cattle meat and bone meal derived from the carcasses of sheep infected with scrapie, a spongiform encephalopathy which occurs in certain breeds of sheep.

"In the United States, cattle are currently not fed diets derived from sheep carcasses," Castro explained. "In fact, rendering plants in the U.S. will not take sheep carcasses to manufacture by-products."

In addition, slides of brain tissue of any cattle that have died exhibiting neurological signs are sent for BSE testing to the National Veterinary Services Laboratory in Ames, Iowa. The U.S. Department of Agriculture also bans the import of cattle and other products derived from cattle from countries where BSE has been diagnosed.

Castro says both scrapie and BSE are found only in the brain and spinal tissue of affected animals. The infectious agent is believed to be an abnormal protein called a prion. The protein is extremely resistant to heat and irradiation and no vaccines exist to prevent the disease.

"BSE doesn't post a threat in the U.S. but as a precaution, people should not eat cattle or sheep brains, which are products that used to be commonly stocked in some stores," Castro warned. "There is no danger from beef and sheep muscle meats like steak, lamb and mutton."

.Althought scientists are unsure how the prion protein causes BSE and the rarer human spongiform encephalopathies, Castro said research into these diseases may hold clues as to what causes other neurological diseases such as multiple sclerosis and Parkinson's Disease.

"The evidence is still not all in, but BSE is unique to the bovine species and there is no evidence it can be passed to humans."

Lancaster Celebrates 20,000 Acres Preserved

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board's 20,000 Acre Celebration is set to take place on Friday, March 22, 1996 at Franklin & Marshall College Sports & Fitness Complex from 7-9 p.m.

The event, which was originally scheduled for January and postponed because of snow, celebrates the milestone of 20,000 acres of preserved farmland in the county.

The board is inviting landowners, public officials at the state and local levels and citizens who have particiapted in the farmland perservation effort.

The American Farmland Trust will present a national award to the county during the evening, and a major announcement is expected from county officials. For tickets and information, call the Preserve Board offices at 299-8355.

Farm Organizations Split

House proposal and its dairy provisions.

According to a position paper distributed during the conference, there are six major reasons why the three organizations — Grange, PFU and Pro Ag — "cannot support the proposed National Dairy Bill in its present form."

In it's summary, the position paper states, "The proposed Dairy Bill (in the House version) does establish a minimum Class I price (the price to farmers for milk sold that is used as fluid milk) for two years equivalent to the January 1996 level.

"The proposed Bill also abolishes the current Commodity Credit Corporation Assessment on producers.

"However, there are no minimum prices established for any class usage of manufactured milk — except the support price on cheese for $10.35 cwt (per hundedweight) for 1996 and $10.25 cwt for 1997 — and with the support price being removed from butter and powder, consequently one can assume that prices paid for manufactured milk will commence to descend this spring.

"In all probability, prices received by dairy farmers for milk produced in January and February of 1996 could be the highest prices received by dairy farmers during 1996 and 1997.

"Therefore, as a result of the concerns listed in this position paper, we cannot support the proposed Dairy Bill identified as H2854, without these concerns being addressed in a positive way."

According to the position paper, those concerns include:

• The current basic formula price that establishes the prices paid to dairy farmers stays intact. Consequently, there remains no relationship between the prices paid to dairy farmers and the cost of producing their milk. Therefore, estimated prices paid to dairy farmers under the new proposed dairy bill falls short of covering the average cost of production to our dairy farmers and farmers should have the right to receive their cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

• The proposed bill calls for the national pooling of part of the Class I differential paid to area dairy farmers (80 cents per cwt). This means part of the money that is due to area dairy farmers will be transferred to dairy farmers in other sections of the country.

• The bill calls for the elimination of the milk price support program for butter and powder. Consequently the value of milk used for these products could drop on the price to producers.

• The proposed bill calls for national pooling of 50 percent of the differences between Class IV price and the support price on cheese. Depending on how low the Class IV goes, the cost to area dairy farmers could be between 10 cents and 25 cents per cwt.

Therefore ... area dairy farmers will lose some of the Class I price owed them, and in exchange for this, their blend price will be reduced because of the national pooling of the Class IV price.

• The proposed Dairy Bill appears to call for the elimination of state orders, such as what we have in Pennsylvania. Under the proposed bill, by December 31, 1997, the Secretary of Agriculture must consolidate the present numbers of federal milk marketing orders down to a number somewhere between eight and 13. How much of an input will dairy farmers have in the new milk orders? A referendum should be put in place on all final decisions that affect the federal milk marketing orders, to allow producers to have a voice in this matter.

• If, for whatever reason, the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture fails to implement the new federal milk marketing orders within two years because of enactment of this bill, the dairy industry becomes completely deregulated with no federal milk marketing orders, no federal dairy support program and no pricing mechanism. It is crucial that the Secretary of Ag acts within two years and it should be mandatory for him to do so.

On the other hand, Keith Eckel, president of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau in news releases made during the past two weeks, urged quick passage of the Farm Bill, foreseeing a beneficial result of the proposal for all farmers, and dairy farmers.

That is also the position of the National Farm Bureau, the National Milk Producers Federation and the state's dairy cooperatives.

Eckel's reasons for getting a Farm Bill passed include the fact that without one, farmers won't be able to know what they should plant.

"It's already too late for farmers in the Southern belt and in a matter of weeks it could be chaos for all farmers heading to the field to plant their crops."

Eckel stated support for the Senate's version of the farm bill, though noting its lack of dairy policy. He said that Farm Bureau supports the Senate version and the House version with the understanding that the final compromise bill sent to the President for signing into law will be a hybrid that addresses dairy policy and ensures something of a safety net, called transitional support, before eventually being turned over entirely to market forces.

Further, he asserted that with the existing Farm Bill soon ending, and without a new one taking its place, the nation would revert to 1949 regulations which "would be disastrous."

An extension of the 1990 Farm Bill has been suggested by some, though none of the Pennsylvania groups representing agriculture have issued support for that recourse.

According to Eckel, both bills will benefit farmers and consumers. In a news release containing Eckel's comments, states, "The (Farm Bill) measures provide farmers with income stability during the next seven years, and positions U.S. agriculture to compete more aggressively in world markets."

The difference in opinion over policy has been ongoing for a number of years and it seems to have resulted in the polarization of two camps within agriculture, especially the dairy industry — those operations that have grown continually in size and efficiency during the past decade and those that have attempted to operate more traditionally and less aggressively.

The United States farm policy was developed to prevent the nation's citizens from starvation and suffering — by ensuring constant excess food supply, the nation's middle and low income citizens (most) could continue to be assured adequate food at low cost.

On the other hand, that policy also prevents farmers from ever making the kind of profit possible because as efficiencies increase, supplies increase, prices continue to drop, and at the same time competition isn't diminished because support prices can continue to keep operations afloat.

exports have been offered as a means by which the nation's farmers would not have to change their operations or be forced to drop out of farming.

According to Eckel, "Farmers want more planting flexibility, allowing them to better respond to the marketplace. Senate-approved legislation and the House version will accomplish this goal.

"Both versions move farmers closer to a market-oriented marketplace," he said. "Farmers will be taking signals from the market price of commodities to make planting decisions, which is much more reliable than government."

By his reckoning, the dairy provisions would increase net farm income for U.S. producers because it would offer eliminating the budget assessments.

(As an aside, currently the federal government takes a certain portion of a dairy farmer's pay and keeps it if the farmer increased milk production during the year, or gives it back without interest if his milk production stayed the same or decreased. This is to continue regardless through 1997. Farmers have until March 15 to submit for a refund.)

Further from the Farm Bureau perspective, farmers would benefit because dairy promotion funds would be collected from imported products; the California milk standards would be allowed nationally (allowing non-fat milk components to remain at normal levels after fat has been removed); putting the two-year floor on Class I use at January 1996 levels; and the decline in butter and milk powder prices would allow those products to compete on the world market.

Eckel disputes that the 80 cents per cwt. of milk pooling of funds would really hurt Pennsylvania farmers because the two-year Class I floor price would more than offset that.

An increase in make allowance for butter powder and cheese proposed in the House Farm Bill proposal would have little effect on the price received by the producer, Eckel claimed.

In addition to statements from the Grange, Pro Ag and the PFU in calling for a rejection of the House dairy proposals, statements were read from country music singer/songwriter Willie Nelson, who has been active in Farm Aid, and U.S. Congressman Tim Holden, who represents Berks and Schuylkill counties and who is the only Pennsylvania representative to sit on the House Agriculture Committee.

"As we all know," Holden stated, "most of the agriculture production in Pennsylvania is unsubsidized. The one major exception to this is the dairy industry, which benefits from a government support program.

"Under H.R. 2854, government payments to producers of major crops, wheat, corn, cotton, rice, etc., would be decoupled from production and market conditions. for the entire life of federal farm programs, support payments have been linked to crop production and market conditions.

"The underlying philosophy has been that we need to protect production of staple crops, but not give payments to farmers when market conditions are good.

"Decoupling leads to a policy of welfare for farmers who have historically received payments. It is not a policy based on the food and fiber needs of our nation; it is a policy based on protecting government checks that go to certain fortunate farmers.

"Since our Pennsylvania farmers have not received payments, they would not be eligible for support — even if they were growing the same crops as subsidized farmers," Holden stated.

"I have serious concerns abou the regional equity of such a proposal. I have serious concerns about the wisdom of a bill that locks in payments to farmers even if they have a bonanza year. In fact, H.R. 2854 could well lead to the highest payments going to farmers in years of relatively high farm income."

NAICC Elects Leaders

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—New leaders for the National Alliance of Independent Crop Consultants took office at the organization's eighteenth annual meeting in Orlando recently.

The new slate is led by Donald L. Jameson of Agrimanagement Inc. in Yakima Wash., who is the group's seventeenth president. William M. McLawhorn Jr. of McLawhorn Crop Services Inc. in Cove City, N.C. began a one-year term as president elect.

Also elected were Dr. Roberta Spitko of New England Fruit Consultants in Montague, Mass., secretary, and Rober M. Carter of Agricultural Managment Services, Inc. in Claytone, La., treasurer.

Phillip D. Cochran of Cochran Agronomics and Ray Young of Ray Young Insect Control in Wisner, La. began two-year terms as directors.

Beginning their second year as directors are Michael Brubaker of Brubaker Agronomic Consulting Service Inc., serving Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland; Lee West of Research Designed for Agriculture, Yuma, Ariz., and Lynn Henderson of Doane Agricultural Services Company, St. Louis, Mo.

Harold Lambert, of Lambert Agricultural Consulting Inc., in Innis, La., who is the immediate past president of NAICC, will also remain on the executive board for a year.

The National Alliance of Independent Crop Consultants, formed in 1978, is a professional association of and the official spokesman for independent crop consultants and contract researchers in the United States.

The professions of crop consulting and contract research are among the few growth sectors of the agricultural industry. The need for increased efficiency in production, recent advances in technology, and continuing concern for the environment ensure a demand for qualified individuals to advise farmers. Contract researchers are in demand as industry and government needs for data increase.

It is the purpose and goal of NAICC to serve these young professions.

Nineteen Pennsylvania Horse Farms To Have Open House

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Nineteen of Pennsylvania's professional stables will open their doors to the public for the fourth annual "Shurfine Pennsylvania Horse Farms Open House," to be held Saturday, March 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The tour is a chance for would-be equestrians to visit some of Pennsylvania's most beautiful horse farms, to learn about breeds, styles of riding, raising, caring for and training horses and to explore the many opportunities for getting involved with horses right in their own backyards. The tour, produced by Pennsylvania Equestrian, is free and self-guided and individuals travel from stable to stable in their own vehicles.

Maps to the 19 participating stables will be available throughout the month of March at Shurfine stores throughout eastern Pennsylvania and northern Maryland. In addition, Shurfine customers can register to win one of more than 100 free introductory riding lessons, to be given at seven or more of the participating farms.

Among the participating farms are a nursery for orphan foals, nationally competitive show stables specializing in American Saddlebred, warmblood, Arabian and palomino horses, breeding stables with young foals, farms that breed, raise and train Paint horses, relaxed, friendly boarding stables that feature trail riding for their boarding and lesson customers, and one of the premier therapeutic riding stables, which provides therapy on horseback for disabled children and adults.

With more than 174,000 horses, Pennsylvania ranks fifth in the nation in generation of income from the horse industry, and Pennsylvanians spend nearly two-thirds of a billion dollars a year on their horses. Most of that industry is clustered in the southeastern quadrant of the state, where the Open House is centered. Nine of the stables are located in Lancaster County, three in both Berks and Chester counties, and the remainder in Lehigh, Lebanon and Bucks counties.

Most stables will schedule demonstrations, including riding and show techniques, sample lessons, equine first aid, equine chiropractic and acupuncture, riding fashions, conformation, shoeing, foal imprinting and more. Many stables will have young foals on display. Visitors will be able to view horses offered for sale and stallions available for stud service.

A number of horse-related businesses will have displays at participating stables. In addition to learning about horses, visitors can learn about equine nutrition, supplements and feed, how to buy a horse trailer, and other aspects of horse ownership and care.

The tour is free. For more information and directions to each of the stables, phone (717) 898-5874 or pick up a map at any Shurfine store.

1996 SHURFINE PENNSYLVANIA HORSE FARMS OPEN HOUSE FACT SHEET

WHEN: Saturday, March 30, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

WHAT: The Shurfine Pennsylvania Horse Farms Open House, produced by Pennsylvania Equestrian, is a free, self-guided tour of professional public stables. The Open House is a chance for current and would-be equestrians to visit some of the region's most beautiful horse farms and to explore the opportunities for horse ownership and participation in equestrian sports available right in their own back yards. The tour is free and self-guided and individuals can tour one or all stables, traveling from barn to barn in their own vehicles.

The southeastern quadrant of Pennsylvania is especially rich in quality equestrian facilities. The stables participating in the Open House are diverse in their activi-

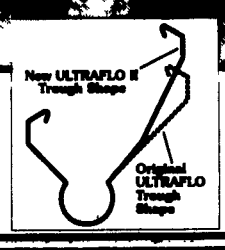
New Shape
The difference is the shape of the feeder's trough (at right). ULTRAFLO II's higher trough lip reduces feed waste by keeping it in the trough and not on the floor or in the pit.



The Right Choice in cage feeders

Chore-Time's popular ULTRAFLO® Cage Feeding System is now even more outstanding! We've developed and tested the second generation of ULTRAFLO feeders and named it the ULTRAFLO® II.

ULTRAFLO II offers you even greater reliability, durability, and outstanding feed-saving performance—up to 1 gram of feed per bird per day—over the original ULTRAFLO. And even the original ULTRAFLO was beating our competitors in feed savings!

So, join the cage feeding leader. Contact us today. Find out how Chore-Time and ULTRAFLO II can help you be a leader, too!

"It's great to be part of the team at ADC that produces a quality product and stands by its farmers."
—Levi & LuAnn Ransom
Nicholson, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

Quality milk and support of its members – the outstanding benefits that Levi and LuAnn Ransom refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be."

ties and goals. Some offer students and boarders a chance to escape the pressures of daily life, by providing a relaxed atmosphere in which to enjoy riding on beautiful trails. Others are top show stables, which train their equine athletes to be the best in their disciplines in the show ring. Still others are breeding operations, which specialize in any of a variety of breeds for a wide array of uses in and out of the show ring.

Visitors can watch a training session featuring a World's Champion horse, watch a blacksmith at work, learn about equine first aid, chiropractic and acupuncture, see a lesson, enjoy the antics of a young foal, learn how to evaluate conformation, meet the horses and their owners and ask questions about all aspects of enjoying horses. The highlight is the opportunity to watch beautiful, athletic horses perform under saddle and in harness.

Pennsylvania is home to 174,000 horses and ranks fourth in the United States in spending on horses, which totaled $614 million in 1990.

PARTICIPATING STABLES: The horse Farms Open House began in 1993 with six farms in Lancaster County, which ranks first in the state in number of horses. In 1996, that list has expanded to include 19 farms in six counties. They include the following stables:

Export Representatives Visit Mexico

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Representatives of the Northeast Dairy Export Program (NEDEP) have just returned from a trade show in Mexico City — the Festival de Alimentos y Bebidas, sponsored by the U.S. Foreign Agriculture Service.

The representatives described the show as successful and well attended by distributors and buyers from 15 Latin American countries.

After meeting with Mexican dairy importers, NEDEP representatives stated a belief that the Mexican market contains important potential for U.S. dairy companies willing to establish credibility with the Mexican consumer.

Peter Caldwell, NEDEP's vice president, said, "The Mexican economy received a shock with the peso devaluation; however, it has stabilized and an increasingly promising opportunity is emerging for entry into the Mexican dairy market."

His conclusion was supported by evidence of renewed expansion of large specialty supermarkets in Mexico City targeted at Mexicans of various income levels.

NEDEP is a joint public/private venture dedicated to promoting and completing export sales of Northeastern dairy products. It is partially funded by the USDA and the state departments of agriculture of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont.

The six participating dairy cooperatives and two processing companies provide the rest of the funding.

With the contacts made in Mexico, the NEDEP states that it is poised to enter the international arena and promote U.S. product sales abroad.

Pa.DHIA Holds Meeting On Out-Of-State Records

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Recently the field staff at Pa.DHIA held two workshops in northern New Jersey and one workshop in southwestern New York.

The record meetings involved Dean Amick, director of field operations, and David Bigelow, training coordinator.

Included on the itinerary for discussion and explanation were the milk urea nitrogen testing, the newly established performance economics, herd summary I, herd summary II, reproductive report and the somatic cell count report.

Discussion of goals and areas of improvement on reading records were discussed.

A round table discussion was held in order to update the membership on the status of the organization as well as answering any questions.

The staff at Pa.DHIA feel that it is important to continually update the membership on any new changes through the record meetings. This allows the members to share their thoughts and ideas in different areas.

The staff in return can present these ideas to the different advisory committees for further scrutiny.

In recent months the cooperative has continued to grow in out-of-state membership areas. Though continuous updating and educating of the membership on records as well as any changes we hope to see a steady growth in new members.

Pa.DHIA services members in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia and Missouri. Please feel free to contact the office at (800) 344-8378, if we can assist with your dairy operation.

Spring Conferences

The field staff at Pa.DHIA would like to extend a welcome to all county agents, artificial insemination personnel, nutritionists and other agribusiness people to attend one of the spring technician conferences.

The lineup of spring conferences promises to be as educational as ever. The theme of this year's conferences is, "Back to Basics, Forward to the Future."

An extended amount of time is to be spent on interpretation of records as well as an allotment of time for a roundtable discussion.

All agribusiness people are asked to call Norma Homan, (800) 344-8378, for reservations by March 13.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. Remember these are averages so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

4-H Offers Leadership Training In Shooting Sports

YOUNGSVILLE (Warren Co.) — Pennsylvania 4-H is conducting a shooting sports leader training program and instructor certification course for adults interested in working with youths ages 8-18.

It will be held May 17-19, at Camp Harmony Heart, Jermyn (near Scranton).

According to Sanford Smith, Warren County Extension Agent, the workshop will be funded in part by a $2,500 grant from the National Rifle Association through their "Friends of the NRA" program and a $600 grant from the Federal Cartridge Company.

Programming will involve specialized training and certification for instructors in the NRA/4-H rifle, pistol, and shotgun shooting sports programs.

Archery participants will receive National Archery Association Level 1 certification. Program participants will be certified to organize 4-H project clubs and conduct instruction in these program areas.

Several related projects and activities will also be introduced during this year's training including "Woodworking for Wildlife," "Wildlife Through The Seasons," "Endangered Species" and the Penn State 4-H Habitat Evaluation contest.

The 4-H shooting sports program has grown rapidly in Pennsylvania with over 2,300 youths ages 8 to 18 completing projects in this program area in 1995.

4-H members receive training in marksmanship, firearm safety and handling. They also have the opportunity to compete in county, regional and statewide contests.

Air pistol, air rifle, archery and .22-caliber rifle contests are held for teens at 4-H State Achievement Days at Penn State University in August.

For more information about the 4-H Shooting Sports program and this training contact Smith at the Warren County Cooperative Extension office in Youngsville at (814) 563-9388.

State Agriculture Program To Increase Consumer Awareness

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius has announced the recipients of funding under the department's Agricultural Product Matching Grant Program.

Brosius said the program matches funds generated by state nonprofit agricultural promotion and marketing organizations for projects to increase consumer awareness and boost sales of Pennsylvania-grown products.

"Gov. Ridge has directed the department to take steps to increase farm profitability," Brosius said. "This new initiative will help to promote our agricultural commodities in partnership with the organizations that work hard to get their message out to consumers."

In order to qualify for matching grants, the organizations must agree to provide funding at least equal to the amount requested through the program.

Eleven organizations were approved for a total of $136,670 in matching funds. The applicants, state matching grant amounts, and project descriptions include:

• Dairy Council Inc., $14,660.50, to provide instruction on the five food groups, particularly dairy products, for elementary children;

• Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, $30,000 to test market and promote "Moo Koolers," 12-ounce plastic containers of flavored 2-percent milk designed to increase children's consumption of milk;

• Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers Association, $5,000 to print and distribute 30,000 Choose and Cut/Retail Location Guidebooks to enable residents and visitors to select Pennsylvania-grown Christmas trees;

• Lancaster County Poultry Association, $8,500, to create radio advertisements and a videotape promoting poultry products and the poultry industry;

• Pennsylvania Composting Association, $5,000, to develop a promotional exhibit and create a directory of commercial organic compost suppliers;

• Pennsylvania Beef Council, $10,000, to educate producers regarding product quality and establish a dialogue between cattlement and retailers;

• Agricultural Awareness Foundation of Pennsylvania, $10,000, to train and equip an agricultural speakers' bureau to educate consumers on the importance of Pennsylvania agriculture;

• Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program, $10,000, to create outdoor billboard advertising encouraging vegetable consumption;

• Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Board, $18,500, to design and implement a statewide contest encouraging third and fourth grade students to consume Pennsylvania bagged apples and apple products;

• Pennsylvania Landscape and Nursery Association, $5,000, to produce and distribute radio advertisements encouraging consumers to purchase Pennsylvania-grown ornamental horticultural products; and

• Pennsylvania Wine Association, $20,000, to conduct a food and wine exposition to promote Pennsylvania-grown and processed foods and wines.

Family Into Hall Of Fame

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Recognizing their commitment to agriculture and preserving Maryland's environment, Governor Parris N. Glendening has inducted the William Sutton family of Kent County into the Maryland Agricultural Hall of Fame at the annual Maryland Agriculture Dinner.

"It's a privilege for me to celebrate agriculture, our state's number one industry, and to take part in the induction ceremonies for the Maryland Agricultural Hall of Fame. The Sutton family . . . represents the very best that our state has to offer," Governor Glendening said. "We all take pride in their dedication and their accomplishments."

Organized in 1991, the Maryland Agricultural Hall of Fame honors farm families in the agricultural industry who exemplify high standards of achievement and commitment to the community.

The Sutton family operates a successful dairy farm that has an outstanding reputation in maintaining a high level of animal health standards while at the same time employing effective conservation measures and best management practices. In addition, all of the Sutton family members are deeply involved in their community giving of their time and energy to farming, conservation, religious, youth, charity and political organizations.

Leaders Agree: Establish Dairy Organization, Work On Funding

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The gulf between planning and actually doing must be narrowed if dairying is to survive in Pennsylvania.

And it won't happen unless groups with different priorities learn to set aside their differences and work toward helping dairy farms thrive, according to experts who spoke Thursday morning at a meeting of Pennsylvania dairy stakeholders at the Dixon University Center in Harrisburg.

More than 80 producers, processors, legislators, bankers, and agri-industry related representatives met at a forum to vote to establish a formal group in Pennsylvania and discuss methods to finance that organization.

Since June 1992, industry meetings have been held to address this issue. At several times in 1993 through 1995, the Pennsylvania Dairy Industry Futures Committee (PDIFC) has met to focus on all industry stakeholders. As a result, in June 1994 and 1995, two state dairy forums were held. A mandate was given to Penn State and the state Department of Agriculture to convene a stakeholders group to decide on future structures.

At the Thursday meeting, stakeholders were brought together for the same reason — to decide if a representational organization is necessary. But this one focused on ways to finally organize it.

However, those who attended agreed that attempts could be hampered to establish an organization now. This is because of the transitions taking place — the lack of a Farm Bill (the current version under review has no provisions for the dairy industry), the dissolution of federal support payments, the uncertainties regarding new markets as a result of the North American Free Trade Agreement, and the continuing search for a Penn State dean.

But there are models that could be followed. At the meeting, 11 discussion groups were established. Of the 83 in attendance, all voted unanimously to establish an organization for Pennsylvania that could mirror successful ones in other states.

The organization could be similar to the Minnesota Dairy Leaders Roundtable, established in 1992, or the Ohio Dairy Strategic Planning Task Force, established in 1993.

Representatives of the Minnesota and Ohio organizations spoke to the dairy stakeholders Thursday morning.

Edward Frederick, Minnesota Extension Service, University of Minnesota and facilitator of the Minnesota Dairy Roundtable, spoke about the literal "growing pains" of the "structure, not organization" established to recapture the 1990 market share of total U.S. milk production.

When Frederick worked for extension from 1958-1964, there were 130,000 dairy farms in the state. In 1990, that number had shrunk to 14,000 farms. While 40,000 are employed in some aspect of the dairy business in Minnesota today, associated employment is actually about 85,000, amounting to an annual $3.5 billion industry.

This is happening while Minnesota is dropping production to less than 10 billion pounds of milk yearly. Where once they had 6.8 percent of the market share in 1990, in 1995, that number dipped to 6 percent.

Clearly, there was a need to do something to stop the state from "losing its production, market, and infrastructure." As a result, the roundtable was formed. Stakeholders in the roundtable oversee the Minnesota Dairy Partnership, Inc., approved by the roundtable in December 1992. The partnership, a collaborative partnership between the entire dairy sector in the state, the University of Minnesota, and related industries, was established to "bring them together so at least they can talk together" and work for the benefit of the entire dairy industry, according to Frederick.

Altogether, 350 people are involved in the non-profit roundtable structure and partnership. Proposed funding for the partnership is $500,000 per year for three years, half from the dairy sector and half from the state of Minnesota. The money is to be allocated to committees in charge of marketing, supply, services, and farm, trade, and breed organizations.

Plans are under way to pass through legislature a bill to establish the Minnesota Dairy Development Fund, to set up a fund in perpetuity trust to fund the partnership.

Stakeholders in the Pennsylvania dairy industry met on Thursday at Dixon University Center. From left, Donald Schriver, CEO, Milk Marketing, Inc.; Charles Brosius, secretary of agriculture; and Edward Frederick, facilitator of the Minnesota Dairy Leaders Roundtable.

In the meantime, the activities of the roundtable "set a tone" for the industry, said Frederick.

Donald Schriver, CEO, Milk Marketing, Inc., spoke about the Ohio Dairy Strategic Planning Task Force established in December 1993.

"If your put your minds to it, you can make some major changes," Schriver told the stakeholders on Thursday.

The task force is assisted by the Ohio State University's College of Food, Agricultural, and Environmental Sciences, Ohio State University Extension, and Ohio Sen. Grace Drake. A steering committee, comprised of industry leaders, appointed panels to asssess the industry in environmental, finance, legislative areas, marketing, and production.

Like Minnesota's Roundtable, the Ohio task force's mission statement emphasizes the goal of strengthening overall profitability and long-term viability of the Ohio dairy industry, said Schriver.

The state slipped from 6th to 9th place in overall productivity. With that in mind, Schriver said it was important to change the "mentality" of thinking that "we have to own the farm." If we are locked in our current thinking, we can't move projects to promote the industry along.

He told the stakeholders to think about the efforts of the dairy producers in Wyoming County, N.Y., who meet and are doing many things to strengthen their representation in the marketplace.

A proposed forum, the Ohio Dairy Industry Forum (similar to the Minnesota Roundtable's dairy partnership), would act to provide ways to facilitate production, processing, marketing, promotion, and other supporting activities for the industry. It would be composed of 11 members — two producers, two processors, one retailer, one support industry, one consumer representative, one Ohio State representative, one representative from the Ohio Department of Agriculture, and two ex-officio members of the state legislature.

The financing would be provided by processors, lenders, and state sources.

Overall, those who attended the stakeholders forum agreed that the industry is in trouble and something needs to be done.

Several industry leaders indicated their commitment to funding the organization.

The purpose of the meeting was to "search for direction and determine your desire, your committment to the future of dairying in Pennsylvania," said Charles Brosius, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture.

Brosius asked the forum, "Will we have dairy farms in Pennsylvania in the future or will they be in New Mexico or someplace else?"

Lancaster Farmland Trust Receives Overwhelming Support

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—Lancaster Farmland Trust announces the end of its 1995-1996 Annual Funding Campaign. The Campaign kicked off in mid-September of last year and ended successfully four months later in mid-January. The Campaign goal was the highest ever — $160,000 — and it the most money that LFT has ever successfully raised from the Lancaster community.

Right on the coattails of the Campaign's success, the Trust received welcomed news from the William Penn Foundation in Philadelphia. The Foundation awarded the Trust a grant of $550,000 to be used over a three-year period. The grant will be held in the Trust's Land Preservation Fund and will be used exclusively toward the preservation of prime agricultural land in Lancaster County. The grant is meant to aid Lancaster Farmland Trust in its plans to preserve at least 30 farms over the next three years. This is the third grant made by the William Penn Foundation to Lancaster Farmland Trust and is the largest gift provided to the organization. Combined with other grants received from the Foundation, it represents nearly a million dollars gifted to the Trust for the express purpose of preserving Lancaster County's precious farmland.

Lancaster Farmland Trust is overwhelmed at this generous display of financial support for its efforts. "We feel strongly that the generous support received from individuals as well as the generous support received from foundations such as the William Penn Foundation is strong evidence that a major concern in the public sector is the preservation of farmland in Lancaster County," said Phyllis Whitesell, president of the Board of Trustees for Lancaster Farmland Trust.

Lancaster Farmland Trust is a not-for-profit organization actively working to preserve farmland in Lancaster County. It is committed to supporting farmers who are good stewards of the land and to encourage the growth of the agriculture industry, recognizing that our farm heritage has enriched the lives of all citizens.

Pennsylvania Mule Day Complete With 20-Team Hitch

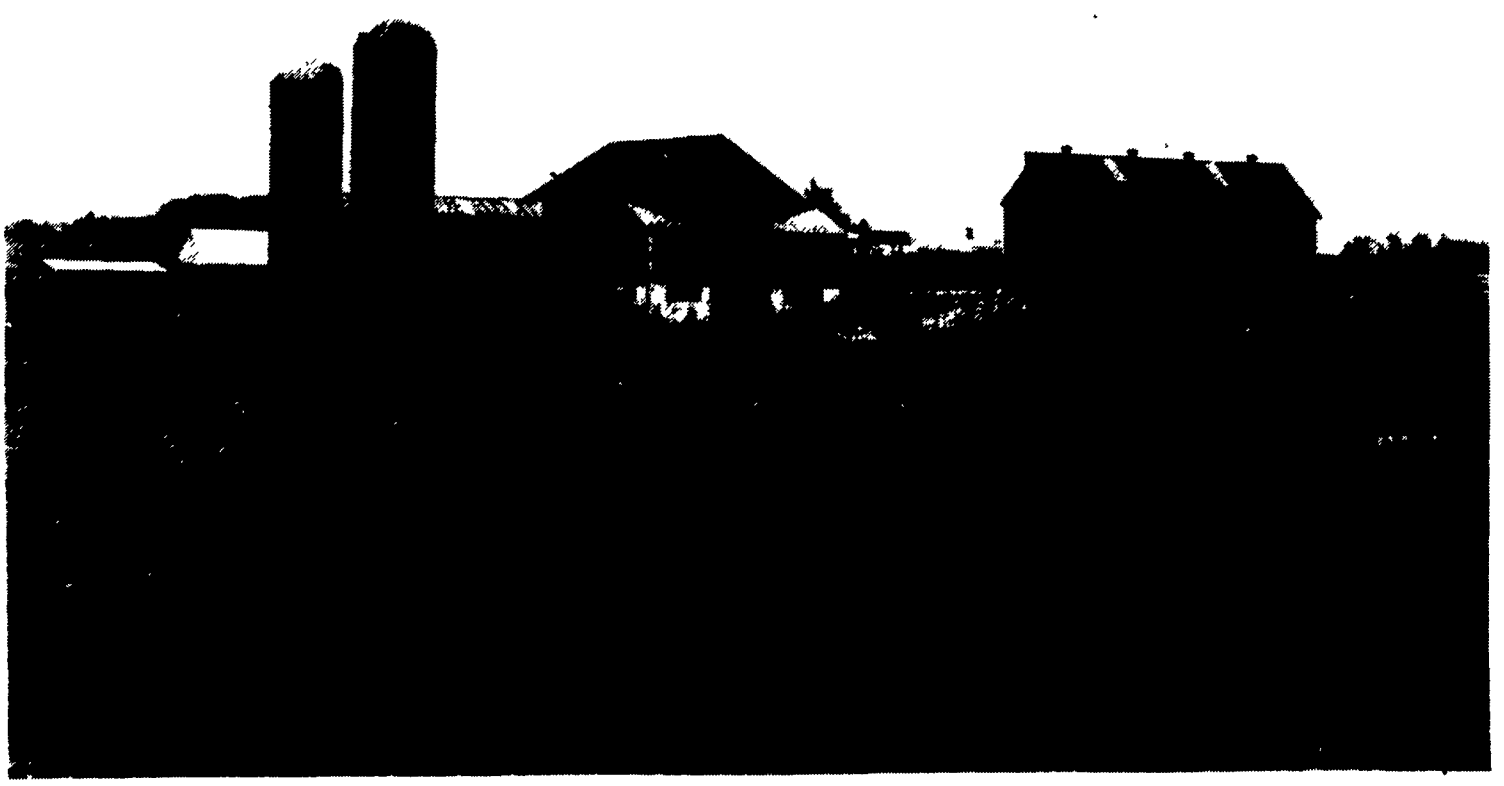
Leaders' take-off.

Down the farm lane.

Rusty Iron.

The 20-mule team in great performance.

Hitching conference.



Making a U-turn.

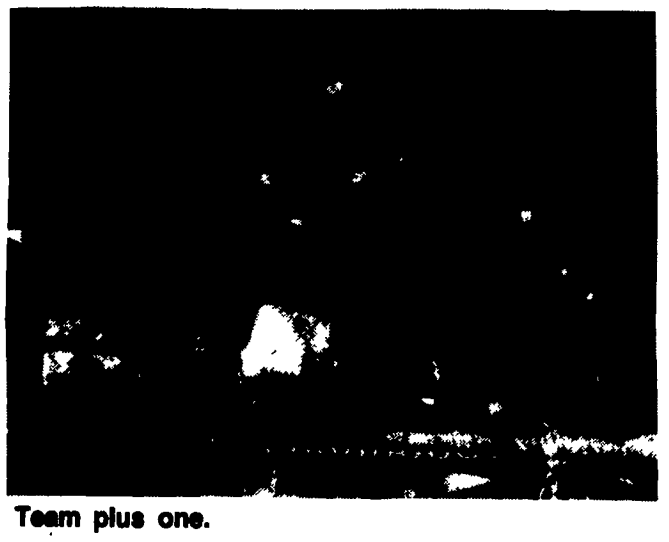
Don't talk back.

Inspecting the merchandise.

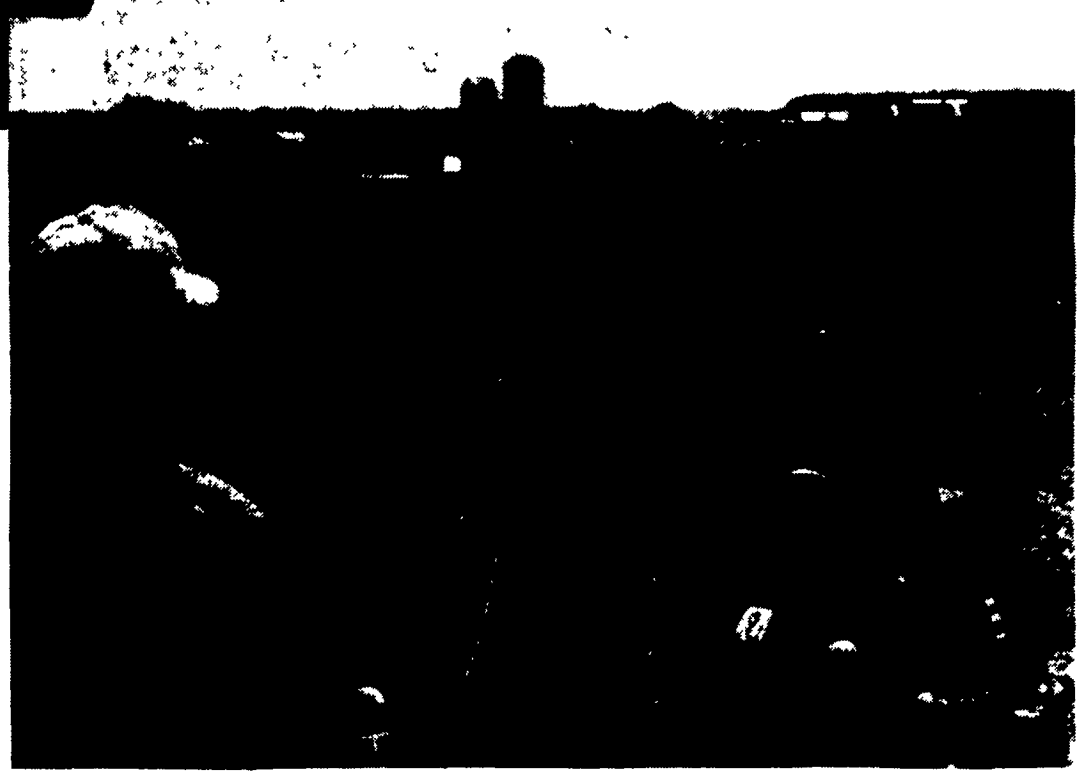
You, me, and the mule.

Nosey.

Came to see what's going on.



Team plus one.



Forty big ears in rows.

"Quite A Sight"

The attraction was as great as any circus or county fair. But only those who "have a feel for it" can appreciate what is involved in hitching and driving a 20-mule team.

Both Amish and "older English farm boys" were impressed with the performance at the Pennsylvania Mule Day Tuesday at the farm of Henry Kauffman, located southwest of Nine Points in Lancaster County. "Quite a sight," seemed to be the quote of the day.

Jack Strode, the Tennessee mule trainer, was in the area to show his Amish farmer friends, who use the beasts of burden in everyday working of the fields, what to expect from his well-trained merchandise. "If the mules work and behave in a 20-mule hitch, they will work anywhere," Strode said. "Just put the harness on and go to work."

Move it! Move it out. Move it!

Quick hitch.

The hitch included young mules of Belgian and Percheron ancestry that weigh in at about 1,800 pounds when full grown at five years. A good pair of mules will set the farmer back about $5,000 to $7,000. Not as much as a tractor, of course, but you still need to feed them. And the horse power...pardon me, big ears...the mule power has a different ratio at the hitch point than the mechanical counterpart. But those who love to farm with mules would never have those big rubber tires on their farm.

For all you mule lovers, here's what the camera saw at the 20-mule team hitch. Photos by Everett Newswanger, managing editor.

Lancaster Heads For Maryland

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Holstein Club has set up a tour of three Maryland dairy operations that offers participants a look at a mix of successful business strategies.

Scheduled for March 14, the deadline for early reservations is March 7. The cost per person is $22 and includes a buffet dinner at the Old Wharf Inn in Chestertown.

The bus is to depart the Lancaster Farm and Home Center promptly at 7:45 a.m. and is expected to return about 9 p.m.

Reservations made after March 7 are $27. Cornerstone Genetics has offered to pay the difference to reward early registration.

Reservations should be sent to Larry Kennel, DVM, 1489 Grandview Road, Mount Joy, PA 17552, or call (717) 653-4825.

Lester C. Jones & Sons

The trip is to include a visit to the farm of Lester C. Jones Jr. and sons, located in Massey.

The farm is a family corporation fun by Lester and his three sons, David, Sean and Andy. The family farm business was originally in the 1930s in New Jersey by Lester's father, Lester Sr.

In July 1994, the family purchased the Massey farm and construction began in August. By April last year, they began milking cows. They currently milk 600 and have about 60 dry cows.

The housing for the milk cows is freestall with mattresses and automatic barn scrapers. All replacements are raised on the farm with a calf barn for newborns, a Virginia-style heifer barn, and a freestall barn for young animals.

The majority of feed is raised on the farm and stored in a bunker silo, as well as a commodity shed for purchased commodities.

In the parlor is a double-12 Boumatic with automatic takeoffs and an electronic identification system. Milking three times per day, milk is stored in two 6,000-gallon tanks and the corporation owns its own truck and tanker and haul their own milk daily.

Harmony Farm

Harmony Farm is a 340-acre family farm owned by Frank and Barbara Covey. They have a total of about 300 animals with a milking herd of 140 registered Holsteins, black and red.

The four-year average herd production has been 24,000 pounds of milk, 4 percent fat and 3.3 percent protein. Milked in a double-eight parlor with automatic detachers, the cows are kept in a freestall barn and fed a TMR made with home grown forages and commodities. Crops are devoted to corn and alfalfa rotations.

Currently in the herd is the highest milking cow in Maryland, Alex Biddy 2E90, with a lifetime total of 293,820 pounds. Over the years, Harmony has developed 26 cows with more than 200,000 pounds of milk production recorded.

According to the Coveys, some of the red and white Holstein are among the high producers. One, Venus-red E90, made more than 30,000 pounds on a first lactation. She currently has four ET daughters.

Pintail Point Farm

Pintail Point Farm is a diverse farming operation.

In addition to its dairy and Holstein breeding operation, the farm owners have taken advantage of its resources to develop other businesses, such as aquaculture, fly fishing, a sporting clay course and a five-stand shooting range.

Those participating on the tour will have time, if desired, to partake of the recreational shooting sport opportunities, at their own cost.

The cost to shoot at the five-stand range is $8 per person for 25 targets. The range requires 30 minutes to complete. A box of shells is $6.50 (25 each box), and gun rental is $10 (tour participants can share a rented gun) though those with their own guns may bring them along on the bus, as long as they are stored in a case.

The sporting clay course cost $15 per person for 50 targets and requires 1.5 hours to complete. Again, guns can be rented and shells purchased.

The dairy business at Pintail Point Farm was established in 1984 and currently has 85 milking registered Holsteins in a tie-stall barn. The rolling herd average production is 22,000 pounds milk, 846 pounds fat, and 701 pounds protein. The herd BAA is 105 and includes seven Excellents, 24 Very Goods, and 22 Good Plus.

Farmers To Discuss New Market Exploration

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.)—Farmers looking for a new opportunity to retail their products this season are invited to attend an exploratory meeting about a new farmers' market in Coatesville.

The exploratory meeting will take place Wednesday, March 6, 1996, at 7 p.m. in the City Hall community room in Coatesville.

The meeting is sponsored by the Coatesville Area Partners for Progress (CAPP) and co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Associaiton for Sustainable Agriculture (PASA).

Selling fresh produce and other farm products directly to consumers is not new to the Coatesville region. West Chester borough, a neighboring community to Coatesville, started a growers-only produce market in 1995. The market was an immediate success and the farmers and the townspeople are looking forward to another successful year in 1996.

This meeting will help set the direction of such a market. Farmers who raise fruits, vegetables, herbs, eggs, plants, honey, maple syrup or most any other shelf-stable farm product for sale to consumers should attend. They will hear a brief overview of the opportunity, and have ample time to discuss choices and voice preferences. Details such as potential sites, rules, products, and sales time will be covered.

According to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, there are about 100 farmers' markets of various types in communities across the state. Some are seasonal, outdoor markets made up primarily of farmers. Others are indoor, operation year round with a mix of vendors who are both farmers and resellers. Both seek to make it easier for consumers and local farmers and resellers. Both seek to make it easier for consumers and local farmers to get together. The focus of this effort will be the seasonal, outdoor farmers' market.

MMI, Dairylea To Provide Educational Seminars

RONALD PEARCE
Administrator
F.O.2, N.Y. 126, N.J. 57-3

ALBANY, N.Y. — Dairylea Cooperative Inc. and Milk Marketing Inc. have announced their 1996 schedule of educational outreach seminars for Federal Order 2 producers.

As recipients of cooperative payments, both cooperatives are legally responsible for providing a variety of services for the benefit of all dairy producers in F.O.2, not just cooperative members.

This includes conducting an annual milk marketing education program for both cooperative and noncooperative producers.

This year's seminars are to be conducted slightly differently than in past years with with Dairylea and MMI individually holding a series of meetings.

Dairlea has opened their regional spring membership meetings to any and all F.O.2 people interested. Topics to be discussed by Dairylea personnel include federal order issues; the 1996 Farm Bill; international market opportunities for dairy; milk pricing and other northeast industry issues.

Separately, MMI is to conduct two educational meetings in Pennsylvania and two in New York which also are open to any and all F.O.2 producers.

Dairy marketing specialists from Cornell University and Penn State University, the executive director of the Northeast Council of Farmer Cooperatives, and MMI personnel are to address the Farm Bill, what dairy programs may look like after the Farm Bill goes into effect, what producers can do to help prepare for policy changes; fluid milk futures; and other topics affecting the Northeast dairy industry.

Lehigh Board Accepts Applications

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.)—The Lehigh County Agricultural Land Preservation Board will hold an information meeting for Lehigh County farmland owners with an interest in the Lehigh County Agricultural Conservation Easement Program on Wednesday, March 6, at the Lehigh County Agricultural Center.

The information meeting will start at 7 p.m. and run for one hour.

The Agricultural Conservation Easement Program permanently protects Lehigh County farmland by purchasing the development rights from farmland owners and legally restricting future nonagricultural development on farm properties.

Thoughs of Spring and the Future

As a longtime dairyman myself, I know that a winter like this past one, coupled with poor milk prices, can really make you pessimistic about the future.

However, just when things look bleak, along comes spring. (I hope you are not reading this column during a March snowstorm!)

Farmers get rejuvenated each year when spring arrives and the farming way of life looks bright again.

Now it is nice to smell the flowers and watch the grass grow in April and May, but to realize a successful and profitable year, a farmer must make plans and take action.

No, I'm not going to use that catch phrase, "Get more efficient if you want to succeed." It is a true statement, but as a farmer I got tired of hearing it every year from experts who had never farmed.

When you are working at least 12 hours per day, what more can you do? Agriculture must have been the first industry to adopt "downsizing" — more work with fewer people.

The key is to get your priorities right — and I include family and spiritual priorities along with business needs. Here are just a few thoughts on how to make 1996 a good year for you, your family, and your employees.

1. Be ready when the bell rings. Is your machinery ready to go when the sun shines? Are your pasture fences in good repair when the grass begins to grow?

2. Watch your cows' production. Too many dairy producers wait too long to make corrections to their dairy ration. Do you monitor dry matter intake weekly or twice per month? Do you forage test regularly?

3. Plan your breeding program. The cow you breed today will produce the herd you will be milking in the year 2000 — now there's food for thought! Do you select the bull you want as part of a planned breeding program? Genetic improvement is not an exact science, but planned matings can produce some satisfying results.

4. Prevent health problems rather than attempting to cure the sick animal. Do you have regular herd checks scheduled with your veterinarian? Are your animals feet trimmed and cared for regularly? Just think how much less work you would accomplish if your feet hurt all the time.

5. Communicate with your workforce — and that includes your wife, children, and other relatives as well as hired employees.

Do you let everyone know what you have planned for workload for the week or month?

Do you listen to ideas from your crew and actually implement the good ones?

Do you throughly explain how you want a job done to prevent confusion?

Do you give family and employees responsibility for certain jobs and the freedom to accomplish them within your guidelines as they see fit?

There are many more priorities that you may be implementing, but the preceding points are a good start.

Is there a future for dairy farming in Chester County? Being an eternal optimist, my answer is "Yes."

A little increase in the milk price would help. Also, an overhaul of the real estate tax system would be a big boost.

That item is being addressed this year with new values being developed under Act 319 and maybe, just maybe, some tax reform coming out of Harrisburg.

Family farms will continue mainly for the reason that they are family — people are dedicated to not only a way of life, but a profitable business.

So, when spring breaks, smell the flowers while you continue to focus on the priorities for your farm.

Chester County To Tour Centre

CHESTER (Chester Co.) — The Chester County Holstein Club has recently announced that the destination of its annual tour is Centre County.

According to a news release, the tour is scheduled for March 14. The cost per person is $15 and reservations should be made by March 7.

To make reservations call Duane Hershey at (610) 593-5998.

The event has been well attended in past years and this year should not be an exception, with seats available on a first-reserve basis.

As far as meal responsibility, the tour fee inlcudes an evening meal, though participants are expected to bring along a bag lunch.

The tour group is to meet at Rodney Bare's farm, located along Swan Road. The bus is to depart for Centre County promptly at 6:45 a.m.

The anticipated time of return is between 9 p.m. and 10 p.m..

The farms to be visited include Evergreen Farm, owned by Wayne and Marjorie Harpster. There farm had been featured in Lancaster Farming as work on the facility was nearing completion. At the time it was believed the largest milking dairy herd in the state, though Mason-Dixon Farm is believed to have surpassed the number of milk cows at a single facility.

Located near Rockspring, the site of the annual Penn State Ag Progress Days event, the Harpsters milk 1,550 cows in a double-40 quick release parlor, and use a water flush system to clean the parlor and the large free-stalls. The herd milk production average is about 23,000 pounds.

Ideal Holsteins, owned by Jake and Sally Tanis has been featured in past issues of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's magazine Profiles.

The Tanises have frequently shown Holsteins and milk 100 cows with a herd average milk production of 27,471 pounds milk. Their herd BAA is 109.5 and they have also received the association's PBR Award.

Also on the itinerary is a visit of Guided Path farm, owned by Dan and Penny Ulmer, who milk 80 cows and have a herd average of 25,100 pounds of milk, with a BAA of 105.5, an a Very Good 87 Aerostar with +74 pounds protein.

Mammoth Spring Farm, owned by Paul Hartle, keeps a herd of 70 milking cows with an average production of 22,888 pound herd average, and a BAA of 105. The main cow family has produced five generations of animals that classified Excellent. Three generations are still in the herd.

Pen-Del Farms, owned by Jay and Mary Houser, is also on the trip list. Houser, recently elected president of the state Holstein Association, and Mary have a herd of 75 milking cows with a milk production average of 24,900 pounds, a BAA of 107.9, and have an Excellent 93-point Chief Mark daughter. The herd is high in type.

Lancaster Heads

The herd consists of several top flush cows with the rest of the herd used as recipients.

Cow families developed in the herd include:

Hilltop-Hanover B Dash-ET, 3E93, Gold Medal Dam (GMD) and Dam of Merit (DOM), a fourth generation Excellent with an Excellent daughter and other daughters in the herd;

Woodbine-K Rotate Estella-ET, 2E90, GMD, DOM, a Rotate daughter out of Northcroft Ella Elevation (4E97);

Paulo-Bro Curious Caitlin-ET, a VG, with a CTPI of +1,364.

Caitlin was purchased as a heifer at the 1994 Sire Power sale. She has an Elton son in artificial insemination and has produced 36 good embryos this winter for several contracts.

Milking Parlor Seminar Set

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.)—Is a remodeled or new milking center on your goal list for the foreseeable future? If so, you should plan to attend a Milking Parlor Seminar sponsored by Franklin County Cooperative Extension on March 14.

The seminar will be held from 9:45 a.m.-12:15 p.m. at the Franklin County Administration Annex Community Room, 218 North Second Street, Chambersburg.

Program participants will be Penn State Agricultural Engineers Robert Graves and Dan McFarland. Topics covered will be milking center layout, performance, and designing for operator/animal comfort and convenience.

Ample time will be allowed for discussion. Preregistration is not required.

For more information, contact extension dairy agent Philip Wagner at (717) 263-9226.

MMI Sponsors Conference

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Milk Marketing Inc. is sponsoring the 1996 Northeastern Dairy Conference to be held March 24-26 at the Sheraton Hotel-Station Square, in Pittsburgh.

Reservations need to be made by March 4.

The conference theme is, "Strategically Planning for the Future of the Dairy Industry."

Those wishing hotel reservations should call the Sheraton-State Square no later than March 4. Mention that the reservation is being made in connection with the Northeastern Dairy Conference.

The cost of the conference is $85 per person. Six or more people attending from one organization can enjoy a reduced rate of $80 per person.

Registration fee on the day of the conference is $95 per person.

For those flying into Pittsburgh, a shuttle service for a one-way, 17-mile trip to the hotel is available for $12, for a round trip, $20. Ask the attendant at the airline transportation desk for help, or call (412) 471-8900.

The conference starts 4:30 p.m. March 24 with registration until 7:30 p.m. A wine and cheese reception is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Monday starts with a breakfast buffet and registration from 6:15 a.m. to 8:45 a.m., followed by a welcome address by Herman Brubaker, chairman and president of MMI, at 9 a.m. and an introduction of Charles Brosius, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture, who is to then give the keynote address.

Planned to followed is a yet-to-be announced speaker(s) on positioning the dairy industry for the future under deregulation, from cooperative and processor perspectives.

At 11:30 a.m., lunch is to be accompanied by an update on dairy legislation by Bill Perry, MMI.

At 1:15 p.m., Myron McKinley, a market administrator, is to talk about perspectives of national federal milk marketing order.

Bob Dever, CEO for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, and Gary Latta, with Crowley Foods Inc. and a speaker to be announced are to provide a panel-forum discussion on federal order issues and merger activities.

At 3:05 p.m., Tom Suber, with the U.S. Dairy Export Council, and a speaker to be announced, are to discuss milk promotion and an update on activities within the United States and internationally.

A business meeting is scheduled for 4:45 p.m., with dinner being the responsibility of each individual.

A breakfast buffet starts Tuesday from 6 a.m. to 7:45 a.m., followed by a discussion on dairy export opportunities at 8 a.m.

Jamie Zimmerman, with Dairylea Cooperative, is to discuss future contracts, Dana Rudgers, a dairy producer, and processor not yet named are to discuss how to use future contracts.

The conference is to end at 11:30 a.m.

36TH PENNSYLVANIA YOUNG FARMERS CONVENTION

PYFA delegates elected officers for 1996 and voted in favor of hosting the 1999 NYFEI (National Young Farmers Education Institute).

Pennsylvania hosted the 1969 National Institute in Lancaster, and in 1981 was held in Hershey, when we welcomed 1,200 members and wives from 27 states.

They came to see our beautiful state. We took tours, they sample our Dutch cooking, listen to our entertainment, and attend excellent work seminars.

The executive committee will be selecting a site and budget committee very shortly. At the 1997 winter convention, in Gettysburg, the delegates will select the chairman. If you have any interest in servicing as chairman or on any of the committees, contact the state president.

It was also voted in favor of having a fund raiser committee to keep from raising the dues. Larry Wilkinson from Gettysburg, a past president, will serve for 1996 as chairman. This fund will be used to pay the education coordinator position and other outstanding debts. A live auction was held at the convention, which will go into this fund. We raised $1,550 from items donated from YF chapters, members, and agribusiness. We want to thank you for donating these items.

FARM FORUM

Editor,

I read with interest your article, "Hatfield Announces Payment Changes." Was it out of the goodness of Hatfield's heart, that they decided to pay producers what they were earning? Are they acknowledging that this was a discount system?

What precipitated such a change of heart? Could it have been from some producers marketing large numbers of hogs outside the area?

In talking to Hatfield's procurement people, they acknowledge that hogs from outside (Ohio-Carolinas) cost $5-7 more, per head, once they are hung on the line. This tells me Hatfield believes, my hogs are worth less than hogs from other areas. Add this amount ($5-7) to your bottom line and some of us exporters (out of state marketers) will maybe start selling hogs to Hatfield again.

Editor,

Dear Folks,

Thanks so much for your wonderful paper. It sure has a lot in it and I realize that is a real challenge for a weekly paper. My husband reads a lot of it. I love your articles on the people and families. So nice and refreshing. So upbeat and positive. I get tired of news media and their negative reporting. So many good hard working families out there. I also enjoy recipes.

I am a Lancaster County girl transplanted to Perry County.

Keep up the good work!

Bradford County Holstein Club Elects Directors, Plans Events

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

WYSOX (Bradford Co.) — Two weeks after the swelling Susquehanna River and what is now known as the flood of 1996 washed out meeting plans for the Bradford County Holstein Club, members came out in full force to elect new directors and learn about upcoming events.

High on the agenda was the election of new directors. Joining Al Calkins, Jeff Jenkins, Duane Wilcox, Dick Packard, Tom Wright and Ray Norconk on the board are re-elected directors Dean Jackson and Bonnie Miller, and newly elected director Keith Thomson.

Paul Sheeley, was thanked for his years of service as a director as he went off the board.

Planned activities in the coming months include a winter forum meeting in Wysox, a county tour to and a club sponsored tour to Canada.

The winter-forum-type meeting would give area producers a chance to meet with Holstein officials locally on March 7th.

"It's a good opportunity to learn what Holstein USA can do for you," said director Dean Jackson.

On March 16, the club has scheduled an in-county tour at the farms of Clair Thrush and Bob Whipple. A visit to a third farm is also planned, but details were unavailable at the meeting.

A two-day tour to Canada has also been planned by club member Sandra Crawford with cooperation from Semex. The trip, set for March 28 and 29, includes stops in Guelph, Woodbridge, and Stratford.

On Tuesday, March 28, the tour begins with a stop at the National Convention Classic, Brubachers Sales Arena in Guelph, Ontario, followed by a stop at United Breeders, Inc., also in Guelph.

In the afternoon, tour stops are planned at Quality Farm, Fieldhouse Farms and Sunny Maple Farm.

Friday will be spent at the Ontario Spring Show. Following the crowning of the grand champion, the tour group will depart for home.

The tour is open to the public. Reservations and a $30 deposit are due by March 9th to Sandy Crawford, RR2 Box 195, Rome, PA 18837. Checks should be made payable to the Bradford County Holstein Club. For more information, contact Mrs. Crawford at (717) 395-3447.

In other business, Marilyn Packard highlighted the achievements of the junior members. Noting that everyone should be proud of their accomplishments, Packard handed out awards for the county's milk,

Lebanon Holstein To Visit Berks

Chester, Lancaster and Lebanon county Holstein clubs have all set their annual farm tours to be held March 14. Deadlines are very soon.

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — The Lebanon County Holstein Club's annual farm tour is set for March 14 and is to visit four farms in neighboring Berks County.

Deadline for reservations is March 8. The cost of the tour is $12 and includes a complimentary family style meal courtesy of Star Silo in Myerstown.

Anyone who consigned an animal to the county sale will be given one ticket at half price.

To make reservations, call Dale Himmelberger at (717) 867-2725.

The tour is to depart D.B. Fisher Bus Service, located at 1715 Grace Avenue, promptly at 8 a.m. The estimated time of return is between 4:30 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Of the farms to be visited is S-Pine-Lawn Holsteins, owned by D.J.S.T. Shulek. The farm has 120 cow milking herd with a rolling herd average of 24,500 pounds of milk, a BAA of 106.9, a tiel stall barn, and new heifer and new pre-weaned calf facilities.

Also to be visited is Vista Grande Farm, owned by David and Phoebe Bitler. The recipient of a 1995 Master Farmer Award, the well-known couple has been involved in Holstein Association activities for several years. They have a 90-cow milking herd, a rolling herd average of 22,805 pounds, a BAA of 106.9, tiel stall barn and a new dry cow, springer and beef barn.

Daview Farm, owned by Luther and Teresa Davis, is also on the list of farms to visit. The Davises have a 65-cow milking string with a RHA of 23,200 pounds milk, a BAA of 105, tunnel ventilation in a tie-stall barn and they feed a totally mixed ration.

On Junge'-Farms, managed by Ray Moyer, is a 90-cow operation with a RHA of 26,000 pounds milk, and a BAA of 106.4. Moyer uses a comfort stall barn and utilizes an automatic grain feeder with a TMR.

In other business, the club also announced that consignments are being accepted by Kirby Horst or Dale Maulfair for the county Spring Promise Calf Sale, set to be held April 9 at the Lebanon County Fairgrounds. Commissions are to be 10 percent or less.

Junior members were also recognized for their participation in the Pennsylvania State Junior Distinguished Member Contest. Jody Crawford, Jamie Crawford entered in the junior division, Joshua Ford entered in the intermediate division and Amy Packard in the senior division.

Also recognized were the members who showed at the local, district and state shows.

Banquet speaker Dieter Krieg, editor of Farmshine, concluded the meeting with tales of his visit to Germany, the land of his birth.

"There are profound changes taking place in what used to be my homeland," he said. "I hadn't been there in 37 years. When I went back it's like time stood still."

Krieg related tales of huge farms with 800-8000 animals with average production of only 5,000 pounds of milk per cow in what was East Germany. By contrast, the animals in the former West Germany are comparable to cows in the United States both in production and conformation.

Krieg drove home the point by noting that the United States is still the land of opportunity for those willing to accept responsibility and work hard.

"We are very blessed to live in this country where the rights and the dignity of the human being are still respected," he said.

New Pesticide Regulations In Effect

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—With thoughts of spring in many people's minds, Agricultural Secretary Charles C. Brosius today reminded individuals who apply pesticides around schools, pools and day-care centers that there are new regulations in effect in Pennsylvania.

"Employees and owners of these facilities who apply over-the-counter pesticides must now be certified by the state Agriculture Department before using these products," Brosius said.

The new rules, which went into effect on Dec. 20, were adopted to ensure that chemical products used at these sites are being handled by individuals who have passed competency examinations and know how to use them in a safe manner for the protection of the public at these facilities.

"The department is actively seeking compliance through an aggressive outreach educational effort," Brosius said.

Compliance information has been mailed to all 8,200 schools and day-care centers registered in the Commonwealth. Individuals who apply pesticides on public or private school property or day-care centers must be certified as a pesticide applicator. This rule includes the application of any over-the-counter pesticide products, except for disinfectants or sanitizers.

Also, the owners of 4,000 swimming pools at hotels, motels and swin clubs have been notified of the new requirements. Individuals who use aglicides or bactericides, such as chlorine or bromine in swimming pools, must become certified as a pesticide applicator. Homeowners who apply chemicals to their own private pools are excluded from this rule.

Individuals who need to become commercial or public pesticide applicators may obtain educational materials from Penn State University (PSU) and make arrangements to schedule an examination at the Agriculture Department. To request a pesticide education manual and study materials, individuals may contact PSU at 1-800-252-3592.

Additionally, the new regulations require commercial and public pesticide businesses to notify individuals on the Agriculture Department's pesticide hypersensitivity registry whenever a pesticide application is to be made within 500 feet of their listed location.

The registry is a list of people who have been verified by a physician to be excessively or abnormally sensitive to pesticides. By receiving prior notification of a pesticide application, the sensitive individual can take appropriate precautions.

For more information, fee schedules, hypersentivity applications or to schedule an exam, contact one of the Agriculture Department's regional offices.

January Milk $13.69

ALBANY, N.Y. — Dairy farmers who supplied regulated milk dealers (handlers) under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during January 1996 will be paid by handlers on the basis of a uniform price of $13.69 per hundredweight (29.4 cents per quart); the price for the corresponding month last year was $12.39 per hundredweight.

Market Administrator Ronald C. Pearce also stated that the price was $13.64 in December 1995. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

A total of 11,249 dairy farmers supplied handlers regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders with 1,075,886,908 pounds of milk during January 1996. This was an increase of 2.8 percent (about 28 million pounds) from last year.

The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $140,948,141.41. This included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not premiums, deductions authorized by the farmer, or assessments.

Regulated handlers used 426,959,536 pounds of milk for Class I, 42 percent of the total. This milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low test, and skim milks. For January 1996, handlers paid $15.29 per hundredweight (32.9 cents per quart) for Class I milk compared with $14.28 a year ago.

Handlers used 157,200,285 pounds of milk for Class II products, 15.5 percent of the total. Class II products include fluid cream, eggnog, ricotta and cottage cheeses, ice cream, and yogurt. Handlers paid $13.17 per hundredweight for this milk.

Milk used to manufacture Class III products including butter, cheese (other than ricotta and cottage cheeses), and whole milk powder totaled 396,347,669 pounds (39 percent of the total). Handlers paid $12.76 per hundredweight for this milk.

Milk used to manufacture nonfat dry milk (Class III-A) totaled 35,379,418 pounds (3.5 percent of the total). Handlers paid $11.19 per hundredweight for this milk.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat. For January 1996, there was a price differential of 6.6 cents for each one-tenth of one percent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

All prices quoted are for bulk tank milk received from farms in the 201- to 210-mile zone from New York City.

Pat Buser Covers Lots Of Ground

JOYCE BUPP
York County Correspondent

YORKANA (York Co.)—A blue flag with a large white dove flaps in the stiff wind whining around the trees that surround Pat Buser's tidy farmhouse.

The flag proclaim PEACE, an appropriate banner for the friendly and outgoing farm wife and partner at the Bill Buser family farm.

During winter's blustery weather, you might find her in the kitchen perparing a meal for the family farm crew or posting farm records on the computer. But for much of the year, Pat Buser is more likely to be busy in her outside office — the cab of her John Deere 4450 front-wheel-drive tractor.

Bill, Pat and their son Bob and his wife, Diane, farm more than 1,000 acres in eastern York County, in corn, wheat, soybeans and hay. Their son Rich and his wife Michele maintain a 3,200-head hog operation. Daughter Deb Leiphart and her family live on the farm as well.

The Busers are "people lovers" who go out of their way to help educate the public about agriculture and its importance. They often welcome children's farm tours, and were host site for the annual York Chamber of Commerce ag tour last November. Bill, who is president of the York County Farm Bureau, was a key organizer of the event, with its wagon tours around their farm and neighboring ones.

For their continuing leadership and public education endeavors, the Busers were recently honored as the York Chamber's Farm Family of the Year. And the Buser is truly a working partnership, with Pat handling an equal share of the field crops and marketing labor.

"I drive a lot of tractor," she chuckles, adding that plowing is her favorite of the numerous field tasks. "I love the smell of new, fresh ground; and you can really see what you've accomplished. We've always kept records of how the fields were plowed from year to year, from the center or from the side, to alternate plowing to keep them level. But now with chisel plows we don't need to do that."

Pat is equally at home working ground — although they do a lot of no-till planting — tedding and raking hay, and baling the 30,000 bales they often put up annually. One job she avoids is planting, due to a "lazy eye" condition which somewhat distorts her vision.

"I can't plant straight," she jokes. But her vision problems were no laughing matter when, as a child, she underwent three surgeries to correct the crossed eyes she had from birth. The hospital stays were the first of various clashes with medical crises which have impacted Pat Buser's life.

"We grew up poor," she says of her childhood years as the oldest of the 10 children of the Horace Heindel family. Their farm was just a short distance from the Buser family farm, where she and Bill began their married life. They began dairying there, with seven cows, then later moved to a rented farm near Zion's view.

"We rented over a hundred acres, a 50-cow dairy barn and a big house, for $200 a month," grins Pat. "Imagine doing that today." After about five years, Bill's father, William C. Buser, elected to retired from active farming. They constructed an 80-head tie stall barn on the Buser home farm and moved their dairy herd and growing family back to the neighborhood where both had been raised.

In March, 1981, bill was clearing brush with a tractor and front end loader. As he pushed at a large tree, the "Y" where the main truck split into branches caught in the loader and caused the tree to fall back onto Bill. He was critically injured, his stomach split, he pelvis fractured, and with severe internal bleeding.

Less healthy individuals might well have died under the same circumstances, Pat relates. But doctors told her that Bill's farming lifestyle and overall good health were assets that favored a recovery. But they predicted a seven-week hospital stay.

He was strapped into a striker frame, a device which sandwhiched his body between metal structures in order that he could be turned every two hours to help fluid forming on his lungs, and pneumonia. And for the first week, he had no food, only intravenous nourishment. Despite doctors' efforst, Bill still developed pneumonia.

Pat and the children, who were then of high school and junior high age, had always handle most of the milking chores while Bill did the feeding. The boys took over the feeding along with milking. Neighbors turned out to help with field work. Family and church friends supplied physical help, meals, prayers.

After a week, Bill persuaded his doctors to let him have some solid food. And then to let him try walking. And then to let him go home. In two weeks, they put the determiend farmer on crutches and discharged him. That spring. Bill Buser planted most of his own corn — despite the fact that he remained on crutches until that August.

"The Lord saved him," Pat firmly insists. She marks the crisis as a turning point in their lives.

"He was a workaholic who hadn't missed a milking in 20 years," Pat says of her husband's enforced lifestyle change. He has since become an agriculture advocate, activist, and effective "salesman" for agriculture.

Love of agriculture even carries over into one of Pat's hobbies, collecting the blue-overall-garbed Denim Days figurines.

With a family of green machinery enthusiasts, Pat Buser keeps a John Deere mailbox outside their front step for holding notes from visitors.

Pat underwent her own enforced, temporary lifestyle change after an accident in July 1994. Their crops marketing program includes almost daily sales of truckloads of hay and straw, both through area auctions and private sales. Pat, with their son Bob in the passenger seat, was hauling a load of about 250 bales of hay on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for delivery to a New Jersey customer, when two tires blew on the truck. She was able to maneuver the truck away from other traffic, but it rolled over.

Pat spent the next week in the hospital, with a concussion, a broken collarbone and the extremely painful injury of a torn rotator cuff in her right shoulder. As determined as Bill had been to get back to farming, Pat faithfully spent several months in therapy to regain full use of her arm. Within weeks after the accident, she was back on the tractor — steering one-handed — long before she was supposed to be attempting such physical efforts.

"Sure we've seen some tragedy; it makes you a stronger person," affirms Pat of her faith and determination that have grown out of personal trials. The deaths of her mother in 1989, and the loss of an infant granddaughter in 1994 have further tested her inner strength.

"If you would know in life what you would have to face, I'm not sure any of us could cope. But it also makes a person more able to empathize with others who have problems," she believes.

As a way of "giving back," Pat serves as a volunteer listener with Contact York, helping to man the phones for callers enduring personal problems. A few months ago, she underwent eight weeks of training as a volunteer for the York Visiting Nurses' Association's Hospice program for terminal patients. The patient she has been assigned is a 94-year-old whose caregiver is her over-seventy daughter. Pat helps with grocery shopping, fixes some meals, and visits as a caring friend.

Part of that training was for the volunteers to get to know themselves, to look inward and think about life priorities and dealing with death.

"What a diverse group it was," Pat says of the class of a dozen volunteers. "It made you take a stand on how you feel about certain issues. Sometimes you found yourself standing alone. That's not easy. We learned to disagree without being disagreeable. And I had to really think about some things I never thought a whole lot about before."

Pat keeps track of her life, and that of the farm and family, by recording daily in a diary that she has kept for more than 40 years. She and Bill will be married 40 years in June and she began writing her diary soon after they started to date.

"Even if I get home at 2 a.m., I'll take time to write in it, at least to record what the weather was and what we did that day," Pat says.

In addition to being a family record for their children, like the 50-year diary kept by her father-in-law William C. Buser is for them, it once became a sort of law evidence. Years ago, a policeman came to their door accusing one of their sons of having been involved in some local vandalism. Pat offered her diary with a record of where the family had been that evening; the officer left without another word.

All three of their children and their families live on or close to the farm. When numerous friends pitched in some years ago to help build the log house which is home for Bob's family, the Busers began the tradition of a "feast," a combined thank-you and open-house event. About 300 relatives, friends and business associates generally turn out for the annual October gathering, bringing and array of covered dishes to complement the roast pork, beef, chicken and venison the Busers prepare.

"We just like people," says Pat of their enjoyment of doing things with groups of family and friends, like getting together to "put up" sweet corn or to butcher the family's meat supplies. Because they do enjoy such collective activities, Pat is helping plan an upcoming trip to Florida and Disney World by a group of more than 50 family members and friends.

She's hoping for better traveling weather than the couple encountered on their last attempted trip. Enroute to the American Farm Bureau annual meetin in Reno, Nevada, She and Bill were stranded at the Baltimore airport by January's blizzard. With both the airport and Pennsylvania's roads closed, they spent more than three days in an airport hotel — a hotel which did not even have a restaurant.

Though she has spent part of the winter doing some remodeling and painting to the kitchen, Pat Buser is already anticipating warmer, drier, weather a return to her familiar tractor seat. There's a lot of ground to cover, and much of it needs chisel-plowed ahead of planting.

"I generally get out on the tractor about eight in the morning and we may still be there at ten or eleven o'clock at night. We take lunches along and our daughter-in-law often makes supper and brings it out to the field," Pat relates. "Farming is so diverse. It changes from day to day, so you're not at any one job for very long."

But Pat Buser thoroughly enjoys its. In fact, if she wasn't piloting her John Deere around the fields of eastern York County, she would still elect to be in the driver's seat.

"My second choice of a career," she grins, "would be as a cross-country truck driver."

Tulpehocken FFA Attends Made For Excellence Seminar

Laura Phillips, Centerport; Leslie Nirschl, Mohrsville, and Christine Williams — instructor, Lebanon, of the Tulpehocken FFA Chapter attended the National FFA Organization's Made for Excellent (MFE) seminar in Camp Hill.

The two-day MFE personal development program helped students learn techniques for dealing with peer pressure on how to set and achieve goals. The conference also featured a self-discovery workshop designed to help members find their own success in life. This year's theme is "The Excellence Files — Top Secret."

MFE conferences, which began in 1987, will be held in 39 states during the 1995-1996 school year. Forty-nine conferences have been scheduled. More than 7,000 junior high and high school students are expected to attend.

"Made For Excellence is an exceptional opportunity for many FFA members to participate in a national conference without the expense of leaving their home state," said J. Frank Saldana, MFE program manager. "These conferences bring out the very best in the students who participate."

MFE program straff members are college students who are former state or national FFA officers. Many staff members have also worked as counselors for the Washington Leadership Conference, FFA's national leadership seminar held in Washington, D.C. each summer.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

It's one of those earthy fragrances that instinctively identifies itself. Not quite as pungent as well-aged stable manure hauled on a damp morning. Not quite as subtle as the odor of earthworms after a warm rain. Not soothing like a whiff of pine or the clean scent of moss-covered forest floor.

Our son labels it "gross." The Farmer jokingly calls it "ground" meat.

I prefer to consider it the fine fragrance of promise, thank you.

Admittedly, the distinctive aroma of sterilizing soil wafting out of the kitchen comes up short of that of chocolate cake or roasting chicken or a cheese-smothered pizza ready to exit the oven.

Purchased potting soil would eliminate sterilizing my own. But the manure and organic-matter rich soil available outside the back door — literally — is plentiful and free. In pre-microwave years, I would bake it for an hour or so in the oven, during which time the distinctive aroma of baking soil permeated the whole house, while weed seeds and disease-causing microorganism hopefully met their end.

A microwave oven makes the procedure much quicker. Then, the plastic-enclosed container of steaming soil is plunked immediately on the back porch to cool. Thus, the "gross" scent has little time to poke its way around the house.

This season's first batch of soil dutifully went from the microwave to the porch, where it was left sit overnight — and where the container promptly froze to the picnic table as the Arctic bombed us with a glacial air mass. One warm afternoon several days later finally thawed it out and set my fingers itching to plant something. Anything!

T'was but a few days until the first seedlings were poking through the ground, nudged by the gentle warmth utilized by placing the flat of damp potting soil on the hot-water heater in the basement. So much for fancy seed-starting equipment.

Since the greenhouse is kept at barely plant-maintenance temperatures during cold weather, the two-leafed babies were snuggled onto the west windowsill in the living room, to bask in warm, afternoon sunshine. The sun does still shine. And will more frequently soon. We promise.

Our first windowsill infants are of the Purple Coneflower genre, a perennial which is reputed to thrive in hot, dry places and bloom the summer long, once established. Purple coneflowers are similar to the bright yellow gloriosa daisies, except they are ... well, you know, purple. They're a plant I've wanted to try for several years and will be this year's annual, new-plant experiment.

And on his stop at the Agway store recently, The Farmer picked up my requested pack of Heinz #1370 tomato seeds. This is a canning tomato, which I stumbled across by accident a few years ago. It's medium-sized, solid, meaty yields nearly all ripen at the same time, mid-to-late August. So, I can "put up" our winter tomato needs within a week or two and not be still buried under baskets of ripe tomatoes when more important things — like silage harvest and the York Fair — are under way.

A few plants of Early Girl and Big Girl (sounds like a feminist plot), plum-shaped Enchantment (the first and last tomato picked from our garden last year - seeds available by catalog from Pinetree Garden Seeds, Box 300, New Gloucester, Maine 04260) and a couple of stalks of Long Keeper should keep us fresh-tomatoaddicts seeing red from June through early December. All for a couple dollars worth of seeds. Where else can you get a bargain like that?

Time to "gross" up the kitchen again with another batch of steaming soil.

There's a packet of Buttercrunch Lettuce seeds downstairs calling my name.

Ida's Notebook

by Ida Risser

Recently, I reread an aunt's 1904 diary to see what she did that winter on the farm. Mostly, I picked out differences between then and now. They baked their own bread and made 30 pounds of butter at a time. The upstairs was swept with a broom and after butchering hogs, they "fried up sausage." Now I'll admit that I too have "fried up meat" but then I canned it rather than covering it with lard in a crock.

One day the aunt and her mother "cut our aprons" and also cut up material for rag carpet. There were tradesmen who turned the rags into colorful floor coverings.

The men on the farm cut and hauled ice to the ice cellar. They stripped tobacco and then sold it for 7½ ¢ a pound.

Church was attended every Sunday and many funerals were noted in the diary. Time was also spent at a local lyceum or public lecture. There was a Literary Society in the community too. And, spelling bees brought neighborhoods together.

A new cook stove was ordered and housecleaning was started by cleaning the garret. Later in the spring they moved the kitchen to the summerhouse in order to keep the house cool. The garden was dug and manure put on before planting potatoes.

During this time, many uncles and aunts visited together with cousins. They not only came for meals but stayed overnight. And, when someone was ill, the relatives came to sit with the patient. They traveled by horse and carriage on muddy roads as that was the accepted method of transportation.

The lady who wrote this diary was 20 years old in 1904. Little did she know that she would live to be over 100 years old and see many changes not only in travel but in housekeeping methods too. Electricity brought many changes and made work easier, although, I would guess, they were as happy then as we are today.

Celebrate Nutrition Month

March is National Nutrition Month, a time set aside to recognize the important role that nutrition plays in a healthy lifestyle.

In America we have so many choices of food. Many are nutrient packed but they may also carry additional baggage of fat, sodium, and sugar. It's fine to eat foods with some of these — indeed, our bodies need some fat and sodium — but exactly where to draw the line often varies from individual to individual.

Some of the selections today are foods that include nutrients. Eaten alone, they won't have every vitamin, mineral, and nutrient your body needs. Remember, use the Food Guide Pyramid as a guideline to make sure you are eating the proper amount from all the food groups. This includes 6-11 servings per day of breads, cereals, rice and pasta; 2 to 3 servings of fruit; 3 to 4 servings of vegetables; 2 to 3 servings of milk, yogurt, and cheese; and 2 to 3 servings of meat, poultry, fish, dry beans, eggs, and nuts.

Spinach lasagna and a whole wheat roll offers a nutritient-packed meal.

CHEDDAR CHOWDER

2 cups water
2 cups diced potatoes
½ cup diced carrots
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup diced celery

White sauce:
¼ cup butter
¼ cup all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
2 cups cheddar cheese, shredded
1 cup cooked cubed ham

Combine water, potatoes, carrots, celery, onion, salt, and pepper in a large kettle. Boil 10-12 minutes. Meanwhile, in small saucepan, make white sauce by melting the butter. Add flour and stir until smooth (about 1 minute). Slowly add milk; cook until thickened. Add shredded cheese to white sauce; stir until melted. Add white sauce and cubed ham to vegetables that have not been drained. Heat through.

SPINACH LASAGNA

3 10-ounce packages frozen chopped spinach
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 medium onions, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
8-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
3 15-ounce can tomato juice
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon basil
1 tablespoon oregano leaves
¾ pound lasagna noodles
2 pounds lowfat cottage cheese
¼ cup parmesan cheese
6 ounces mozarrella cheese, shredded

Cook spinach until tender. Drain well. In another saucepan, heat oil and saute onion, garlic, and mushrooms until tender. Add the tomato sauce, salt, basil, and oregano, and simmer 5-10 minutes. Cook the lasagna noodles for 10 minutes in 3 quarts boiling, salted water. Blend cottage cheese until smooht and combine with Parmesan cheese. To assemble, layer the ingredients in a 15x2-inch pan. Make the first layer using ⅓ of the noodles, half of spinach, half of cottage cheese misture, ⅓ of the sauce and ⅓ of the mozzarella cheese. Repeat for second layer. Top with remaining noodles, sauce and mozzarella cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 mintues.

FAT FREE CREAMY CHERRY CHEESECAKE

8 large fat-free graham crackers
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons fat-free egg substitute

Filling:
15-ounces non-fat ricotta cheese
12-ounces non-fat cream cheese
½ cup fat-free egg substitute
⅓ cup unbleached flour
¾ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Topping:
1½ cups canned light cherry pie filling

Place crackers in food processors and process to fine crumbs. Measure crumbs (1¼ cups) and return to processor.

Add egg substitute and sugar and process until the mixture is moist and crumbly.

Press into springform pan, sprayed with nonstick cooking spray.

Bake crust at 350 degrees for 8 minutes or until edges feel firm and dry. Cool to room temperature.

Place all filling ingredients in food processor and process until smooth. Pour the filling into crust, return to oven reduced to 325 degrees for 55 minutes or until the center feels firm.

Turn off oven, open oven door slightly, let cool in oven for one hour (top may be slightly cracked). Spread the pie filling over the top of the cooled cake to ¾ -inch of the edges. Refrigerate overnight, cut into wedges and serve.

SPANISH RICE SOUP

5½ cups water
12-ounce can tomato juice
⅔ cup uncooked brown rice
2 cups chopped celery
2 large carrots, sliced
1 large onion, chopped
½ red bell pepper, diced
½ green bell pepper, diced
3 pound can tomatoes
4-ounce can mild green chiles, chopped
1 teaspoon ground cumin or to taste
1 teaspoon chili powder or to taste

In a 5 or 6 quart pot, bring water, tomato juice, rice, celery, carrots, onion, and garlic to a boil. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Check occasionally to make sure there is enough liquid. Add more water as needed since rice absorbs liquid as it cooks. Add remaining ingredients and simmer 25 minutes or more.

In the southern end of Lancaster County, about 20 members of the Lancaster County Society of Farm Women #22 have accomplished an amazing feat. They have published three cookbooks, one which has had 14 printings.

Profits from the cookbooks have helped many needy causes in the community and even abroad. Look for the article, which will appear in next week's issue of Lancaster Farming, about Society 22 and the three cookbooks.

All three cookbooks remain in print and are for sale. Society members are holding an overstock sale — $7 each or a set of three for $20, which includes postage and handling.

For cookbooks, send a check made out to Society of Farm Women #22 and send to Mrs. Paul A. Witmer, 447 North George St., Millersville, PA 17551. Please specify which cookbook you are ordering or if you want all three. Make sure you include your name and complete address.

Communicating About Money

Recently a free-lance writer asked me what newly-wed couples should consider when setting up housekeeping. When I probed a little further to see what exactly she was requesting, I was surprised and appalled to find out that she wanted to know how many sets of sheets they might need, etc. My comment was that before a couple worries about how many sets of sheets or towels they need, each person coming to this union needs to set down and discuss finances — really communicate about where each is coming from in terms of their spending habits, debt load, etc.

Many times a person takes the situation he/she grew up in for granted. They assume the values and beliefs their family had are "natural" or "correct," leading them to believe all families live that way. When two people enter a relationship, they bring with them the values, beliefs, traditions and habits they learned growing up. Their families may have similar principles, but often they will be different. Becoming familiar with each other's past family experiences will be helpful in understanding your spouse's feelings and actions.

Each of us considers some things more desirable or important than others. These are our values. The targets toward which we direct our lives — our personal goals — grow out of our values and dictate what we strive for.

Managing money for a household with two or more members will be smoother if everyone has a part in identifying needs and goals. Decide together what is important for each family member and for the family as a group. In what direction do you wish to move? Think and talk about your present needs and wants, and your hopes and dreams for the future — both personal and mutual — until you can identify your most important goals. Do this often, because goals change.

Your financial values and goals may differ from those of your spouse. Talking together and sharing ideas gives everyone insight into each other's values. Begin by each of you answering the following questions. Then get together to discuss the answers. There are no right or wrong answers. Your responses are meant to lead you to setting goals as a family.

- What are your money worries? What do you think might happen?
- What money topic often starts an argument?
- If you had to cut spending, how could you do it? How much of a reduction can you make?
- If you suddenly had $10,000, what would you do?

- What was the poorest choice(s) you've ever made with money? Why:
- How has your attitude about money changes? From childhood? In the last three to five years?

- What item(s) does it bother you the most to spend money on?
- How do you think you spend money? (a) Too stingily; (b) Too freely; (c) About right.

- What do you really like to spend money on?
- What is important for you to save money for?

- How do you make spending decisions?
- What steps could you take to make better decisions?

Sitting down and discussing these questions as well as others you think of, is the most important steps you can take as a newly-wed couple or even as a couple that's been wed for many years. Communicating openly and honestly about money and one's values will provide for a lasting relationship — long after those sets of sheets have worn out!!

Somerset County Offers $1,000 Scholarship

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.)—The Somerset County Dairy Princess Coronation Committee is currently seeking young ladies interested in competing for the title of Somerset County Dairy Princess. The following are some of the qualifications for Dairy Princess contestants:

- Must be at least 16 years of age by July 1, 1996 and under age 24 until December 31, 1996.
- Must have parental consent if under age 18.
- Must be single, never married, and no children.
- Resident of Pennsylvania.
- Owner of at least two dairy animals or,
- Served as a Dairy Maid for at least one year or,
- Daughter of someone in the dairy industry or related industry, or daughter of an employer who works in a dairy related industry.

For anyone interested in participating in the contest, an informative tea will be held at the home of Amy Paul, the reigning Somerset County Dairy Princess, beginning at 2:00 p.m. on March 30. The Dairy Princess Pageant will be held at the Somerset Area High School on May 18 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

This year, the Dairy Princess will receive a $1,000 scholarship sponsored by many businesses throughout the community. Upon winning the county title, she will travel to Harrisburg and compete for the title of Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess along with other prizes.

Girls interested in becoming Dairy Maids are also needed. These young ladies must possess the following qualities:

- Between ages 13-16.
- Must have a strong desire to be a Dairy maid, and be a genuine milk drinker.
- Must also have ties to the dairy industry.

The Dairy Maid works within the county, and assists the Dairy Princess with her various promotions. She is a member of the overall dairy promotion team, and this experience may serve as a training course for future participants in the Dairy Princess Pageant. If you are interested in being a Dairy Princess Contestant or being a Dairy Maid, please contact Angie Shober at 267-3624 by March 10.

Children between ages 3-6 are needed to serve as Dairy Misses and Escorts during the Dairy Princess Contest. For more information contact Stephanie Singo at (814) 443-2841 or (814) 445-5409 by April 1.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, and cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Jean Nestler, Halifax, would like a recipe similar to Kraft's Dipping Sweet 'N Sour Sauce.

QUESTION — Freda McCune, Fishersville, Va., would like sugar-free foods for diabetics.

QUESTION — Jean Wilcox would like a recipe for making homemade polish kielbasie made from fresh pork with mustard seeds.

QUESTION — Alton Dickinson, Bethlehem, would like a recipe for Italian bread or rolls that is hand mixed and kneaded making 4-6 loaves.

QUESTION — Rachel Zook, Willow Street, wants a recipe for honey mustard sauce that is good on soft pretzels.

QUESTION — Catherine Shearer, Greencastle, would like a recipe to make a pork roll.

QUESTION — A Kinzers reader would like a recipe for whole head sauerkraut. After it is fermented, one leaf is peeled off at a time whenever needed.

QUESTION — Donald Love, Somerset, would like recipes for a coffee cake, which uses black coffee as an ingredient but is not a crumb breakfast type coffeecake. He also wants a recipe for coffee ice cream.

QUESTION — Donald Love, Somerset, would like a recipe for zucchini relish that tastes a lot like Heinz sweet pickle relish and a recipe for bar-b-que sauce that has both a tangy and hickory flavor and is mildly spicy hot. It tastes similar to the Cattleman Brand Sauce used in restaurants.

QUESTION — Marie Tschudin, Littlestown, would like an old recipe for graham cracker cake, which she suspects may be known by 80-90-year-olds.

QUESTION — Beulah Davis, East Fallowfield, would like a recipe for New England Clam Chowder that tastes like that served at Yoder's Restaurant in New Holland.

QUESTION — Mrs. David Fisher, Lewistown, would like a recipe to make a chocolate mix such as Nestles' Quik.

QUESTION — Lizzie Sensenig, Mifflinburg, would like a recipe for Magic Shell Chocolate Syrup, which gets hard when poured on ice cream.

QUESTION — Susie Snyder, Fairfield, is looking for a cookie recipe called Cherry Winks, which is made with cream cheese and rolled in nuts and a cherry pressed in the center.

QUESTION — Tina Forry, Palmyra, would like a recipe to make taco seasoning.

QUESTION — Lisa Collura, Holtwood, would like a recipe to make angel cream doughnuts.

QUESTION — Joanne Trombley would like a recipe for cranberry claret wine jelly, port wine jelly, and rose wine jelly. Her grandmother made these wine jellies many years ago; unfortunately, her recipes died with her in 1976, before Joanne was old enough to ask for the recipes. Please included detailed directions because Joanne has never made jelly.

QUESTION — Linda Ludwig, Reading, would like recipes for blueberry and cinnamon raisin bagels, and an apple tart with syrup topping like those sold by Ruppert's Bakery at the Leesport Auction years ago.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, would like recipes for a cheesecake made with a layer of caramel then baked with a layer of spicy apples on top; and an ice ball rolled in coconut and flavored with rum.

QUESTION — Anna Schrader, Townsend, Del., would like a recipe for making jelly from canned juice. The can says it is 100 percent grape juice, but Anna said that it tastes sweet to her and does not appear deep purple like juice made from the grapes she picks from the vine.

QUESTION — Gladys Lillya, Salem, N.J., would like a recipe for Amish Old-Fashioned Puffy Sugar Cakes, which are sold at Good & Plenty Restaurant, Lancaster.

ANSWER — Kathy Messina wanted a recipe for a Pillsbury bake off winner called Orange Kiss-Me Cake. Thanks to Kathy Suder, Meyersdale; Joan Yarnall, Gilbertsville; Nellie Rice, Frederick, Md., Grace Shetter, Alburtis, and many more for sending recipes for this cake that won a $25,000 grand prize.

Orange Kiss-Me Cake

Ground nuts, raisins, and orange go into this Quick-Mix cake with easy orange juice and cinnamon-sugar topping. Cakes stays moist for days.

Squeeze: 1 large orange. Reserve juice
Grind pulp and rind of orange together with 1 cup seedless raisins and
⅓ cup walnuts, using coarse bland of food chopper
Sift together in large mixing bowl:
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
Add:
½ cup shortening
¾ cup milk
Beat 1½ minutes with mixer use a low speed.
Add:
2 unbeaten eggs and
¼ cup milk
Beat 1½ minutes.

Fold orange-raisin mixture into batter. Turn into 12x8x2-inch pan, well greased and lightly floured on the bottom.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes. Drip ⅓ cup orange juice over warm cake. Sprinkle with mixture of:
⅓ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup walnuts, chopped

ANSWER — Tina Forry, Palmyra, wanted a recipe for orange pudding, which contains mandarin oranges, vanilla pudding, and orange Jell-O. Thanks to Mildred Wenger, Stevens; M. Zimmerman, an Ephrata reader, and others for sending recipes.

Orange Pudding

1 small box vanilla pudding mix (to cook, not instant)
1 small box orange gelatin
1¾ cups boiling water
1 cup whipped topping
1 can mandarin oranges

Mix the gelaine dessert and the pudding mix in a kettle. Add the water. Stir until smooth. Heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Allow to cool. Fold in whipped topping and the mandarin oranges, drained, and cut up.

This is a non-fail dessert. It can be made with sugar-free Jell-O and sugar-free pudding mix. Also can be made with other flavors of Jell-O and fruits to match.

Orange Delight

1 small package pineapple Jell-O
1 small package orange Jell-O
1½ cups boiling water
6-ounces frozen orange juice, stir until dissolved
20-ounces pineapple juice
3-ounces mandarin oranges and juice

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Stir in remaining ingredients and chill until set.

Topping:
1 package Dream Whip
1 package instant vanilla pudding

Prepare both Dream Whip and pudding mix according to package directions. Mix Dream Whip and pudding together. Spread on top of set Jell-O. Let set 2 to 3 hours.

ANSWER — Previously Beatrice Wright, Duncannon, submitted a recipe for creamed lettuce. Ruth Ann Greathouse of Lititz wrote that the recipe sounds interesting, but she would like to know if it is served. Thanks to Beatrice Wright for responding that any amount of lettuce desire may be used. She generally uses about a half a head of lettuce. Some guests use it as a side dish or dessert. The Wrights use it like gravy and put it ont top of potatoes, stuffing, meat, potpie, noodles and pig maw.

LENTIL SOUP WITH VEGETABLES

1½ cups lentils
6 slices bacon, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
10½-ounce can beef broth (condensed)
1 cup onion, chopped
1 small green pepper, chopped
½ cup carrots, chopped
½ cup celery, diced
½ teaspoon crumbled bay leaf
Thyme
Salt and pepper to taste

Add lentils to 6 cups water in heavy kettle. Bring to boil, skim and simmer, covered for one hour or until very soft. Force through sieve or food mill and set aside. Saute bacon in same kettle until crisp. Remove bacon and blend flour into bacon drippings. Gradually stir in broth and cook, stirring, until smooth and thickened. Add lentil puree, bacon, vegetables, and seasonings. Bring to boil, cover and simmer about 30 minutes.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — Bernice Polskiewcz wanted egg-free cake and cookie recipes. Here are some from Jeanette Martin, Myerstown; Mrs. David Fisher, Lewistown; and Ruth Shirk, Lebanon.

Easy Spice Cake

3½ cups flour
2 cups packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup water
⅔ cup oil
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 cup applesauce
1 cup nuts (optional)

Mix together all ingredients. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

Optional — for carrot cake, omit cinnamon, nutmeg, and applesauce. Add 1 cup carrots.

Seven-Layer Cookies

½ cup butter
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 cup coconut
1 cup chocolate bits
1 cup butterscotch bits
1 cup condensed milk
1 cup chopped nuts

Melt butter in 9x12-inch cake pan. Layer each ingredients as listed. Press down lightly. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Russian Tea Cakes

2 cups butter, softened
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
4½ cups flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar. Mix in remaining ingredients. Shape into one-inch balls. Bake at 400 degrees for 10-12 minutes. Roll in confectioners' sugar. Cool. Roll in confectioners' sugar again.

Variation: use coconut or finely chopped candied cherries instead of nuts.

Old-Fashioned Ginger Cookies

3 cups dark molasses
1 cup sugar
2 cups shortening
8-10 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons baking soda
1 tablespoon ginger
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1½ cups buttermilk

Heat molasses and sugar. Stir in shortening and then dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk, ending with flour, adding no more than needed to make a firm dough. Chill. Roll ¼ -inch thick. Cut out and bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

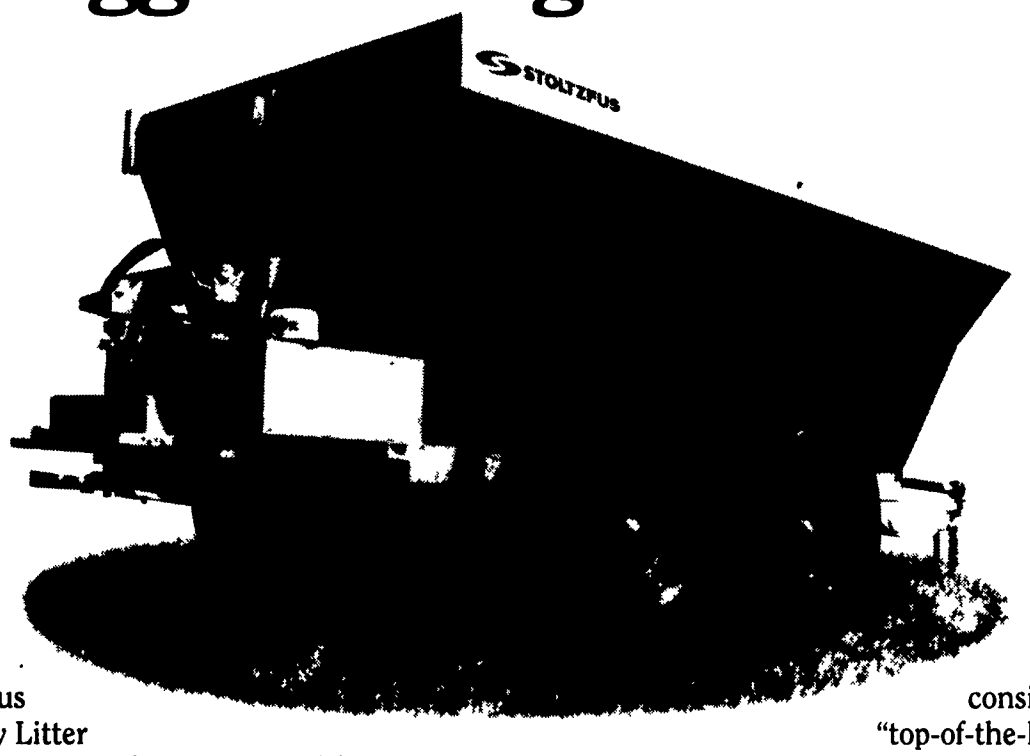
The One Spreader Big Enough For Poultry Litter, Rugged Enough For Lime.



The Stoltzfus Poultry Litter Spreader is specifically designed for the demands of this challenging job. The 20 foot hopper holds a whopping 400 cubic foot load, meaning fewer trips for you. The big 30-inch drag chain moves large volumes of litter fast. And the dual hydraulic spinners spread a wide, uniform pattern up to 40 feet wide.

But its real beauty may be its versatility. Now you can spread fertilizer, stockpiled lime, compost, poultry litter and more, all with one machine.

Long considered "top-of-the-line" ag spreaders, many Stoltzfus Spreaders are still in use after 20 years. That makes a Stoltzfus Spreader preferred not only for quality and performance, but also for terrific economy in the long run.

Sure you can settle for buying on initial price alone. But with a Stoltzfus Spreader you won't be shopping for another spreader just a couple years down the line.

Blizzard Stops Performance But They Keep On Dancing

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

SOMERSET (Somerset Co.)—When a declared state of emergency from January's Blizzard of 1996 halted travel on Pennsylvania highways, the 4-H square dancers from Somerset County were among those denied the right to compete in the folk dancing at the Farm Show.

It was a hard pill to swallow and consequently, a gamut of emotional reponses followed — tears, anger, disappointment, frustration, disbelief. Those affected by the travel ban wondered if their hard work had been for nothing.

So on Saturday, February 24, the public was invited to a square dance demonstration by the 4-Hers and their training organization — the Wheelers and Dealers — at the Somerset Area High School. The program was presented as planned for the exciting show arena at the farm show complex.

"We needed to do something," said Melissa Hipple, Somerset County cooperative extension agent. "The kids put in many days of practice. A lot of hard work and determination went into this demonstration.

"There was so much disappointment (about the farm show) we felt we should give them an opportunity," she said.

"I was praying when I scheduled this that we wouldn't have the second Blizzard of 1996," Hipple said, smiling.

Her prayer sure got answered, for the last Saturday of February was pretty enough to elevate the spirits of the grumpiest soul. A late winter foible, no doubt, but it was certainly the opposite of the January shocker, and brought several hundred spectators out to enjoy the fun.

In fact, the gym got so warm that its doors were thrown open to receive breezes from the outside.

Fancy petticoat lace peeked out below the girls' vibrantly colored, ruffled skirts. Occasionally, one saw a frilled garter tucked just above the knee when the gals were spun around.

Looking comfortable in blue-jeans, the fellows' white shirts were accessorized by casual ties, neckerchiefs and suspenders that matched the colors of their ladies' garb.

Fred Streng was the caller. He sneaked in one dance number that wasn't expected, nor had been practiced by the group. "This one is 90 percent listening and ten percent dancing," he warned them as the music began to play.

The kids ranged in age from 10 to 19 years and represented some 10 of Somerset County's 21 4-H clubs. Thirty leaders who dedicated their support to the square dance practices helped arrange the demonstration.

Most of the 4-Hers said the Farm Show is a big deal to them and a great experience. They had wanted to go, no matter how bad the weather was. One guy said he was glad Saturday that the dancing didn't have to be judged.

A member of the 4-H County Council thanked the necessary people, especially Streng. They've depended on his leadership for years.

He told them they won't have to practice so hard for next year's Farm Show because he plans to use the records he had planned to use this year.

Nobody can account for the high popularity of square dancing in Somerset County 4-H. In general, one fourth of all the squares at the Farm Show competition come from Somerset. That equals some 15 squares, the alternates, and three squares from the Wheelers and Dealers.

It was reported that with friends and parents, this year's 4-H contingent had reserved six coaches from a local tour service to transport all of them to Harrisburg on January 8.

Somerset County 4-H'ers present a public demonstration of the square dancing they missed presenting at the Farm Show in January.

How come I still find houseflies in the winter?
Because warm attics are better than hollow logs any day!
First things first. Nothing interrupts an afternoon nap like a big, pesky fly buzzing around your forehead. You almost expect houseflies during the summer — all those banging doors and open windows are too inviting to ignore. But one or two flies always seem to find your living room in the middle of winter.
Our entomology friends at Ohio State University think you should look a little more closely at that out-of-season fly. If it seems bigger than a regular fly and has a shiny golden glow, it's not a housefly. It's a cluster fly.
Cluster flies spend winter as an adult. (Most insects like Bob and me are just youngsters when winter comes.) Cluster flies have one problem, though — they freeze easily. They used to find places outside where it wasn't cold, like caves or hollow logs, to get through the winter. But now it's easier for them to seek out warm attics. When it warmed up outside, the flies would become active again. Now, the same thing happens when you turn up the heat in your house — but instead of going back outside, the cluster flies make themselves at home!
Scientifically yours, Twig

In the gym of the Somerset Area High School, the floor is filled with 15 to 18 squares of 4-H dancers during a square dancing demonstration. Members missed giving the demonstration at the Farm Show because the governor declared a state of emergency to keep travelers off the state's highways during the Blizzard of 1996.

For Snook, Standability's Most Important Factor

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

JERSEY SHORE (Lycoming Co.) — Some people say it's the rich river bottom soils that allow Ed Snook to take home the first-place ribbons in the Pennsylvania Corn Club's annual production contest. But according to the long-time corn grower and hog farmer, there are many factors that contribute to bumper corn crops.

"In the Five Acre Corn Club, I don't enter the same fields every year. I've had them in the Nippenose Valley on limestone ground and along the river. It's always pushed up to me that I have pig manure and river field, but we've had the Five Year Corn Club in seven or eight locations and we've won awards on all of them," he said.

In this year's contest, Snook placed first in the three-year average shelled grain class for the regular harvest size. His yield in 1992 was 191.8 bushels per acre. In 1993 he produced 201.6 bushels per acre and in 1994 he produced 194.1 bushels per acre for an average

Corn A Year-Round Business At Wolf Farms

JOYCE BUPP
York Co.
Correspondent

STEWARTSTOWN (York Co.)—Piles of icy snow still linger along the edges of the rolling fields at Wolf Farms, west of Stewartstown.

But inside the farm's offices, Dan Wolf contemplates the neon-green commodity price charts scrolling across a satellite monitor and makes plans for planting corn

Corn is king at this southern York County crop farm, where Dan Wolf and his brothers Dave and Steve crop 1,000 acres of the golden grain crop along with additional acreage in soybeans, wheat, timothy, and popcorn

Wolf, a quiet, well-spoken farmer who studies his business intently, is one of the newest directors of the Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association (PMCGA).

Familiar to many corn producers from the statewide corn yield contest, PMCGA also works closely with Penn State in education and research work toward improved yields and cropping practices.

"The association helps to promote corn through education and advertising," Dan said, adding that the PMCGA's efforts are closely related to the programs and efforts of the National Corn Growers Association. "We also work toward enlightening and educating elected officials in the best interests of corn growers."

Promoting new products made from corn is another focus of the corn growers' association Ethanol, an alternative fuel made from corn, continues to grow in volume of usage across the country. Tax benefits granted for ethanol development were a result of the ongoing efforts of the corn growers' associations, Wolf noted.

Two generations at Wolf Farms attend to business on the family grain operation. From left are brothers Dave and Dan Wolf and Dan's son, Justin. Absent from the photo because he was in the shop getting equipment ready was the third Wolf brother and partner, Steve.

Low Calcium Levels Tied To Incidence Of Chronic Disease

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

BALTIMORE (Maryland)—You could eat six servings of beans. Maybe you prefer eight servings of spinach. What about 30 servings of soymilk?

Or, you could drink one cup of milk to get the same amount of calcium nutrients.

"We're always being told to take things out of our diets. Dairy products are something that can be put into our diets," said Dr. Douglas DiRienzo, featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Upper Chesapeake Bay Area Dairy Council.

The educational-credits meeting for area health and nutrition professionals was hosted by the Baltimore-based Dairy Council on February 15 at the Baltimore Airport Marriott Hotel. The Upper Chesapeake Bay Dairy Council is part of the Southeast United Dairy Industry Association, supported by farmer-members of the Coastal Division of Mid-America Dairymen.

Dr. DiRienzo is the director of nutrition and health research for the National Dairy Council and a certified nutrition specialist. His messaged addressed research which ties low levels of calcium to increases in several chronic diseases, including osteoporosis, colon cancer, and high blood pressure.

"Osteoporosis is not just a woman's disease," Dr. DiRienzo warned his mixed audience of one hundred attending the nutrition session. He compared the condition, which is a leaching away of bone mass in the body, as "like taking a stick and whittling it thinner."

He noted that some 25 million Americans are affected by the "brittle bones" that are symptomatic of osteoporosis, resulting in 1.5 million bone fractures leading to medical costs exceeding $10 billion annually.

Broken hips, added Dr. DiRienzo make up a significant number of those fractures. Up to 20-percent of individuals — usually among the elderly population — die within in a year, primarily due to other health factors related to or aggravated by the hip injury. Females are at higher risk, but family history, lifestyles, smoking, alcohol, inadequate exercise and inadequate calcium intake are all factors, according to the nutritionist.

Dr. DiRienzo cited a research study on sets of twins, in which one twin in each set was given calcium supplementation. Bone density at the study's conclusion was higher in the twins whose diests were supplemented with calcium. Another recent study with teenage girls allowed the participants to choose what they ate, so long as they consumed a certain level of calcium daily. Results showed greated bone mass in the study participants, while there was no increase in their levels of body fat or weight gain.

Bone mass building is critical during an individual's childhood and young adult years. Leaching becomes an increasing problem with age, especially after menopause in women, but according to Dr. DiRienzo, can be slowed through adequate calcium in diets and regular exercise.

"The Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) for calcium is actually below the amount needed to maximize bone mass at an early age," noted this national nutritional specialist. And, only about one-third of the available millograms of calcium are absorbed by the body. However, excessive supplementation of calcium is not advised, since levels over 2500 milligrams daily are not beneficial and could cause some side effects.

Nutrition specialist Doug DiRienzo updated Baltimore area nutrition professionals on calcium research findings and challenged them to help educate the public to "choose your calories by the company they keep."

With colon cancer the second leading cause of cancer deaths, researchers are studying the effects on cancer cells by calcium and Vitamin D, commonly fortified in milk.

Dr. DiRienzo related the results of in-vitro, or laboratory test-tube, studies in which regular cell growth diminished, while cancer cell growth speeded up, in conditions of low calcium levels. Animal and human studies show similar promise of slowing colon cancer cell growth with higher levels of calcium and Vitamin D. Researchers theorize that calcium helps to bind up certain fatty acids in the digestive system, which are then excreted by the body before they can do damage to normal cell tissue.

With 50 million Americans suffering some level of hypertension, or high blood pressure, researchers are also studying what effect calcium may have on this chronic disease.

Statistical studies related by Dr. DiRienzo have shown that even a small amount of calcium — 500 milligrams — will help to reduce high blood pressure levels. Even greater reductions were seen with higher intake of calcium and magnesium, while calcium and potassium also appear to positively impact high blood pressure. Calcium, magnesium and potassium are all present naturally in milk and dairy products.

While all sorts of foods — even "junk food" — are being fortified with nutrients like calcium and vitamins, Dr. DiRienzo advised that natural sources of nutrients are recommended.

"Stick with real food sources," he said. "Choose your calories by the company they keep."

The board of the Upper Chesapeake Bay Dairy Council posthumously honored Paul Waybright, a long-time director of the nutrition council. Waybright, who represented area dairy producers on the board of the Southeast United Dairy Industry Association, died in November.

"Paul was very proud of his activities in dairy promotion. He knew how important was the dairy farmers," said his wife, Mary Waybright, Gettysburg, in accepting a plaque inscribed in his honor and memory.

During reorganization of the board following the annual meeting program, Jesse Burall, Frederick, was re-elected president and the division's director to the SUDIA board. Also re-elected were vice-president David Patrick, Woodbine, treasurer Gary Brauning, Finksburg, and secretary Joyce Bupp, Seven Valleys, Pennsylvania.

Elected delegates to the SUDIA annual meeting are David Patrick and Robert Grove, Greencastle, Pennsylvania. Alternate delegate is Gary Brauning.

Kelly West Captures New York Dairy Princess Crown

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—Kelly West from Varysburg, New York was crowned the 1996-1997 New York State Dairy Princess on February 20, at the Four Points Hotel by Sheraton, Liverpool, New York. Having served almost 10 months as the Wyoming County Dairy Princess, West will devote an additional year promoting milk and dairy products, in conjunction with the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC). As state princess, she received a $1,200 scholarship, and will relinquish her country responsibilities. Sponsored by ADADC, the 33rd annual coronation completed the yearlong reign of Jonelle Smith of Cincinnatus.

West received $150 for her award-winning school presentation called "Real Seal City" that she presented to more than 400 people at the pageant. She was also recognized for her honorable mention scrapbook. The 18-year-old daughter of Alan and Suzanne, West lives on a fourth generation, family-owned dairy farm, where her responsibilities include feeding cows, record-keeping, and helping with the breeding program. An active 4-H and Junior Holstein member, West enjoys exhibiting Holsteins in county, regional, state, and national shows. A senior at Attica Central School, Kelly is active in Student Council, Ski Club, Varsity Track, Band, and French Club. This fall, she plans to attend SUNY Morrisville to pursue a career in veterinary medicine.

Jenny Kelsey of Canastota, New York, in Madison County was named first Alternate State Princess. She received a $700 scholarship and $75 for her award-winning scrapbook. She was also recognized for her honorable mention speech presentation. Kelsey is the 16-year-old daughter of Maurice and Amy, who farm 1,200 acres and milk 170 registered Holsteins. An active 4-H and Junior Holstein member, she has represented New York State on four national dairy bowl teams, and has been a Distinguished Junior Member for seven years. Upon graduation, Kelsey plans to pursue a career in agriculture after attending Cornell University and majoring in animal science and agricultural communications.

Kirsten Rowe of Earlville, New York, in Chenango County was selected as second Alternate State Princess. She received a $600 scholarsip, $150 for her award-winning school presentation called "Super Milk," and $75 for her award-winning scrapbook. Rowe lives on a 480-acre dairy farm owned by Leigh and Sue Manley. Earlier this year, Rowe enjoyed working on the production of her educational documentary entitled, "Real People, Real Lives, a Documentary on Osteoporosis." She is an active member of Heifer Project International, a group dedicated to improving nutrition through milk and other dairy products in the United States and around the world. Rowe will attend Cornell University to study Agricultural Business Economics in the fall to pursue a career in Agricultural Communications.

Both alternate princesses will represent ADADC at county dairy princess pageants, will help train new county promoters at seminars and workshops, and will assist the state princess with various appearances throughout the state. Other finalists were Heather Edmunds of Delavan, New York, in Cattaraugus County; Kristie Bancroft of Dansville, New York, in Livingston County; Elizabeth Kalbfliesh of Melrose, New York, in Renssalaer County; and Kara Boisvenue of Fort Ann, New York, in Washington County.

Twenty-six county dairy princesses competed in the state pageant, including a personal interview, a 10-minute speech presentation, and informal interaction with others. The two-part speech presentation consisted of a speech geared for adults, and a presentation appropriate for elementary school students. Judges evaluated the contestants on their communication skills, knowledge of the dairy industry, poise, personality, and appearance.

Overall judges were Jim Barnett, assistant secretary and manager of member relations for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative from Southampton, Pa.; Melinda Johnson, owner of Hem-View Holsteins and a fashion image consultant from Warren, Pa.; and Jerry Reed, executive director of the New York Beef Industry Council from Westmoreland, N.Y.

In addition to West and Rowe, Andrea Shelley of Spencerport, New York, in Monroe COunty received $150 for her award-winning speech entitled "Calcium — Is It Really That Important?" In addition to Kelsey, honorable mention speech presentations were Michele Schaefer of Deposit, New York, in Delaware County; Elizabeth Kalbfliesh of Melrose, New York, in Renssalaer County; Rebecca Smith of Cobleskill, New York, in Schoharie County; and Molly Zorn of Owego, New York, in Tioga County.

Judges evaluated each 10-minute presentation on contest, speaking ability, and appearance. Speech judges were Jennifer Emerling, 1994-95 New York State Dairy Princess from Perry, N.Y.; Mark Kenville, director of member relations and communications for Dairylea Cooperative from Syracuse, NY; and Arlene Wilbur, mother of a former Pennsylvania Dairy Princess, and board member of her local dairy promotion committee from LeRaysville, Pa.

Miss Congeniality Kristie Bancroft

As one of three speech winners, Kelly West performs her skit, "Real Seal City" to more than 400 persons who attended the banquet.

New York State Dairy Princess Kelly West is congratulated by retiring state dairy princess Jonelle Smith, left.

Each contestant created a dairy promotion scrapbook for competition. In addition to Rowe and Kelsey, Molly Zorn of Owego, New York, in Tioga County was awarded $75 for her award-winning scrapbook. In addition to West, honorable mention scrapbooks were Wendy Zylstra of Montgomery, New York, in Orange County; and Pamela Mackin of Richfield Springs, New York, in Otsego County.

Judges evaluated each of the scrapbooks on content, appearance, originality, and creativity. Scrapbook judges were Michele Ruby, editor of New York Holstein News from Ithaca, New York and Patricia Stokes, a freelance writer from Morrisville, New York.

Kristie Bancroft of Dansville, New York was chosen "Miss Congeniality" by the contestants, and recognized as the dairy princess who demonstrated the most friendliness and cooperative spirit of competition. She received $100 from Ag Radio Network, and a gift on behalf of all the princess candidates.

The dairy princess program is designed to promote the consumption and sale of milk and dairy products to consumers through one-on-one contact at the local level. Focused on the most effective ways to increase milk consumption, the program is designed to complement the goals of ADADC. Promotional activities include presenting elementary school programs, generating newspaper articles, recording radio public service announcements, and participating in a variety of special events.

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. is a dairy promotion organization funded by dairy producers in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

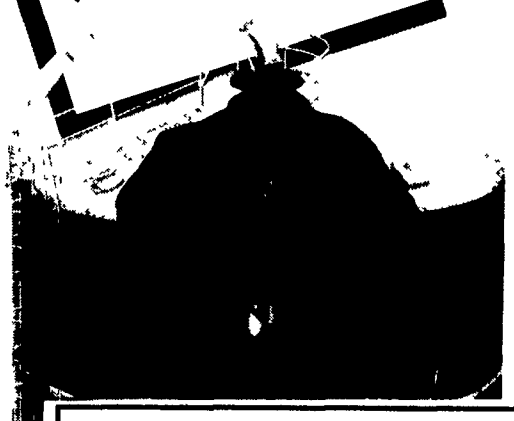
- ✔ Faster Unloading
- ✔ Lower Maintenance



The Jamesway Big Jim® B.U.C.S.™ (BOTTOM UNLOADING CONVERSION SYSTEM) is making big news!

Reports are coming in from B.U.C.S. owners everywhere. And they're reporting that their systems are delivering increased storage capacity, higher quality feed, faster unloading and reduced maintenance versus their old systems. Even in silos that had been retired! But don't take our word for it. Here's what your neighbor has to say about their B.U.C.S. System!

OWNER'S REPORT #53

"B.U.C.S. made a workable system of an old silo which had become a liability to our operation. Feed delivery volume is remarkable and the system has required little maintenance. We're pleased we found a way to use our old steel sided, glass lined silo."

Landscaping Tips

Landscape gardeners often shock their neighbors by removing large, overgrown evergreen shrubs planted along the front of the home. Called foundation plantings these shrubs were planted to hids a home's exposed foundation.

The idea from 30 years ago was to keep in hiding the ugly stone or concrete blocks. A better plan is to remove the shrubs periodically (every 10-15 years as they outgrow the space).

Unfortunately it is still too common to find lovely homes with attractive stone foundations blocked from view by overgrown yews, junipers, arborative or boxwoods. Also, it is better to keep some of the foundation in view and hide a portion of it with shrubs.

Landscape plantings should enhance the architecture of a home and invite passers-by to enter. This does not mean that all foundation plants should be yanked by their roots. Often a judicial spring pruning or moving plants to a different location can make a big difference.

There are many different approaches to landscaping. Look around as you're out walking or driving; study the abundant books and magazines available on the topic; find out what plants grow best in your area; determine what approach best suits the style of your home, and express yourself!

The melting snows have left behind piles of molding leaves, stems and branches. Piles of maple, linden or gingko leaves which tend to pack tightly when they become wet, clutter our yards and streets. The first garden activity of the year calls for removing, composting or stirring up the leaf mold.

When a thick layer of leaves from a tight layer over the soil surface all winter long, damage results to lawn grasses and ground cover beds. Toxicity problems form a buildup of salts are also possible as leaves decompose. Shallow-rooted plants like rhododendron and azalea are affected by minor chemical changes in the soil. It is also becoming more evident that some plants can exert an alleopathic influence on other plants, such as when black walnut kills surrounding species.

Accumulation of excess leaves around a plant base may also form an attractive nesting place for mice this spring. A layer of foliage offers good protection, and mice will often take advantage of the ready-built quarters. Mice use the basal stems of your plants for a late winter snack when other supplies become scarce. Mice feeding often results in considerable loss of plant materia .

Fallen leaves and similar organic matter can be evaluated part of the garden and can complement design and improve soil quality. Large quantities of leaves can be composted elsewhere on the property and then returned to flower and shrub beds in the spring or fall as a mulch.

For backyard composting information, contact your Extension office.

Questions on the above may be directed to Thomas S. Becker, Extension Agent, 112 Pleasant Acres Road, York PA 17402. Phone number is (717) 840-7408.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Cumberland Valley FFA Members Garner Awards

Fourteen members from the Cumberland Valley FFA Chapter had 25 SAE enterprise records selected at county competition to compete at the state SAE Record Book Contest held recently at Penn State.

The SAE records were the financial and individual leadership records of the various students and their home FFA projects carried by the member during the 1995 calendar year.

In the past, members from the Cumberland Valley Chapter have done very well, but the results attained this year were the best ever.

Members, their enterprises and awards from the Cumberland Valley FFA are as follows: Adrienne Sheaffer, Small Fruits-Strawberries - Gold, Improvement - Silver; Amy Jahn, Pets-Rabbits - Gold; Angie Hoffman, Herb Garden - Participant; Bill Leib, Poultry-Fryer/Broiler - Gold, Goat Finishing - Gold, Sheep Finishing - Gold, Swine Finishing - Gold; Billie Jo Zeigler, Sheep Breeding - Gold, Sheep Finishing - Gold; Curtis Lehman, Goat Finishing - Gold, Swine Finishing - Gold; Heather Lehman, Goat Finishing - Gold, Swine Finishing - Gold; Jackie Wolf, Goat Finishing - Gold, Home Garden - Silver; Jason Brenneman, Field Corn-Grain - Gold; Jason Ritter, Goat Breeding - Gold; Jenn Walborn, Pleasure Horse - Gold; Jody Brenneman, Home Garden - Gold; Katie Martin, Non-Farm Employment - Gold; Todd Umbrell, Goat Finishing - Gold; Sheep Finishing - Gold; Goat Breeding - Silver, Sheep Breeding - Silver.

After all enterprises and categories were tabulated, there was a total of 620 enterprise records in 68 various categories in state competition. Out of the 25 enterprise records submitted by the Cumberland Valley members, they received 20 gold awards and four silver awards.

In addition to the state medals awarded by the Pennsylvania Associatioin of FFA, the Farm Credit Association of Pennsylvania will present awards to county and regional winners as well as a state winner overall records. County winners will receive a $50 savings bond. Regional winners will receive a $100 savings bond and the state winner will receive a $200 savings bond. These awards are presented by the Farm Credit Association of Pennsylvania to promote good record keeping and encourage FFA members to strive for excellence in record keeping. This year the Cumberland County winner was Billie Jo Zeigler and the state winner was Bill Leib.

We Can't Keep It Quiet Any Longer

Introducing:
The
Big Dutchman.

UniGROW360 BROILER FEEDING SYSTEM.

After years of Broiler Pan Evolution, It's Time for a Revolution.

Everyone also knows manually adjusting hundreds of pans every couple of days is unrealistic. The income you would gain in feed efficiency would be lost several times over in labor costs. That's why the UniGROW360 system is so revolutionary.

NOW, YOU CAN QUICKLY AND EASILY ADJUST THE FEED LEVEL AS OFTEN AS YOU LIKE

This special winch enables simultaneous feed level adjustment of a line of UniGROW360 pans with a simple turn of the crank. Unlike other systems, it is not dependent upon level floors.

Big Dutchman.

Nevertheless, Pennsylvania has everything cows need (good weather and close markets, for example) to produce milk at the lowest cost. But the main problem we have is that we don't have good records.

Waybright said each plot or field should be viewed as a profit center. On their farm, when they first started to keep such records, 25 percent of the land lost money, 50 percent made a small profit, and the other 25 percent made large profits, just offsetting the low-profit fields.

"I'm enthused about the potential of the future," Waybright said. "Plan for the future by knowing where you are. This area can compete with anyone in being the most efficient producer of dairy products. That's what we must be – the lowest cost producer but sell products at the highest price. We have the potential to supply the world markets as the lowest-cost suppliers."

In his annual report, President Laszlo Mozes said the year was highlighted by hosting the National Holstein Convention in Pittsburgh. He said they had outstanding cooperation from everyone and he has heard nothing but good comments about the convention.

Mozes said we live in a worldwide economy and we need to know what people like to eat and what they want. We are still the number one dairy producer, so we can stand tall. And the Pennsylvania Holstein Association is second to none.

We need to get away from the negative and become positive for the future, sharing the Holstein spirit with our neighbors.

Executive Director Bill Nichol said we can live a long time on what was accomplished by hosting the national convention. Nichol showed slides of his trip to Mexico to develop export markets for registered Holsteins.

A special guest at the convention was Victor Lopez, from Mexico. Lopez manages a farm that milks 28,000 cows for 86 different owners. Nichol has visited Lopez at his farm.

Frank DeGarcia, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board, also spoke. DeGarcia has expended personal effort to make Pennsylvania agriculture known south of the border. He was responsible for the International Day at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January.

"We need to make the Farm Show more international," Nichol said. "We need to look for more exports, merchandise Pennsylvania Holsteins internationally. The World Dairy Expo in Chicago gets international exposure and we can do the same thing in Harrisburg with cows from Pennsylvania."

1996 HALL OF FAME

At the awards banquet Friday night, George Page, Jr., Columbia Cross Roads and Creedin Cornman, Carlisle, were inducted into the Pennsylvania Holstein Hall of Fame.

George E. Page, Jr. was born and has lived his entire life in Bradford County. He graduated from Troy High School in 1951 and started farming in Columbia Cross Roads. He married his wife Nancy in 1952, they have four children, David, JoAnn, Jan and George III, and five grandchildren.

George began showing cattle in 1959, in 1960 he showed the All-American heifer calf, in 1969 daughter JoAnn showed the Junior All-American Junior Calf. All totaled George has bred and or developed at least nine All-Pennsylvania winners and five Reserve All-Pennsylvanias. The win he treasures the most was the 1972 All-PA Best Three Females.

George remains interested in the show programs. He presently serves as Chairman of the Northeast Championship Show and he still trucks cattle for many 4-H'ers and still serves as ringman at the Troy Fair. George also has judged many shows in Pennsylvania having been on the PDCA Judges list for many years.

George developed his herd for both type and production. He received at least six Progressive Breeder Awards and has had a number of Pennsylvania production leaders. Probably his most famous cow, Windy Mont Fond Matt Kathy-EX, was developed by Galen Crouse where she became the dam of over 100 offspring worldwide.

George Page's Windy Mont cattle were dispersed five times, with many cattle helping breeders across the country develop outstanding families from George's breeding program.

George was instrumental in organizing the Bradford Banner Breeders, a bull proving syndicate that was successful in selling or leasing a number of bulls into AI both in the United States and Japan.

George has held most of the offices in Bradford County Holstein Club including three years as president. He was a state director for many years and has served on the Executive Committee from 1978-1984. He has served as a delegate to the National Convention numerous times.

George is interested in Holstein youth and their activities, he follows their accomplishments and is a great source of encouragement.

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association is pleased to recognize George E. Page Jr. for his over forty years of dedication to the Holstein industry, as an inductee into the Pennsylvania Holstein Hall of Fame.

Creedin C. Cornman

Creedin C. Cornman, Carlisle, Cumberland County has been involved in dairy farming his entire life. Creedin and his wife of 43 years, Ellen, have two children Steve and Sharon and four grandchildren.

Creedin began developing his herd in the 1950s and began his famous "Trixie" family with the purchase of a three-month-old calf from Alpheus Ruth in 1959. Almost his entire herd could be traced back to the Trixie family. His herd was noted for excellent type and production.

Creedin loves the show ring, he has exhibited cattle since he was 10 years old, he has exhibited an animal in the PA State Holstein Show since 1954, he is also a continuous exhibitor at the Shippensburg Fair since its inception in 1958. He has won numerous Premier Breeder and Exhibitor banners at the local and regional levels.

Creedin is also an accomplished cattle judge working at numerous 4-H round-ups, county fairs, Regionals Championship Show and a number of shows in surrounding states. He also has served as a teacher at a number of Junior Judging Shools. One of his greatest loves is working with and teaching young people about judging cattle.

Creedin has served the dairy industry in many capacities including the Cumberland County DHIA Board and as president, Holstein Board and president, president and director of the Cumberland County Extension Board and as the Carlisle Fair Dairy Superintendent. Creedin works at numerous sales helping prepare cattle. His most enjoyable sale work is with the Penn State Dairy Science club on the Nittany Lion Fall Classic Sale. The Dairy Science Club recognized him in the 1995 as the Dairy Expo Dedicatee.

Creedin has served on many Pennsylvania Holstein committees including Sale, Show and Membership committees. He served as State Director and as a delegate to the National Convention on a number of occasions.

Creedin also serves his church and community in many ways. He has been Sunday School secretary for over 40 years and a lay assistant at St. John's Lutheran Church for over 30 years. He served as a 4-H dairy leader for 22 years. He has been a member of the South Middleton Fire Company for 16 years and is also an ambulance driver and treasurer of the Ambulance Company.

Creedin Cornman has always been interested in the welfare of others and has helped many people develop their interests in the dairy business.

1996 DISTINGUISHED YOUNG HOLSTEIN BREEDER

Michael and Cindy Weimer, Emlenton, Clarion County received the Pennsylvania Distinguished Young Holstein Breeder Award at the Pennsylvania Holstein Convention in Williamsport.

Mike and Cindy began farming in 1987. They owned 45 head and bought 20 bred heifers from Lester Poust. This group of heifers along with cows purchased from Lester became the nucleus of their Solid Gold milking herd.

The herd of 45 cows averaged 17,250M 632F 543P, today, their 70 cows average 25,268M 926F 830P on 3 times a day milking with a BAA of 108.5 including 7 excellent cows and 27 very good cows. Their goal is to increase their production and the marketing of their registered cattle.

Mike and Cindy are both very active in Holstein, church and community activities. Mike serves on the State Board of Directors, he was the 1995 State Convention Sale Chairman, serves on the State Sale Committee, served as chairman of the Program Development and Evaluation Committee and as chairman of the 1993 Northwest Championship Show.

Cindy served as chairperson of the 1995 Ladies Day Committee, on the State Activities Committee and is secretary of the Clarion/Venango Holstein Club.

Mike served on the National Committee on the Value of Registered Holsteins, assistant chairman of the 1995 National Convention Sale and a delegate to the National Convention. He is also an approved judge, working shows in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Mike is also an auctioneer. He has worked four National Sales and many state and local sales.

Cindy, a Communications Specialist with the American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East, also had the opportunity to attend the 1996 Young Dairy Leaders Institute in Tampa, FL.

Both Mike and Cindy are active in the Salem United Church of Christ, serving on the Consitory Board and as a Sunday School teacher.

Mike and Cindy are very proud of their highest scoring cow, Solid Gold Rotate Easter 2E-94 with 4-07 365 3X 35,865 4.1 1,471 3.1 1,103, she has twice won the Total Performance Award at the PA Championship Show and was named Best Bred and Owned 5 years old at the 1993 Eastern National Holstein Show.

Their investment in Registered Holstein has been financially beneficial over the past eight years. They have sold cows, bulls and embryos to at least 13 countries and many AI organizations. They credit their merchandizing to allow them to be in the dairy business with a relatively small herd.

Mike and Cindy are the proud parents of two children Sarah, 6, and Spencer, 4. They want to instill in their children the love for cows and working the land they both share.

Progressive Genetic Herd Awards. Mike and Spencer Weimer, William Compton, and Dale Wack.

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association is pleased to recognize Mike and Cindy Weimer as the 1996 Distinguished Young Holstein Breeders. Their information will be submitted to the National Holstein Association in consideration for the National Distinguished Young Breeder to be named in Fort Worth, TX in June.

SOLICITORS

The Pennsylvania Holstein Association recognized their membership solicitors at their Awards Program held at their Annual Convention at the Genetti Hotel, Williamsport.

The efforts of all the membership solicitors around the state is tremendous. A lot of time and effort is put in by all solicitors, but special recognition goes to two individuals who have done outstandingly well in membership solicitation.

The following gentlemen signed up 5-9 new members or 10-15 renewals and each will receive Pennsylvania Holstein clothing for their efforts. They include: Randy Kitchen, Northumberland Montour; James Houser, Centre.

There are three clubs that have already reached their membership goal for 1996, each received a $200 cash award for their efforts. They include: Northumberland/Montour Counties; Westmoreland County; Clinton County.

All-Pennsylvania Awards

The 1995 All-Pennsylvania Awards were presented at Saturday's breakfast meeting. The All-Pennsylvania Awards are given to the top animals in each of 18 classes from three major shows sponsored by the association. Animals shown at the Spring Show, one of seven regional championship shows, and the Fall Championship show, earn points toward the honors.

Steve and Chris Wood, Littlestown, led the way with five All-Pennsylvania Awards. Mark and David Campbell, Ford City, received three awards. The remaining awards were split among 40 other exhibitors.

The award winners are listed with this article.

Tuna Loaf

12½ -ounce can tuna, drained
3 cups soft bread crumbs (approximate 6 slices bread)
3 eggs
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
8-ounces sour cream
4-ounces diced pimentos, drained, (optional)
Combine tuna, bread crumbs, eggs, onion, lemon juice, salt, ½ cup sour cream, and 2 tablespoons pimentos. Reserve remaining sour cream and pimentos for sauce. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees until done.
Meanwhile prepare sauce:
2 hardboiled eggs
2 tablespoon margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
Parsley leaves for garnish
In 2-quart saucepan, melt butter. Stir in flour and salt until blended. Slowly add milk and cook until sauce is thickened. Stir in sour cream and heat throughly. Add pimentos.
To serve: Invert loaf on platter. Spoon sauce on top and around loaf. Put diced egg on top and sprinkle with parsley. Each serving 260 calories, 14 g fat, 170 mg cholesterol, 610 mg sodium.

"Our 930 MoCo can cut up to 30 percent more hay per day than our old machine."

"We can harvest as much as an additional 10 to 15 acres a day. This MoCo goes through wet hay, even grass hay, like it was butter. With a 930, you don't have to keep checking for plugging, even in wet hay. It's also easy to make adjustments... and with much more precision," says Marvin Waltz.

"In normal conditions, the hay going through our 930 MoCo also dries 10 to 15 percent faster. So, instead of waiting three days to bale, now we often start baling on the second day. This is important, because we may have only two or three days in a row of good weather.

ANSWER — Donna Truesdell wanted a recipe for homemade dog biscuits. Thanks to Edie MacCarty, Downingtown, Paul Mogel, and others for sending recipes.

Homemade Dog Biscuits

6 tablespoons vegetable oil
⅔ cups warm water
2 cups rye flour
½ cup soybean flour
¼ cup white flour
¼ cup cornmeal

Add the oil and water to the dry mixture and mix well. Roll to ¼ -inch thickness and cut out into squares or desired shape. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or until the biscuits are hard and dry. Makes 40 to 50 2-inch biscuits.

Romper's Choice

1 egg
2 tablespoons wheat germ
4 large figs
2 cups unbleached flour
2 tablespoons sunflower oil
½ cup beef broth

In a blender, combine wheat germ, figs, egg, oil, and broth. Allow figs to remain in little pieces. Combine liquid with flour and form into ball, knead, and roll into dough about ¼ -inch thick. Cut biscuits into desired shape, then bake in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 200 degrees and bake anoother 30 minutes. Turn oven off and allow bone to dry out naturally for several hours.

ANSWER — Dorothy Martin, Lancaster, wanted to know where to buy support stockings that are reasonably priced and not as expensive as in the surgical stores. Thanks to Susan Horst, Rising Sun, Md., for sending the mailorder address for Support Plus, 99 W. St., Box 500, Medfield, MA 02052.

Thanks to Mildred Wenger, Stevens, for sending the address for AARP Pharmacy Service catalog, P.O. Box C5020, Warminster, PA 18974-9947.

ANSWER — Donna McKim, Coatesville, wanted to know where to purchase a lap harp. Thanks to Charlene Reiff, Lititz, for writing that lap harps are sold by Paul and Twila Ranck, Box 347, Parkesburg, PA 19365 or phone (717) 442-1255. Packs of music may also be purchased through them.

ANSWER — A subscriber wanted to know how to clean cob webs from the rafters of an old barn and how to keep them off. Thanks to a reader who writes that before the white washer came to the farm, they took branches from cedar trees and swept the cobwebs from the rafters.

ANSWER — A.J. Mast, Lewisburg, wanted to know where to purchase a wire sparrow trap or plans to build one by these used in western Pennsylvania 40 years ago. Thanks to Nancy Frey, Annville, for writing that they are available from Andrew M. Troyer, R.D.#3, Box 72, Conneautville, AP 16406. Send $1 for a catalog for numerous bird-related items.

ANSWER — Laura Jennings, Columbia, N.J., wanted to know if it was common to have a blue-eyed (sky blue) rabbit. Thanks to Peter Mauer, who could perhaps answer the question if he knew the breed or rabbit. The answer can be had by writing to the American Rabbit Breeders Assoc., Box 426 Bloomington, IL 61702. Mauer would be happy to answer any rabbit-related questions for readers who write to him at Rd. 1, Box 157 Bloomville, NY 13739 or call 607-746-3438.

ANSWER — Salome Fisher wanted the words to the song, "Will Children be Grown-ups in Heaven?" Thanks to George Crawford, Harrisonburg, Va., and Marian Zeiset, Leola, for sending the words. Crawford said the song recorded by the Easter Brothers is available on tape.

Will Kids Be Like Grown-ups In Heaven?
Refrain: Will kids be like grown-ups in heaven
I'am told there won't be any tears
But will mommy sneak into the bathroom
To see if I'm washing my ears.

Before I can eat any breakfast
Will I have to go brush my teeth
Before I can go play with Shannon
Will I have to put shoes on my feet.

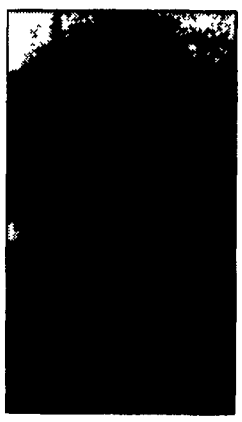
When the neighbors come over to our house
Will I have to go brush my hair
When all of us kids get too noisy
Will I have to go sit in a chair.

Refrain:

When I slip in a little mud puddle
Will I have to go change my clothes
If I cry when I get a whippin'
Will I have to go blow my nose.

Someday when I get to heaven
With lots of my friends everywhere
There's one thing that I've just been wondering
Will kids be like kids over there?

Refrain:



Marvin Waltz and his sons milk 77 Holsteins and farm near Jersey Shores, Penn. Their rolling herd average is almost 22,000 pounds. Their choice of mower-conditioners? A John Deere 930 MoCo with impeller conditioning. The 930 cuts their hay faster than the 7-year-old self-propelled machine it replaced.

"As far as we can see, our 930 doesn't knock off any leaves at all. We check every once in awhile and don't see any loose leaves underneath the swath. Our 930 definitely puts up higher-quality hay. And, we noticed a correlation with the higher milk production from our herd.

"We love our 930 MoCo," Waltz concludes. Visit your John Deere dealer. Take a close look at how the 11-foot-6-inch-cut 930 MoCo or one of six other MoCo's can help you put up high-quality hay in a hurry.

Get the exclusive seeding accuracy only John Deere provides. Rebuild your row units with this precision finger-pickup assembly. Regular $26.99 each.
Now $23.63 in the Spring Parts Catalog. (AA31261)

OF
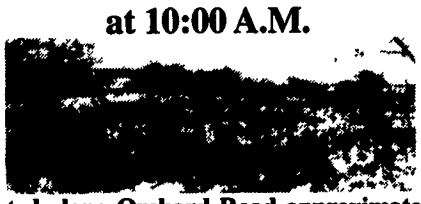
2 PARCELS OF REAL ESTATE & PERSONAL PROPERTY
Sat., March 30th, 1996
at 10:00 A.M.



Located along Orchard Road approximately 2 miles west of Rts. 11 & 15, just north of Montgomery Ferry, Buffalo Twp, Perry County, PA.

PARCEL #1 consists of: 19½ acres of open land with 2 story chicken houses, 30'x290' and 35'x130'. Approximately 2,000' of road frontage. Tax parcel #30-24-20

PARCEL #2 consists of: 5½ acres of open land along Peach & Orchard Roads with 36'x444' layer house built in 1977; egg room and cooler; two 25 ton feed bins (portion of roof collapsed). Approximately 1000' of road frontage. Tax Parcel #30-24-19

The following apply to both parcels: terrain is gently sloping, Calvin soils, there is no zoning classification.

Because of the amount of road frontage this property lends itself to being divided into several additional parcels.

INSPECTION: Saturday, March 9th from 1-4 PM; or by appointment.

TERMS: 10% day of sale; settlement on or before May 15, 1996.

HERD DISPERSAL
52 HEAD HOLSTEINS

Due to health problems, lifelong dairyman ROBERT & MARGARET BOHN of Jefferson, MD, will completely disperse their herd.

36 COWS OF WHICH 21 ARE REGISTERED. There are (25) 1st, 2nd & 3rd calf heifers including a FANCY REGISTERED RED & WHITE 2 YR. OLD CONCORD DAUGHTER. In this herd there are 6 fresh - 4 within the last 30 days; 3 back-springers & the balance in various stages of lactation.

Also selling 8 REGISTERED BRED HEIFERS (7 black & white & 1 red & white) - bred 2 months to freshening; and 6 REGISTERED OPEN HEIFERS.

SIRES INCLUDE: Wine Ridge Concord; Whittier Farms Ned Boy; Conant Acres mark David; Friend-Lea Journey; Opperman-Tong; C. shoreman BC Admiration; Exranco Curt; Argate Woodley & Hanoverhill Starbuck.

NOTE: The majority of the herd is home raised. They are well uddered & have good feet. All heifers except 1 have been calfhood vaccinated.

Consigned by David Miller of Rocky Ridge are 10 fresh 1st & 2nd calf Holstein heifers; and also selling are 20 good uddered 1st & 2nd calf heifers consigned by a local dairyman - all fresh within the last 30 days.

Consignments Still Being Accepted

HEALTH: All animals have been tested for Interstate shipment. TERMS: Cash or good check on the day of sale. Not responsible for accidents.

Belleville Livestock Market

A.I. Bred Home Raised Hi-Grade

The owner will be offering for sale 31 mature cows, 11 bred heifers 2 to freshen before sale 2 due at sale time, 5 heifers that were running with the bull and 7 open heifers. Herd sires include a Cold Springs Levi Son, a Pencol Potential Son, Leadman, Spipper and several others. Many cows in this herd have milked over 100 lbs. per day and several are doing so now. This herd consists pf several good cow families a low somatic cell count and has been receiving quality premium from the milk company. Over 40 years of breeding go with these cows, here is a good opportunity to buy a tank full of milk for your farm. This herd is moving due only to a lost farm lease.

Super All Traction 23°

R-1

- New top-of-line bias-ply tractor rear, featuring our long bar/long bar design for tread stability, and heavy bar bracing to extend tread life.
- Long wearing and smooth riding, due to the more uniform, flatter contour of the long bar/long bar design.
- Proven 23° bar angle for traction, deeper cleaner for self cleaning.
- Beaded rim protector shields the bead to keep sand and soil from getting between the bead and rim flange.

NEW

TMR Ruffage Master

These new Oswalt® four auger Model 200/250 mixers are designed to process and mix all feeds, including baled hay, into a fully-blended TMR... better than anyone! The aggressive, notched, 20"-diameter, full-pitch, four auger mixing pattern, dual shear shelf design and exclusive, self-lubricating Tuff-Glide® liners help feed materials flow more freely, reducing horsepower requirements and virtually eliminating material hang-ups and dead spots. The end result: A better quality of mix! See your Oswalt Dealer today!

Big Jim® To The Rescue!

Big volume bottom unloading conveyor*
*Belt shield removed to show detail

Big Jim® is the best replacement unloader for your steel silo.

It offers greater capacity, more reliability, lower maintenance costs and excellent-quality haylage. You get wall-to-wall compaction during filling for even more silo capacity.

Ask your Jamesway Big Jim® Dealer for details.

Seed Treatments Offer Protection In Reduced Till

GREENSBORO, N.C.—Not all that long ago, "reduced tillage" was an uncommon phrase, spoken only by those few corn growers who dared to be different. Early planting was not necessary and seldom practiced. Now, reduced tillage is standard in corn growers' vocabulary and early planting is the only option for many.

But when growers change on management practice, they most often need to alter another to keep their operations running smoothly. Early planting and reduced tillage can leave the corn seed vulnerable, unprotected from disease — and they must do something to compensate for that.

Dr. Joe Lauer, assistant professor of agronomy at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, explains that in reduced tillage systems, the soil remains cooler for longer periods of time after the corn seed is planted. "As it develops, the corn seedling has a lower metabolism rate than the diseases that attack it," he said. "Disease can overcome the seedling if it is not protected. Seed treatments are a management option that can prevent disease from establishing its reign."

Dr. Wayne Pedersen, associate professor of crop sciences and a plant pathologist, has researched seed treatments for the past 15 years at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign. He focused his research on reduced tillage environments and has found an interesting relationship with seed treatments.

"Two years ago, we evaluated seed treatments effectiveness in both conventional and reduced tillage situations," he said. "In the conventional tillage system, under good weather conditions, we found there was minimal difference in the percent of seed emergence among different treatments and even between the treated and untreated seed.

"However, in a reduced tillage plot that was planted at 28,000 seeds per acre, the treated seed had a stand emergence of nearly 23,000 plants per acre, while the non-treated seed had a stand of only 10,000 plants per acre."

Pedersen says a seed treatment program can be considered an insurance plan.

One specific disease that is more prevalent in reduced tillage systems is Pythium damping-off disease. Pedersen said Apron seed treatment is extremely effective against Pythium and is considered the world standard for Pythium control.

Another disease challenge that growers face comes from planting corn in the same field year after year. This practice — rotating crops — is essential for many farmers today due to limited land space and economic considerations. However, Fusarium damping-off disease will thrive in these soils and rot the plant roots.

"The new seed treatment Maxim is one of the most effective products for Fusarium control that has been screened to date," Pedersen said. "It helps keep the corn plant's root system healthy, directly affecting early season plant health. Both plant stands and early season plant growth directly related to yield potential."

Ciba Crop Protection recently introduced Maxim into the market. It is registered to be applied in combination with Apron for a broad disease control spectrum in corn and sorghum.

Ciba Seed Treatment Director Don Elliott says the research shows Maxim/Apron's disease control results in more uniform stands and improved emergence, with a number of trials showing significantly higher yields than currently used treatments.

Dairy Farmers Improve Production With High Oil Corn

LINCOLN, Neb. — Because it contains nearly twice as much oil as normal yellow dent corn, many livestock producers and dairy farmers are using Optimum™ High Oil Corn (HOC) from NC+ as a cost-effective feeding alternative, according to NC+ Agronomic Services Director Bernie Trausch.

To fully take advantage of the genetically improved milk production of their herds, many dairy farmers need to maximize the nutrient density of their rations. HOC, when included in a safe, well-balanced feeding program, can help dairy cows produce more milk, with less feed, said Soren Raveling, sales specialist with DuPont's Optimum Quality Grain in Des Moines, Iowa.

In fact, studies conducted by Optimum Quality Grain — which developed Optimum HOC — show feeding HOC grain and silage to dairy cows can help improve milk production as much as 10 percent.

This year NC+ Hybrids will sell two high oil corn hybrids: 5276HOC and 4799HOC.

These hybrids are actually a mix of male sterile NC+ hybrid seed and a HOC pollinator (called a TC Blend™) developed by DuPont's Optimum Quality Grains. Each bag of HOC seed contains 92 percent NC+ male sterile hybrid and 8 percent HOC pollinator.

The pollinator carries a gene that produces grain with a very high oil content — doubling normal oil content from 3 to about 6 percent or sometimes higher, said Raveling.

According to DuPont, about 200,000 acres of HOC were grown last year, about 100,000 acres more than in 1994. DuPont estimates about 700,000 acres of HOC will be planted this year.

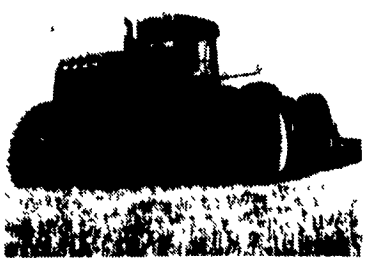
New Holland Introduces Tractors

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.)—Four new Versatile® 82 Series tractors from New Holland are powered by New Cummins diesel engines to meet U.S. emission regulations without sacrificing fuel efficiency or reliability. Horsepower has been increased as well, said New Holland produce management.

The three larger models featured engines with step-timed fuel injection that automatically advances timing for starting and light load operation. This reduces emissions and improves both cold weather starting and idling characteristics. Fuel economy and long-term engine reliability are improved.

The new 82 Series tractors include the 260 HP Model 9282 with 8.3 liter engine, the 310 HP Model 9482 with 11 liters displacement, the Model 9682 with 14 liter engine and 360 HP, and the 425 Model 9882. These tractors have ample torque rise with peak torque at low RPMs. That lets operators gear up and throttle back for fullest fuel efficiency without sacrificing the reserve torque needed to pull through tought spots.

New Hi-Flo™ hydraulics on 82 Series tractors offer ample flow for both tractor and implement hydraulic needs. Steering flow is used to supplement implement flow in high-demand situations to provide more flow at the remotes than any other 4WD tractors.



Four new articulated Versatile® 4WD tractors from New Holland feature new, higher horsepower Cummins engines. Hydraulic flow has also been improved. Power ranges from 260 to 425 HP.

Farmlund Appoints Distributor

LEOLA (Lancaster Co.)—Farmlund, Inc. has appointed Hamilton Equipment, Inc., Ephrata, as the exclusive wholesale distributor for Farmlund Round Bale Wrappers for the Mid-Atlantic region.

Farmlund is an economical one-man operation for loading, wrapping, and unloading round bales. The Farmlund Round Bale Wrapper will handle a bale width of 39 inches to 60 inches and a bale diameter of 54 inches to 60 inches. Wrapping time is approximately two minutes.

Hamilton Equipment will be responsible for the sales, warehousing, and distribution of Farmlund Round Bale Wrappers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Pennfield Presents Eagle Award

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—Pennfield Corporation Feed Sales Division presented John Rolka of Olyphant with the prestigious "Eagle Award" at a dinner meeting held at the Holiday Inn in Grantville recently.

Rolka received this award for an exceptional performance in dairy feed sales and service for 1995. His tonnage increase for the calendar year was more than 2,000 tons. Rolka accomplished this while maintaining an exceptionally high level of sales performance and service to his existing customers.

Farm Credit Makes Staff Changes

LEWISBURG (Union Co.)—In order to provide better service to their members, Northeastern Farm Credit in Towanda has realigned its Towanda staff and customer service responsibilities.

Sue Birdsall has been promoted to loan specialist, providing service to a portion of the branch's loan portfolio member and credit needs. "Sue will also be assisting me and loan officer Brian Dygert in the processing of loans," said Bonnie Keil, branch manager of the Towanda office.

Jeni Rowe and Susan Allis will be serving as the primary loan processors, completing loan closing paperwork and processing payments.

Pioneer Introduces Leafhopper-Resistant Alfalfa

WEST DES MOINES, Iowa — Potato leafhopper damage to alfalfa reduces yields, forage quality, and standlife.

Now, through traditional plant breeding using public germplasm, Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. is introducing an alfalfa variety with true resistance to potato leafhoppers, Pioneer® brand 5347LH.

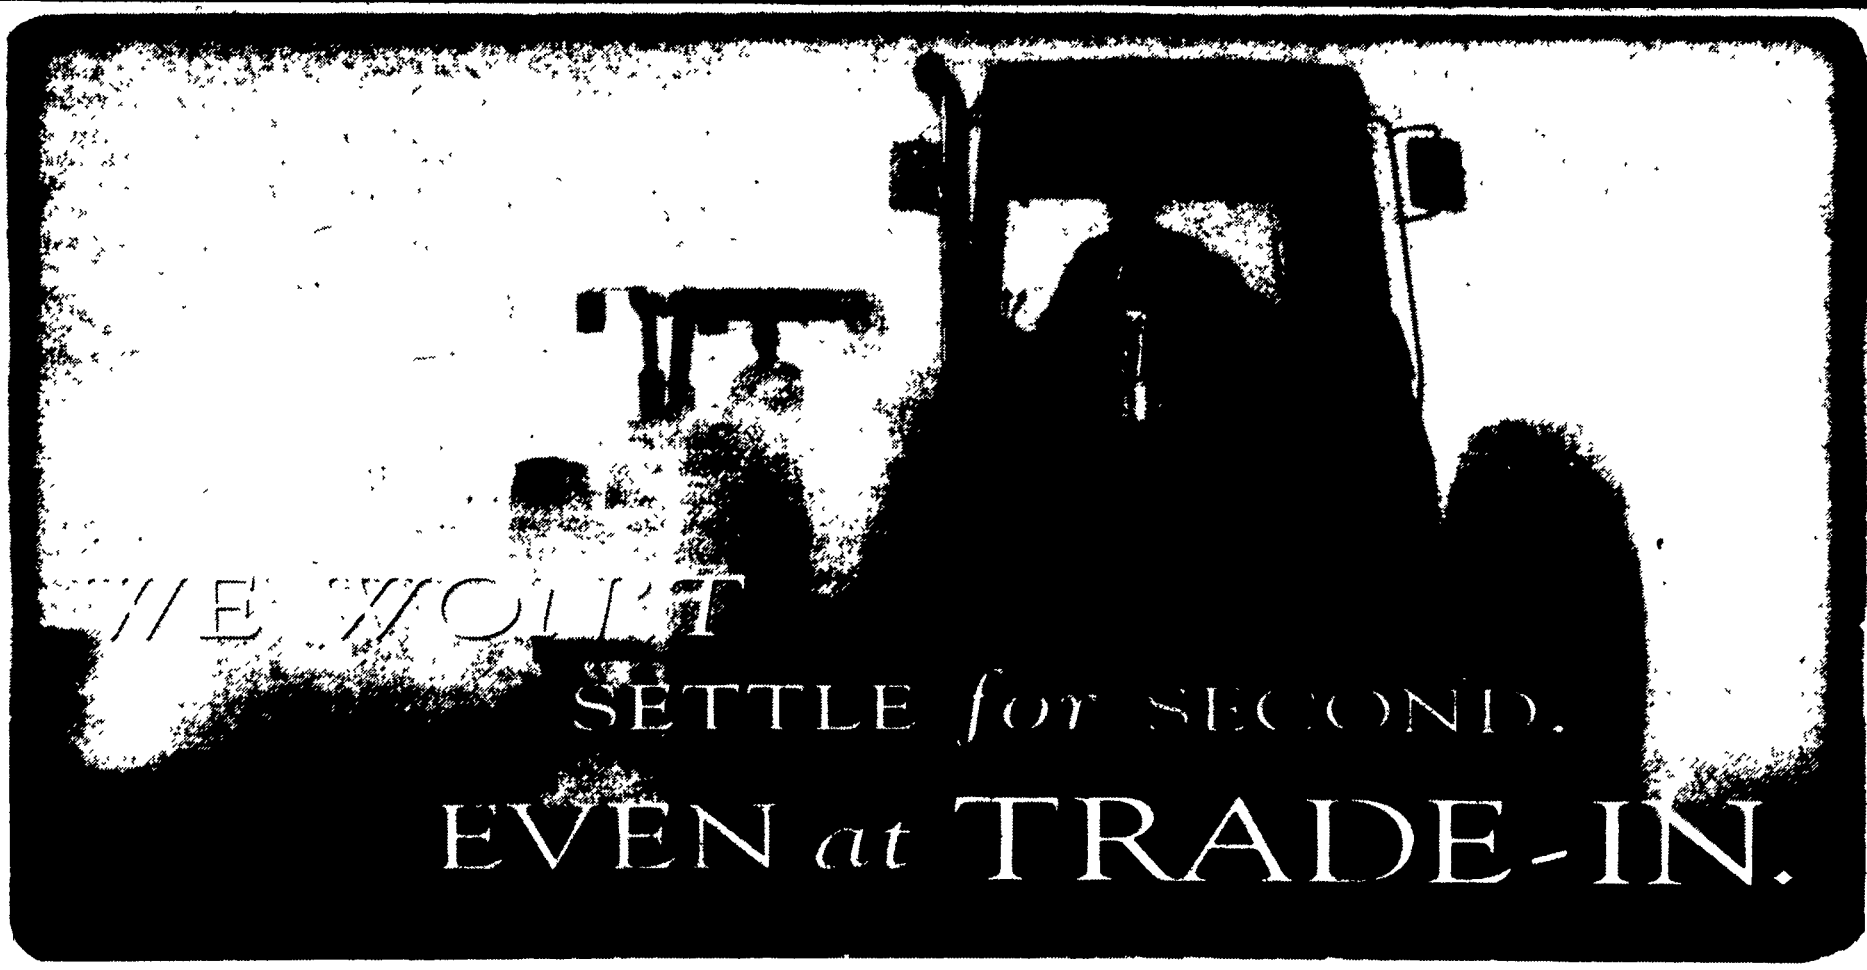
"Potato leafhoppers are reported to be the most common and most destructive insects affecting alfalfa stands in the Midwest and eastern United States. We have developed a variety that will provide leafhopper resistance without giving up the disease, yield and quality traits for which Pioneer is known," said Dave Miller, alfalfa research manager for Pioneer at Arlington, Wis.

Recently, Miller described the new alfalfa variety at "Proceedings of the Wisconsin Forage Council" held in Oshkosh, Wis.

For Warren Otto, dairy farmer from Valders, Wis., alfalfa is a primary protein source for feeding his 400 cows. Otto is one of many farmers who has fought the leafhopper fight.

Otto saw tests plots of alfalfa resistant varieties last year on a tour of the Pioneer Livestock Nutrition Center, near Polk City, Iowa. The center is located on 240 acres being used for plant breeding efforts. "The alfalfa looked good and it had excellent stands," he said.

The resistant variety provides a complete package of agronomic and performance traits which include resistance to major alfalfa diseases, winterhardiness, fast regrowth after cutting, and excellent forage quality.



MAGNUM TRACTORS RETAIN AS MUCH RESALE VALUE AS COMPARABLE DEERE MODELS.

It's amazing what you can see from the front row. • Take resale, for example. While some might assume that our primary competitor leads the way, the truth is quite a different story: Based on data compiled by the industry's primary reference source, the North American Equipment Dealers Association, MAGNUM tractors retain as much resale value on average as comparable John Deere models. • Of course, outstanding resale is only the beginning. There's the sheer performance that surfaces in the MAGNUM Showdown Video, available free by calling 1-800-274-4004. There's the strength of your Case IH dealer - your one-stop resource for genuine Case IH parts and expert service. And there's the fast, convenient financing of Case Credit, with breakthrough programs like LeaseRite™ that allow you to reduce your cash outlay. • Together, it's an unbeatable combination of customer services that we call Total Product Suppport - and it comes as standard equipment with every MAGNUM tractor. • But don't just take our word for it: Turn to those who have put well over 50,000 MAGNUM tractors to work since 1988. Because if you want proof, it always pays to Ask an OWNER.

RAISING HOGS ON CONTRACT

For many producers, raising hogs under contract has become a way of life.

Contract production in the Northeast gathered momentum in the mid-eighties amid concerns that this movement would eventually would put independent producers out of business. Over the last decade, dramatic changes have clearly swept the hog industry, not the least of which is an intensification of contract production.

Contracts offer advantages and disadvantages for the producer. The purpose of this article to discuss the nature of contract production and what it offers for swine producers.

What Is A Contract?

A contract is an agreement between a swine producer and another individual or company to share responsibility and costs of producing feeder pigs or market hogs. Under a typical contract, the producer supplies the buildings, utilities, and labor. The company or individual providing the contract normally supplies the pigs and the feed.

Contract Usage

During the 1970s, hog production in Pennsylvania increased dramatically, as shown in Table 1.

My observation is that most of this expansion took place on family-owned, independent operations and could be attributed to the favorable prices during that time.

In the 1980s, profit margins were not as wide as that of the '70s, but Pennsylvania continued to expand its hog capacity.

to mid-eighties. Most companies would prefer finishing facilities with at least 2000-pig capacity and farrowing facilities that are capable of farrowing 60 or more sows per week. Conscientious producers who run meticulous operations are those in the greatest demand.

Finally, it should be noted that most contracts are for finishing operations. While farrow to feeder contracts exist, many of the hog producing companies find that they can control sow production more effectively when they own and operate the facility.

Reasons For Using Contracts

Production contracts for hogs have been popular in the Northeast for a number of reasons. They permit producers to get started in the business with a limited amount of equity since there is a smaller amount of operating capital needed and there is less risk of fluctuating income. The lending institutions also favor contracts, and may even demand them.

A secondary advantage to contracts is the service and management that encourages producers to operate the enterprise as a business.

Producer Payments For Finishing Contracts

Although the payment per hog marketed is similar among companies, the way the payment is calculated can differ widely.

The simplest method is to pay the producer a set fee, $10-11 for example, for each hog that goes to market. In addition to the fee, many contractors offer incentives for low mortality and good feed conversion.

A mortality bonus of $.50/head for less than 1.5 percent death loss and a feed conversion bonus of $.50/head for a feed/gain ratio less than 2.90 would increase the total payment to $11-12 per hog. Some companies have also paid producers on the total weight gained,

Table 1: Annual Hog production in Pennsylvania from 1970-1995

Year	Hog Production
1980	1,282,000
1990	1,365,000

Source: PA Agricultural Statistics Service

Nationally, similar trends in contracting are evident. In 1988, contractors produced 11 percent of U.S. production under contract compared with 15.5 percent in 1991 and nearly 24 percent in 1994 (Grimes, 1995).

North Carolina has recently increased its hog production more than that of any other state, and reportedly 82 percent of the production is under contract (McMahon, 1996).

In addition to the number of contracts offered, the nature of the contracts has also changed. Contractors are demanding larger and more state-of-the-art facilities than were once considered in the early $.05-.06 per pound of gain. Note that for 200 pounds of gain, the total payment is still around $10-12 per hog.

At least one company in the Southeast has a payment schedule that is a combination of $/head, and $/pound methods. The building lease is another system of payment. In this case, producers are paid a monthly fee, no matter what the productivity is. The lease payment is based on construction costs, interest rates and a building throughput of 2.6 to 2.7 "turns" per year.

Some Midwest feed companies apparently pay on the basis of "pig spaces" in the barn, at the rate of $30-35. Assuming 2.7 turns per year, the average payment per hog marketed would be $11-13.

Producer Payments For Farrow-To-Feeder Pig Contracts

Most farrow-to-feeder pig contract payments are approximately $18 per feeder pig produced. In addition to the feeder pig payment, companies may also cover the cost of propane and utilities.

Another aspect of farrow-to-feeder contracts that varies among companies is the incentive plan. Some companies offer a payment for productivity exceeding 19 pigs per sow per year or when the percentage of farrowing crates filled exceeds 100 percent. But many companies have a set payment that is not affected by sow productivity.

Important Considerations In The Use Of Contracts

1. Service. The quality and quantity varies significantly from one company to the next. Find out how often a service person will be stopping at the facility. Be sure you understand who is responsible for various tasks, such as ventilation adjustment, market hog selection, vaccination, antibiotic injections (when needed), and feed ordering.

2. Breeding Stock. For potential farrow-to-feeder pig producers, the company you select will likely give you no choice in the source of breeding stock. Obviously, it's in the best interest of all parties that the breeding herd be healthy and productive. But it's a good idea to find out how well the breeding stock performs in other farrowing units.

3. Finishing contracts paid on $/pound of gain. Keep in mind that the market weight for this program will be determined at the market. The average weight at the market will be 7-12 pounds less than that at the barn, so the final payment may be $.60-.70 less than you had anticipated.

4. Feed conversion incentives. Most contract hog production operates on an all-in/all-out basis. This makes it easy to document feed conversion, and most feed conversion incentives are reasonable. However, the quality of the pigs will have a major impact on what the final feed conversion will be. Ask for a production history of pigs that originated from the same source as those that will be part of your contract. And remember that to keep feed conversions under 3.0 year-in and year-out, there can be no voids in herd health, feed quality, or feeder adjustment.

5. Deaths on the truck. For a hog that dies on the truck, some companies make no grower payment. Many contracts don't specify, so be sure to check.

6. Quality of feeder pigs. This is possibly the most important factor in a finishing contract. When a group arrives in your barn that is coughing or suffering from diarrhea, you're pretty much stuck with them. The final death loss, growth rate, and feed conversion are all dramatically affected by feeder pig quality. For example, PRRS has had a devastating impact on mortality and pig flow in finishing units. The quality of pigs can also be related to the number of sources. When pigs originate from more than one farrowing operation, the likelihood of problems increases.

7. Culling policy. This is another critical issue, and it's related to #6. Because feeder pig producers must completely empty a nursery room each week, the finisher taking delivery on those pigs may get them all — good and bad. A lot of culls may be present in the group, and these will have to be removed within a few days of placement. If this is the standard procedure, then all parties must have a clear understanding that cull rates may be high. After the initial culls are removed, death loss and feed conversion are often determined by how aggressively the producer removes culls during the growout period. A potential conflict arises when the producer, trying to meet feed conversion and mortality incentives, will cull more heavily than the contractor would prefer. Some contracts penalize producers if their culling rates exceed 5 percent, which might limit the producer's ability to earn production and mortality bonuses.

8. Lightweight market hogs. Many companies offer half payment for lightweight hogs that are sent to market. This becomes an issue when most of the pigs have been marketed from the facility and the poor-doing pigs are still in the barn. Sending them to market results in sort penalties to the contractor and potential half-payments to the producer. If the light pigs remain in the facility until they reach market weight, the time until refilling is delayed which also hurts cash flow. Some companies deal with this problem by shipping these pigs to a smaller, low-cost facility to provide a time buffer for putting on the last 20 to 30 pounds.

9. Time until refilling the finishing barn. Some companies have provisions to refill your barn within a week or two. Others do not, which results in some barns sitting empty, even though the producer's mortgage payments must keep flowing.

10. Type and timing of payments. A lease payment, provided it's competitively priced, is often the best method for the producer. This guarantees a constant cash flow no matter what the pig flow and productivity might be. Most companies do not favor lease payments because the producer has little incentive to be a good manager. A per-head payment can work well for the producer, as long as herd health and pig flow through the facility are up to par.

11. Other costs. When comparing one contract to another, be sure to see what is covered in addition to the payment. Many companies will pay for the utilities. Others will pay for washdown between groups of hogs. Most of the time, the producer is responsible for manure disposal.

12. Sample cash flows. Beware of misleading data. Check the net turns per year — it may be listed at 3 when in fact it will be closer to 2.6 or 2.7 (this can change the annual net return by $7,000 or more in a 2,000-head facility). Watch for unusually low interest rates (the difference in annual loan payment using 5 percent vs. 10 percent interest would be at least $7,000 on a 2,000-head facility). Watch for low utility costs (electrical and propane costs will probably average more than $3,000 annually for a 2,000-head finishing unit).

13. Settling disputes. In the event that a conflict arises, it's nice to have a predetermined format for settling the differences. For example, when the two parties are unable to resolve a dispute, some companies provide for a mutually agreed-upon third party to assist with the problem.

☐ 7. Industrial silos/tanks

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production...harvesting...storage...purchases...delivery to animals. Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo.

"As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: This can have as great an influence on Profit as milk price changes."

Protect your valuable feeds from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice, wind and the sun's heat. Reduce the stress. INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF YOUR FEEDS, LABOR, AND LIVESTOCK!

At Sollenberger Silos Corp. we know a lot about feed storage and handling; we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call...We'd like to contribute to your success!!

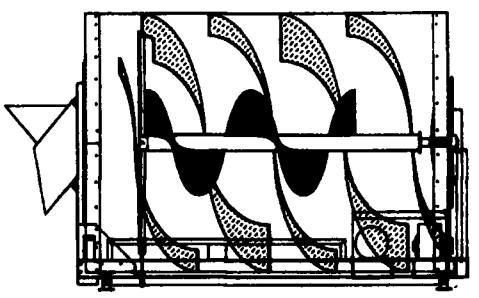
Patz



T.M.R. Mixer

Unique central spiral circulator
No bearings inside the mixer drum

Fewer working parts make the Patz Tumble Mixer reliable (only 3 grease fittings).

As the drum rotates, the central spiral circulator moves feed to the back of the mixer. At the same time, the fliting bolted to the drum in a spiral design move the feed to the front as it mixes with a tumbling action.

- Four sizes
- High-strength, corrosion-resistant steel mixer drum
- Electronic scale
- Low-rate financing available.

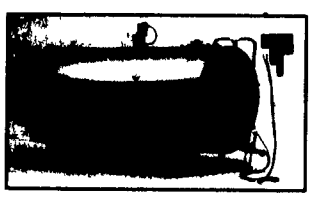
MUELLER
DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment cost is less than 1% of total cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17 550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

HIGH TENSILE FENCE...THE FARMER'S BEST INVESTMENT

717-899-7617

BEAVER FENCE SYSTEMS

Darren Peachey, Belleville, PA

"The spring of 1995 was a turning point for our dairy operation as we moved from a high input operation to an intensive grazing system. Intensive Grazing has been everything we hoped it would be. Our cows are healthier and we have less labor per cow. The life of our machinery will be longer. All in all it spells higher profits.

The first thing we did was talk to other people who were grazing to get ideas that we could incorporate into our dairy operation. We hired Beaver Fence Systems to build high tensile fence around the entire farm and we use portable fence to divide the interior into paddocks.

Today's dairy economy does not allow us to keep doing things the way we have always done them. We need to keep looking for more profitable ways of producing milk and managing our land. Intensive grazing has made our business more profitable."

Increase Cattle Gains!

TOX-O-WIK® Cattle Oiler and Face Fly Fighter

It keeps cattle comfortable year around and free of weight-robbing insects and disease. It's automatic, trouble-free and rugged. Plus it pays for itself in profits from increased weight gain.

Our special TOX-O-WIK Insecticide is compatible with the animals natural body oils, skin and hair and keeps them free of flies, lice, grubs, ticks, mange and pinkeye.

- Insecticide tank wick feeds automatically, no valves, jets or pumps to clog.
- Mineral feeder
- 1 to 4 applicators per unit
- TOX-O-WIK insecticide is the only insecticide recommended for TOX-O-WIK Cattle Oilers
- Dairy units also available

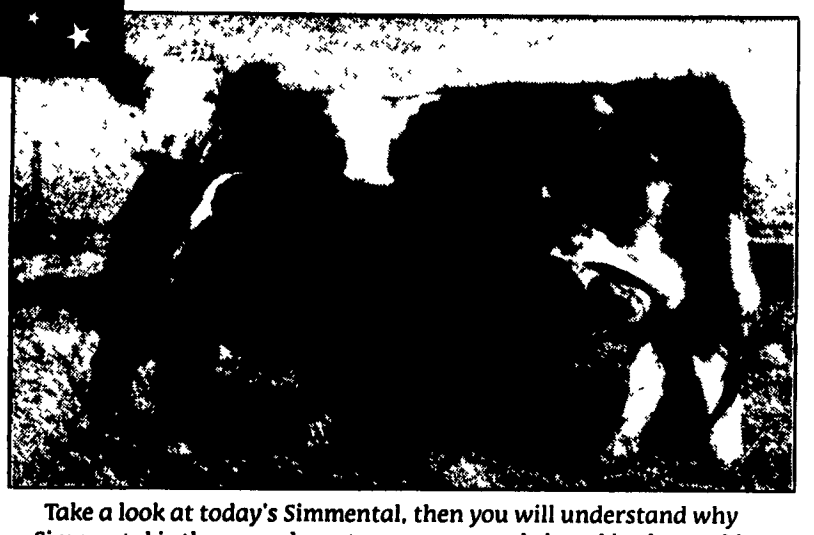
Times Change. Breeds Do Too.



The cattle business is drastically different today than it was ten years ago. Cattle breeds are no different. Simmental breeders have concentrated on producing cattle that are moderate-framed, adequately muscled, sound, reproductively strong, and perform quickly and efficiently in the feedlot.

Take a look at today's Simmental, then you will understand why Simmental is the second most numerous cattle breed in the world.

Have you tried toasted grains?

Consider these advantages over traditional roasting methods:

- Consistent by-pass proteins and low moisture levels.
- Improved energy density of your rations
- Excellent quality control.
- Exchange programs with feed mills.
- Economical storage, rolling and grinding available
- We also buy corn and soybeans

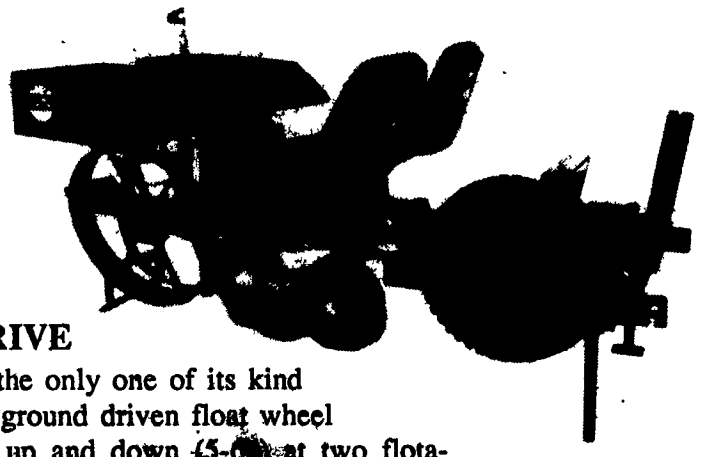
MECHANICAL TRANSPLANTER MODEL 1000

For The Grower That Demands The "VERY FINEST"

The High Performance Model 1000

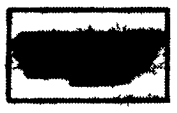
has increased planting speeds 20 to 30%.



OUR PATENTED FLOAT WHEEL DIRECT DRIVE SYSTEM is the only one of its kind available. This ground driven float wheel moves straight up and down (5-6") at two flotation points. This patented double floating action maintains correct ground contact at all times for both the drive wheel and rear packing wheels letting the units float independently no matter how many rows. No weight of any hitch, toolbar, or water tank is resting on the drive wheel to compact the soil. The wheel just smooths, firms and ideally prepares the soil providing accurate plant placement, proper depth control, and positive spacings from 6" through up in all soil conditions.

Optional Non-Stick Shoes

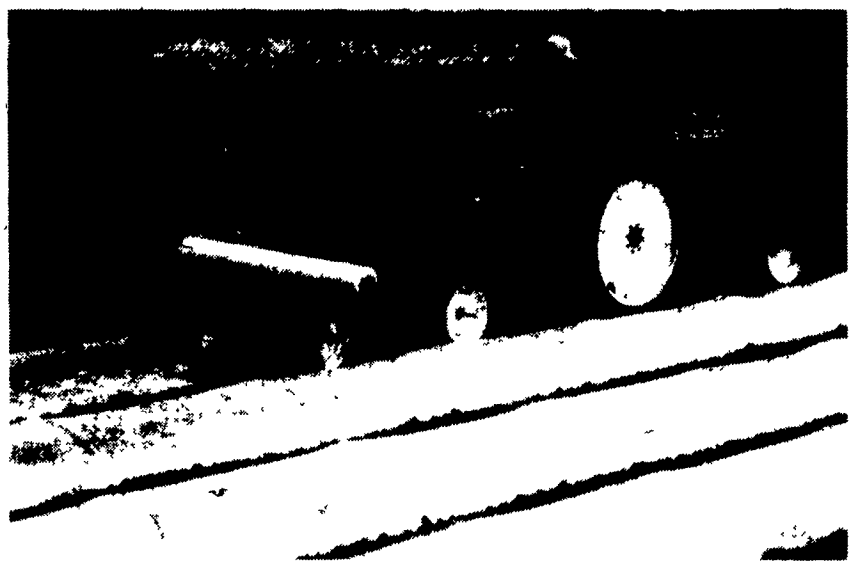
Double Disc Poly Shoe



395RP Poly Shoe

MODEL 95 TUNNEL LAYER

For Fast Uniform Setting of Wire Hoops and Tunnels



Model 95 laying plastic tunnels over two rows of celery

(Patents Pending)

NEW Model 95 wire setter and tunnel layer combination makes tunnel laying easy, efficient and fast. It requires only one person to feed the wires from the holding station into the unit. The wires are then automatically taken and set uniformly into the soil on about 62" centers 12" - 14" high.

...SAVES FUEL & MAN HOURS

HERD has what you need to cut your energy use. Both fuel and physical energy are saved with HERD broadcasters. HERD also has a mini-hopper so you can spread both small seeds, as clover and alfalfa, and oats at the same time...doing two jobs in one fast trip and with no strips. Cover up to 40 acres per hour • With HERD's ability to center the spread, you can use HERD broadcasters for all types of seeds, fertilizers, herbicides, and insecticides, with an even pattern guaranteed • HERD has 7 sizes to choose from... from 77 lbs. to 2440 lbs. or 1.2 bu. to 32 bu...3-pt., electric or V-belt driven, so you can get the one of your choice. The GT-77 (shown right) has been promoted from a garden tractor/ seeder (shown) to a farm seeder. Many are putting this seeder on ATVs, 3-wheel Motor Bikes with flotation tires, and an assortment of vehicles, to get the seeding done when ground is wet and soft. Why not have fun while doing your seeding?

Pa. Jersey Association Gears Up For State Convention

MEADVILLE (Crawford Co.) — Plans are under way for the 1996 Pennsylvania Jersey Association's annual meeting to be held at the Days Inn in Meadville, on March 29-30.

The convention opens on Friday with a focus on youth activities and awards. During the evening banquet, production awards, achievement awards, and scholarships will be presented to outstanding Jersey youth throughout the state.

Another highlight of the evening is the selection of the Pennsylvania Jersey Queen. Any young lady between the ages of 15 and 19 as of Jan. 1, 1996 who owns one or more Jerseys or who is a daughter of a Pennsylvania Jersey breeder is eligible to compete.

The Pennsylvania Jersey Queen represents the Jersey Association at various functions across the state and has the honor of competing in the national Jersey Jug Queen contest held in Louisville, Ky. in November.

Applications for the queen contest are due by March 8. Send all applications to Ann Kantz RR 2 Box 1001, Conneaut Lake, PA 16316. For more information, contact Kantz at (814) 638-4912.

On Saturday morning, breeders from across Pennsylvania will gather for the annual meeting, followed by the Pennsylvania State Calf Sale and Pot of Gold Sale.

Spruce Row Farm in Meadville will serve as the host for the sale, which will be managed by John Vanderstrappen.

Questions relating to the sale can be addressed to Vanderstrappen at (412) 962-0449. Any questions relating to the convention can be forwarded to Don and Angie Koontz at (412) 376-2884.

The convention begins at 2 p.m. on Friday, March 29 with the directors meeting (Vernon Room) and registration.

Then relax in the motel's lounge and restaurant or take a dip in the pool or hot tub (open until 10 p.m.). Or you may wish to take this time and visit local herds and/or preview the calves to be auctioned the next day at Spruce Row Farm (five miles from the motel on Route 322 east). Silent bids may be placed for craft articles also to be auctioned at the calf sale.

There will be a social hour (AB Room) beginning at 6 p.m. The youth banquet will start at 7:30 p.m. where there will be a presentation of awards for the youth, the Jersey Queen Contest, and other entertainment. Younger children will be entertained after dinner in the Hospitality Room.

Saturday begins with a breakfast buffet (AB Room) at 7 a.m. followed at 8 a.m. by the annual meeting of PJCA, where there will be presentation of awards.

After the meeting the convention moves to Spruce Row Farm, where the Pennsylvania Spring Calf Sale begins at 11 a.m. Lunch is available.

Calves out of above average Jerseys are show and production quality. Some of the best Jersey breeders in Pennsylvania have cosigned these animals for the sale. The association expects approximately 18 calves, eight of which will be designated for the Pot-Of-Gold division of the sale.

Hotel reservations are due by March 19 — Days Inn Meadville, 240 Conneaut Lake Rd., Meadville, PA 16335 ($46 + tax per room - 1-4 persons).

Meal reservations are due by March 20 — Alma Kenny, RR1 Box 79, Enon Valley, PA 16120. Make checks payable to "PJCA District V" — Banquet 13.50 adult, $7 child; Breakfast $8 adult, $4 child; Under 5 yrs. free.

For craft questions, call Angie Koontz, (412) 376-2884, Cherl Weiderspahn, (814) 425-1183; or Alma Kenny (412) 336-5255.

Workshop Examines Living With Urban Neighbors

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — As our urban neighbors continue to be attracted to the rural nature of Adams County, the challenges of farming rise. Agriculture strives to meet this new challenge in a positive and cooperative manner.

The Adams County Conservation District looks at this growing challenge in the second annual Farmer to Farmer Workshop: Living With Your Urban Neighbors, on March 22 from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. at the East Berlin Community Center.

Guest speakers include farmers from Lebanon and York counties and Carroll County, Md. who are under heavy development pressure. These farmers will describe some of the circumstances they have experienced and how they have managed to work through them.

Other guests include supervisors from several local municipalities and agricultural leaders from the local, regional, and state Farm Bureau. They will explain the delicate role they often play in ag urban relations. They will discuss some of the complaints and problems encountered and how best to deal with them.

Also on the agenda will be Bill Powel from the Carroll County Department of Planning and Development. Powel was instrumental in the development of the Right to Farm Ordinance in place in Carroll County. He will discuss the development of this legislation and how it is working.

The opening remarks will be made by Adams County resident Russell Redding. Redding is the deputy secretary of marketing, promotion, and program services for the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. There will be plenty of time for questions and open discussion following each session.

The theme in the workshop will be the need for a positive, proactive response to the influx of urbanites into the agricultural world. Farmers will need to work very hard to keep peace with these new neighbors and to educate them to all facets of the agricultural world. Although Adams County is not experiencing the heavy development pressure some of our neighboring counties are, the farmers need to be informed and prepared before it is too late.

The Conservation District is proud to have the Adams County Farm Bureau and the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts as co-sponsors of this year's workshop. Lunch will be provided.

However, preregistration by March 13 is required. For reservations and more information, contact the Adams County Conservation District, (717) 334-0636.

Panel Finds Little Danger From Chemicals

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A new report by a prestigious research committee of the National Academy of Sciences has found that the great majority of naturally occurring and synthetic food chemicals present in the human diet "occur at levels far too low to have any adverse effects on health."

"Carcinogens and Anticarcinogens In the Human Diet," released Feb. 15 and produced by 20 of the nation's leading scientific experts in biochemistry, toxicology, risk assessment, food and nutrition, affirms that a balanced diet rich in fruits and vegetables — and low in calories and fat — is the best way for consumers to reduce the risk of cancer.

Committee chairman Dr. Ronald W. Estabrook, a biochemist from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, said, "If Americans are concerned about cancer, then they should be concerned about calories and fat." Noting the public's concern over chemicals, he also said the "regulation has been very effective at keeping synthetic chemicals at a very low level" in the American diet.

Jay Vroom, president of the American Crop Protection Association, said, "This is a victory for common sense and the American consumer, who has suffered needlessly over the years from 'health-scare' reports generated by groups opposed to modern, safe agricultural technology.

Vroom also pointed out that the Academy's findings underscore what former U.S. Surgeon General Dr. C. Everett Koop has said, that "our food supply is not only the safest, but it is the most abundant in the world and pesticides are one of the important tools that have made that abundance possible."

From the chemist's lab to the farmer's field and onto the American table, the U.S. food safety system protects our entire food supply through rigorous testing and the careful use of modern agricultural technology. Each Environmental Protection Agency-registered pesticide undergoes at least 120 separate tests designed to determine human health, safety and environmental effects. On average, only one in 20,000 chemicals ever makes it from the laboratory through testing and EPA registration to the farmer's field. Pesticide development, testing and EPA registration take eight to 10 years to complete and costs manufacturers $50 million or more per crop protection product.

Copies of "Carcinogens and Anticarcinogens In the Human Diet," at $44.95 each, may be ordered from the National Academy Press, 2101 Constitution Avenue, NW, Lockbox 285, Washington, DC 20055.

1996 Dairy Of Distinction Farms Sought

Kingston (Luzerne Co.) — Do you take pride in maintaining your dairy farm? Does your dairy farm project an attractive, wholesome image to consumers? If so, the Dairy Of Distinction Program of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will consider your farm for the program's annual recognition awards.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program was first started in 1983 to recognize the hard work and dedication of the farmers who maintain attractive farms. The purpose of the program is to instill a greater sense of confidence in the wholesomeness of dairy products, and increase their sales.

Farms that apply are judged on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds, and surroundings, since this is what our dairy product consumers observe as they drive by. The cleanliness of the barnyard, feed areas and manure management are other aspects of the farm operation taken into consideration. Roadside judging is conducted during the month of May. Former winners of past years are also rejudged to ensure they continue to meet the standards of excellence.

To qualify for consideration, you must be actively dairy farming and shipping milk. Applications are available from your state secretary, Pennsylvania: Paul Nichols, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., 239 Schuyler Avenue, Box 5 , Kingston, Pa. 18704, (717) 283-2204, New York: Carol Weddle, N.Y. Holstein Association, 957 Mitchell Street, Ithaca N.Y. 14851, (607) 273-7591. or New Jersey: August Knispel, R.D. 1, Box 325, Pittstown, New Jersey 08867, (201) 735-4989. All applications muse be completed and returned by April 15th.

The Dairy of Distinction program is financed in Pennsylvania by Dairy Farmers through the American Dairy Association Dairy Council and Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, plus Agribusiness organizations. The Pennsylvania Dairy Of Distinction Program is conducted with advice and help by Penn State cooperative extension.

Application

PURPOSE OF PROGRAM

Attractive dairy farms give the consumer greater confidence in the wholesomeness of milk and stimulate milk sales which encourages public support for the dairy industry The award gives recognition to the dairy farmer for maintaining a well-kept farmstead.

ELIGIBILITY

All Northeast dairy farms producing milk for sale are invited to make application for the award. Dairies receiving the 10 highest scores in each of the 91 districts will receive an 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign to be displayed in front of their farm.

APPLICATION

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program, Inc.

Awards will be based upon neatness, good maintenance and other factors which can be controlled by the farmer. Attractive background scenery should not be weighed heavily in judging. All judging observations should be made from a vehicle at one or more points on an adjacent public highway (or if farm is off the road, the nearest lane). Judging should give equal consideration to old wood construction and new construction of metal or concrete block.

The award program may be used for subsequent advertising or promotion activities for dairy products or dairy farming. Farmers who apply for awards agree that; if selected they will cooperate with these activities and make all reasonable efforts to maintain both the exterior and interior of their properties in an acceptable condition.

HOW THE APPLICATION WORKS

The owner or operator of the dairy farm should sign the application and send it to NEDFBP secretary by April 15.

HOW THE JUDGING WORKS

Judging teams will visit farms during the month of May. Farms will be judged each year as the award is presented on an annual basis. Any dairy failing to maintain appearance standards will be asked to remove their sign. The Dairy of Distinction signs remain the property of the committee, not the property of the dairy farmer. All farms must achieve a compliance score of 90 percent on their Dairy of Distinction score card. Your cooperative or milk handler will be contacted to approve your milk quality.

RULES FOR THE DAIRY OF DISTINCTION AWARD

1). The Dairy of Distinction sign remains the property of the Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Committee.
2). The post and bracket shall be supplied by and maintained by the dairy farmer. It is suggested that a wood post 4' x 4' x 12' or iron pipe 2' x 12' be used. Posts or pipe should be installed and maintained in true vertical position with 8' above ground. Top of the bracket shou'd be lower than six inches from the top of the post.
3). Sign shall be displayed in front of the dairy at roadside. An attractive post and bracket, or other frame, shall be used to display the sign. No more than three signs should be displayed from the sign frame or post, and all shall be of a style, general size and quality comparable to the Dairy of Distinction sign. Sign should be secured on all sides to avoid wind damage.
4). Signs shall not be moved to other premises. New owners of a Dairy of Distinction farm must apply to retain the sign.
5). Replacement of damaged signs shall be the discretion of the committee.
6). No producer shall be charged with scoring or sign expense.
7). Judges' decisions will be final.
8). Judging will take place between May 1st and May 31st.
9). Farms awarded a Dairy of Distinction sign in previous years will be judged between April 1st and April 30th. If they do not qualify, they will be rejudged between May 1st and May 31st so they have the opportunity to keep the sign.
10). Farms that do not requalify will return the sign to their regional Dairy of Distinction Committee.

Heavy Snowfall Brings Safety Concern

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The heavy snowfalls of this winter should remind farmers to appraise the structural safety of their buildings, said an Ohio State University agricultural engineer.

"It's definitely a heavy snowfall year," said Richard Stowell, an agricultural structures and environment specialist. "Snowfall levels are well above normal for many areas of the state."

For example, the first three weeks of January brought 22 inches of snowfall to Columbus, more than half of the 34 inches total snowfall received up to then. For the same period, Mansfield got 25 inches of snowfall out of 52.5 inches total up to then.

Fortunately, reputable builders design buildings to handle severe snowfalls, even those that may occur every 50 years or so, Stowell said. Judge builders by their years of experience and be sure to check other buildings they have put up, he said.

Farmers who build their own buildings should not skimp on construction materials, especially the building joints, Stowell said. Many building failures are due to faulty construction where the truss members meet at a joint, he said.

Snow loads are of particular concern on low-sloped roofs. A roof with less than three feet of rise for every 12 feet of length is inviting snow-loading trouble, according to Stowell.

Buildings that are a part of a group have different design needs than single structures. Location of buildings in relationship to each other can affect the local ecology and increase chances of drifting or of a heavy snow drop on other buildings, Stowell said.

For example, winds may pick up snowfall from one building and deposit it on another nearby roof, doubling the stress. In another instance, winds can also pick up snow while rapidly swirling around a silo, then slow down, dropping extra snow on an adjacent roof.

"The problem is when we build buildings next to one another, but don't account for the effects of nearby buildings," Stowell said.

Farmers should consider the long-term consequences by having a farmstead building plan that anticipates the safe location of agricultural structures.

Lean-to structures built onto the side of another building, are notorious for snow-load problems. The lean-to roof is subject to snow drop-off, drifting and later snow melt from the higher, adjacent building. Another problem is that lean-to structures quite often have less slope to their roofline, which tends to hold snow longer.

Structural problems don't end when weather warms up, either, Stowell said. Ponding on low-sloped roofs can weaken the structure, causing a leaky roof or sometimes even a collapse. Ponding occurs when ice buildup prevents water runoff and when a weakened section sags under the buildup of snow, ice, and standing water.

"For most situations, wind and warm temperatures make the situation less hazardous," Stowell said. "They get rid of the snow that falls on the roofs. But for those unique situations, wind and warm weather can make things worse."

Snow load problems on farmstead buildings also depend on the moisture content of the snow. Six inches of dry, fluffy snow is less of a problem than the same amount of wet snow, which weighs more.

Builders should know the snow loading requirements of the local area, because snowfall patterns vary with Ohio's geography, Stowell said. Most critical are northeast and northwest Ohio, which may get sudden, large snowfalls due to the effects of Lake Erie.

Farms in the hilly and mountainous areas of east and southeast Ohio are subject to special drifting and snow melt problems.

Generally the area of least concern is the area west and southwest of Columbus, which gets the state's least snowfall, Stowell said. However, buildings must still be designed for snow load problems.

Establishing a windbreak to cut the effect of blowing snow can prevent snow loading and drifting problems on existing buildings.

Another way is to reinforce weak structures, but that requires knowledge of structural system dynamics. Beefing up one part of a roof may shift the load to another area, possibly weakening it. Stowell said.

OSU Extension offices have several Midwest Plan Service publications offering information on how to reduce snow loading problems. These are MWPS-1, "Structures and Environment Handbook," and MWPS-9, "Designs for Glued Trusses." Also, consult local and state building codes.

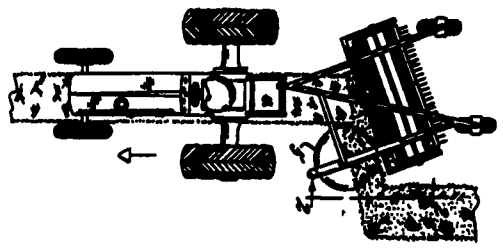
HAY B.R.A.T.T.



HAY B.R.A.T.T.: Bar Rake Attached Turn Table is an attachment to existing hayrakes that catches a windrow at the top of the roll as it rolls off the hayrake carrying the windrow on a disc leaving it inverted, allowing the hay to dry faster

DESCRIPTION

The Hay B.R.A.T.T. is a disc driven by friction off the top of a single ground driven wheel mounted on a caster allowing alignment with the direction of travel

The Hay B.R.A.T.T. was designed asymmetrical enabling the one model to be assembled for a right or left-hand delivery rake models so as to keep parts inventory low

The Hay B.R.A.T.T. was designed to be self-cleaning and highly resistant to wrapping of hay The wheels position pulls the hay off the caster frame A loop guard prevents hay coming up the back of the tire The bearings are protected by shields

Angle adjustments on the Hay B.R.A.T.T.'s disc are done by a single 3/4" wrench

Two adjustable square tube frames support the caster of the Hay B.R.A.T.T allowing for rake and crop condition adjustments The ends can be changed for different rake models

The mounting of the Hay B.R.A.T.T to the rake is done with 2 Hitchpins mounted on the rake frame using existing bolt holes This allows for quick attachment and removal of the Hay B R A T T

The Hay B.R.A.T.T can be locked into a transport position and be suspended from the rake frame for road transport or storage

Because of the position of the Hay B.R.A.T.T on the rake a 2 ft 6 in extension to the front hitch of the rake is needed to provide clearance during turns

ADVANTAGES

The Hay B.R.A.T.T fully inverts the windrow, leaving it fluffed up and improves the drying of the hay

The Hay B.R.A.T.T is ground driven and requires no hydraulic or PTO drives It operates best at speeds from 3½ to 9 miles per hr (the limit of most rakes)

When raking swaths into a windrow a hay rake would roll the hay in to a tight rope like windrow. The Hay B.R.A.T.T bunches and carries the hay forming a fluffed up windrow allowing the hay to dry better

The Hay B.R.A.T.T can be used to combine two windrows of a 6' or 9' haybine in one pass or a 12' or 14' haybine in two passes of opposite directions

Stone Removal is accomplished during the two directional changes of the windrow by the Hay B.R.A.T.T., The weight of the stones tend to resist the change of directions by the windrow, thereby throwing the stones clear of the windrow

The Hay B.R.A.T.T will increase the demand on roll bar rakes especially the models that are 2'6" extension capable

The Hay B.R.A.T.T can be installed on most roll bar rakes and cost less than most windrow inverters of today so demand will be great and should last as long as there are roll bar rakes around

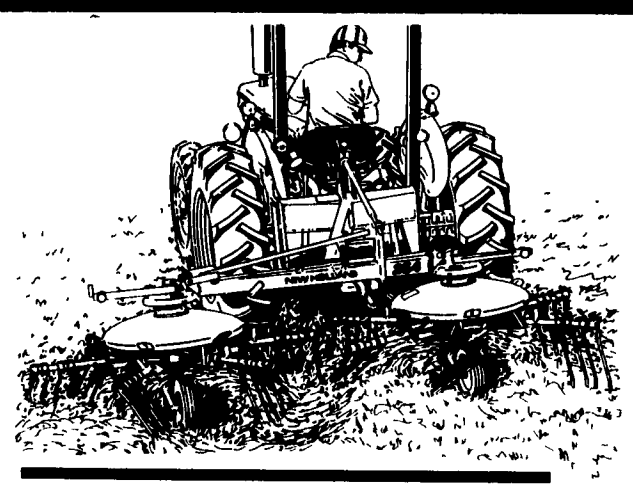
FLEXIBILITY



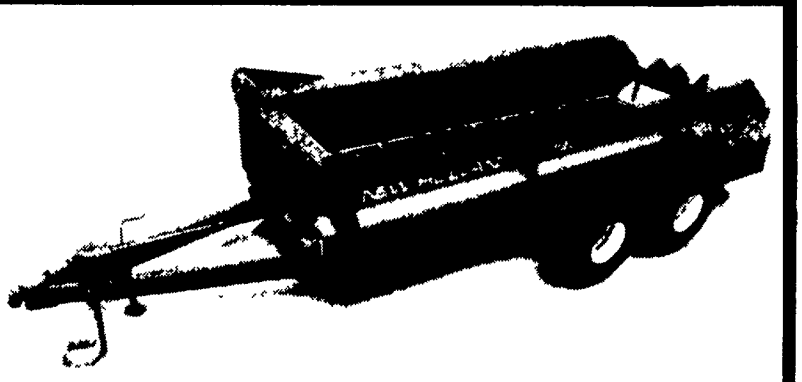
THE TEDDER THAT RAKES

Now, you can rake and ted with the same machine - the New Holland Model 254 rake tedder. The Model 254 lets you perform a variety of haymaking functions...rake a swath into a windrow, rake two windrows into one, turn windrows, and move crop away from treelines and fences. And, without tools you can convert the Model 254 into a tedder that will fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying.

Stop in today. Let us show you the flexibility of the New Holland Model 254 rake tedder!

NEW HOLLAND

CAPACITY KING



THE BIGGEST

The New Holland Model 195 box spreader is up to your biggest spreading job.

- Capacity. The "195" takes on 410 bushels (440 cu. ft.) without flinching
- Strong construction. Corrosion-resistant steels last and last. And an HDPE floor means smooth unloading, even in cold weather.
- Bonded Protection warranty. If the polyethylene floor fails or the sides rust, we'll replace them free for 12 years.
- Fast clean out...even with this big-capacity strong box.
- Large tandem oscillating wheels. Allow faster ground speeds in rough terrain, with less ground compaction.

Check out our biggest New Holland Spreader from the biggest name in spreaders.

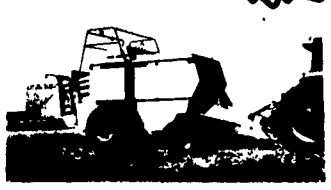
JUMBO BALES

One Ton Size

A Case International 8580 Large Rectangular Baler Makes JUMBO bales -up to 2,000 pounds



It compresses hay equivalent to about 40 conventional bales into a single high-density package. The high-end capacity and performance of the 8580 means you can push these big bales throught the machine all day — every day. That's a lot of hay!

And it's quality hay, too. The center-line design handles the crop gently to preserve nutritious leaves. The bales are uniformly shaped for efficient handling and shipping.

The 8580 also has a full list of standard features. Low-profile pickup, pre-packer chamber, massive gearbox, heavy-duty components throughout, electronic monitoring, double-tie knotters and low maintenance. And it's simple to operate.

The Case International 8580 is a JUMBO value too.

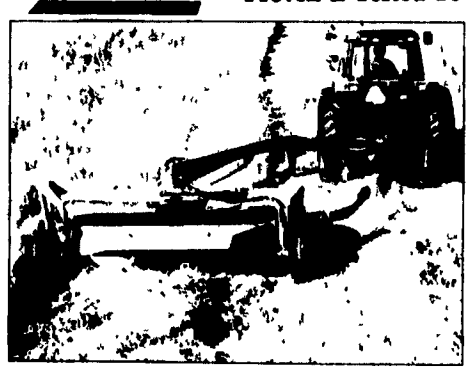
CASE IH

Proven & Tested To Customer Satisfaction.



The Case International 8312 disc mower conditioner just keeps on cutting – no matter what it encounters Tangled undergrowth, rodent mounds ant hills or heavy hay are no match for the heat-treated, high-speed rotary discs at the heart of the 8312

A center pivot tongue lets you cut a full 12-foot swath in either direction and maneuver around obstacles Lay down a quick-drying swath or fluffy windrow and, depending on your crop conditioning rolls can be quickly adjusted for optimum drying

If continuous cutting with a center pivot machine is important to you stop in and see the Case International 8312

GEHL. Box Spreaders

Binkley & Hurst Bros. Has A Quality Gehl Spreader In Stock And Ready For Use Now At Economical Pricing!

Even when it's empty... it's loaded.

Low profile design means easy loading by skid loader front end loader or barn cleaner

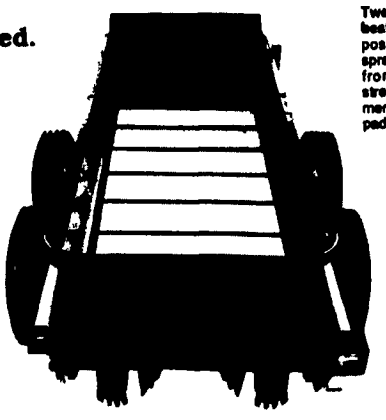
Double Galvanized steel sides are corrosion resistant for long life One-piece seamless construction won't catch material or leak

Gehl-Tuff Flooring prevents the apron from freezing to the floor, allowing manure to slide out with little resistance Less apron pull means less wear and tear on drives and apron chains One piece construction won't flex under heavy loads

Optional hydraulic endgate rests in front of the beater paddles to secure sloppy loads and keep heaped material out of the beater unit you're ready to spread An available litter pan reduces spills in the yard or roadway while enhancing the spread distribution

Extra-strong, T-bar apron chains with an average tensile strength of over 23,500 pounds keep the biggest loads moving

Oscillating tandem wheels allow faster ground speeds while providing greater flotation They're standard on the 325 bushel and 425 bushel models and optional on the 250-bushel model



Twelve extra wide one-piece beater paddles are symmetrically positioned for broad, uniform spreads Paddles are fabricated from tough, 1/4" thick high strength steel Bolt-on replacement tips are available to extend paddle life

Constant velocity pto for continuous, smooth, chatter-free power transfer when spreading on turns and reduced stress on the entire drive line

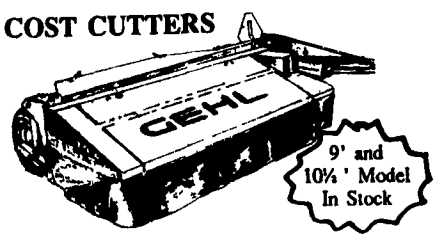
COST CUTTERS



Gehl has two all new disc mower conditioners to cut your crop down to size, fast and easy The DC2340 has 7 discs and a 9 foot cutting width, the DC2360 has 8 discs, and a 10½ foot cutting width.
— Standard hydraulic tongue Makes it easy to position the unit without leaving the tractor seat

— High speed discs — Each disc has two knives to slice through the toughest crops and conditions the disc gear drive operates in an oil bath for long life.

— Sturdy frame — Cradles the cutterbar for extra protection and durability

— 540 and 1000 rpm driveline with equal-angle hitch for smooth power transfer.

GEHL.

A sturdy cutterbar support frame extends beneath the entire cutterbar. This design shields the cutterbar from direct impact with rocks or other field obstructions.

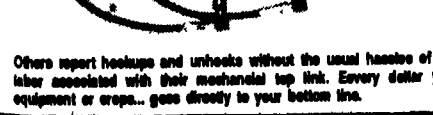
BEARLINK Replacement Top Link Improves The Performance Of Your Three Point Tractor!

The BEARLINK's seven inch adjustment stroke moves with hydraulic power, automatically locking in place wherever you want it...saving you trips back behind the tractor...making hooking implements or taking them off faster and safer...BEARLINK owners tell of shortening the hydraulic link while turning around at the ends of fields saving damage to equipment and making in-field angle adjustments without stopping..



It's Your Turn TO Profit!

Don't just window shop!
Take this one home.

LeaseRite

It always feels good to walk onto the lot, look at the latest equipment, dream a little . .

But why just window shop? Try Case Credit's LeaseRite™ program:

- Pay for use, not ownership
- Less cash up front
- Lower payments
- Flexible payment schedule
- Tax benefit opportunities
- Choices at the end of lease

So don't just look — take the keys.

Keep the money in your pocket.

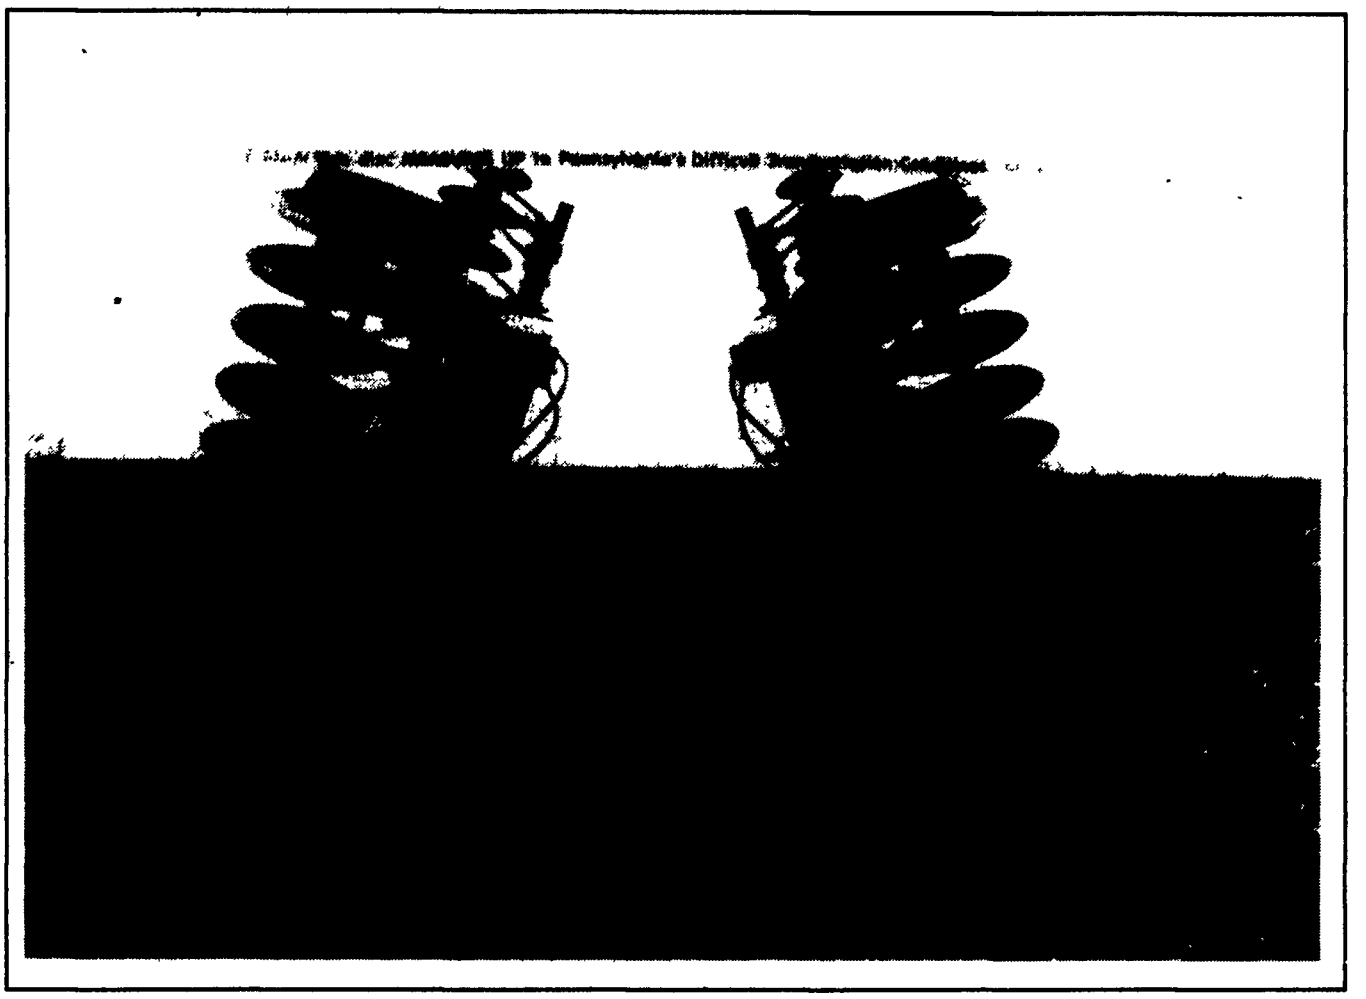
KRAUSE CONSERVATION TILLAGE

ROCKFLEX DISC HARROWS

Conserve Your Soil...



KRAUSE PLOW CORPORATION has always been THE LEADER in building CONSERVATION TILLAGE systems designed to prepare a level seedbed in all types of soils and field conditions...

- From Krause you've always expected a superior job of cutting & finishing to produce top crop yields.
- Now that the Government has dictated you increase your crop residue, KRAUSE has responded with conservation blades that will increase your crop residue over older discs.
- And you still get engineered dependability just like you always have with KRAUSE.

Choose from (6) Series

KNIGHT

3000 Series Reel Auggie Mixer®

3000 SERIES REEL AUGGIES FEATURE THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:

- Blends by gently lifting, fluffing, and tumbling the entire load, reducing mix time, power requirement, machine wear, and dead spots
- Aggressive upper and lower auger with hardened, replaceable knives, for thorough end-to-end movement
- Shear angle for both the upper and lower auger
- Simple slide tray or three auger discharge available
- Oil bath drive with external grease banks
- Constant Velocity PTO with integral slip clutch
- Hay-Max kit option for better break-up of most hay and bulk materials
- Tow, truck mounted, and stationary units from 147 to 488 cubic feet

Simply . . . the Best

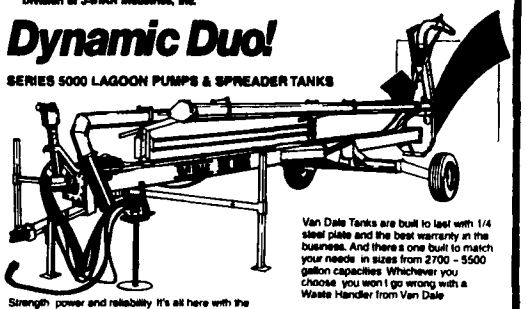
Dynamic Duo!

SERIES 5000 LAGOON PUMPS & SPREADER TANKS



Van Dale Tanks are built to last with 1/4 steel plate and the best warranty in the business. And there's one built to match your needs in sizes from 2700 - 5500 gallon capacities. Whichever you choose, you won't go wrong with a Waste Handler from Van Dale.

Strength, power and reliability. It's all here with the new Series 5000 Lagoon Pumps. These pumps have the perfect combination of agitation volume and pressure needed to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids with speed and power. And with up to 5000 G.P.M. agitation capacity, it can blast a stream of manure 100' or more in any direction to create an easy pumping and spreading slurry. The new Series 5000 trailer mounted or 3-point hitch, by far, the fastest and easiest to operate pumps on the market.

CLUTCH REDUCTION FOR SMALL ENGINES

This may be a fast, efficient and affordable solution. Mount a flat plate on equipment, bolt engine and clutch reduction, onto plate, hook up P.T.O. & hydraulics and go.

Features

- tensaloy aluminum housing & cover
- carefully constructed clutch easily adjusted
- helical gears
- extra shaft for running hydraulics
- easy to assemble

clutch reduction shown with 9 HP Robin engine overhead valve

Can be installed on many late model engines, 7 to 20 HP, such as Honda, Kawasaki, Robin, Kohler and others 6 to 1 ratio, simple, efficient way to change tractor driven equipment to engine mounted drives, 540 RPM. Plus live hydraulics from extra shaft always runs when engine runs. Bring your engine to us, or order clutch reduction and install yourself.

NOTICE - We are no longer in engine repair business

The NEW LEADER L3020

Heavy Duty LIME SPREADER

For more than 50 years, New Leader has aggressively met and exceeded market demand by producing the most dependable, adaptable and durable spreaders in the industry. The heavy-duty L-3020 spreader is a direct result of New Leader's unmatched experience in the agricultural equipment field.

Designed for high-volume applications of ag-lime and gypsum, the rugged and resilient L-3020 is also suitable for spreading fertilizer and hauling aggregate material. Equipped with an optional swinging rear endgate, the L-3020 can be quickly and efficiently converted into a controlled discharge, no-hoist dump system for stockpiling. The L-3020's standard 30-inch-wide conveyor system virtually eliminates the material bridging that's common with narrower conveyor spreaders. The versatile L-3020 broadcasts ag-lime at rates up to six tons per acre and fertilizer at rates as low as 150 pounds per acre.

Other Available Features:

- Complete body in 304 or 409 stainless steel
- Mounts on vehicles equipped with highway, semi or full flotation tires
- An optional ladder that attaches to either the left-or right-hand-side of the unit
- Optional heat-and petroleum - resistant conveyor belting available for transport and application of hot asphalt.
